

India's Nehru Criticizes U.S. Foreign Policy

Prime Minister Nehru of India delivered a bristling broadcast Wednesday, which widened the gulf between the nations that want to welcome Red China into the U. N. and those who want to brand her as an aggressor in Korea.

Nehru, highly critical of U. S. policy in the far east, called for a conference of major powers and insisted the Chinese Communists want to negotiate a peace.

India, like Britain, has recognized Peiping. The United States has refused to do so and opposes plans to seat the Communist Chinese in the United Nations, as one of the five veto-holding powers in the place of Chiang Kai-Shek's regime. The United States, backed by the vote of both houses of congress, also wants the U. N. to declare Peiping as aggressor, and to consider punitive measures against her.

France announced January 18 she, too, would vote to condemn Peiping an aggressor.

While the United States believes a majority of the U. N. will vote for the American resolution calling Red China an aggressor, so many nations may abstain from voting, or vote against the resolution, that the U. N. voice will be weak and, in effect, indecisive.

Nehru blamed much of the present troubles of the world on those opposing Peiping's admission to the U. N.

He said there is a new Asia, and that the nations of the world must recognize that as a fact. He attacked, as a major error, the sending of U. N. troops across the 38th parallel of Korea.

Warren Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, is expected to respond to Nehru with a new denunciation of further appeals to get the Red Chinese to agree to a cease-fire in Korea.

American Warplanes Fought...

fought and won another flashing jet air battle over Korea Wednesday. Allied ground troops recaptured Yongwol, Tungsten mining town in east central Korea.

Five hundred Korean women volunteers were spotted in a Red Korean force south of Yongwol.

F-84 Thunderjets shot down one Russian-made MIG-15 and damaged three others in a 15 minute dogfight over the Anju-Sinanju sector near the Manchurian border.

Between 16 and 20 Russian-type jets swooshed across the Yalu river and attacked 16 U. S. F-84s. They came off second best as they did Tuesday, in the same area when three and possibly four MIGs were shot down and three were damaged.

In neither fight was an American plane lost or damaged.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson...

... said today every possible effort is being made to preserve unity of the free world in the United Nations over branding Communist China an aggressor in Korea.

Making it clear he considers the situation to be too delicate, the secretary declined at a press conference to comment on:

1. British Prime Minister Attlee's speech in Parliament Tuesday calling for a "wait and see" policy by the U. N. toward Red China, or,
2. Wednesday's speech by Prime Minister Nehru of India criticizing the United State's condemnation of Communist China.

College of the Pacific...

... announced Wednesday that COP and the University of Oregon had signed for two home-and-home football games.

The first will be played at the school's new $300,000 stadium in Stockton next October 6; the second, at Eugene, November 1, 1952.

COP and Oregon met just once before—in Eugene in 1946. Oregon won 7 to 6.

Navy Pilots From The Philippine Sea...

... caught an estimated 1,500 enemy in a valley near Inchon Tuesday and left the area a "burning graveyard," a delayed dispatch from the big carrier said.

A flight of Skyraiders hit the enemy-held valley with Napalm and fragmentation bombs.

Corsair fighter planes from the Philippine Sea also hit Red elements threatening a U. N. column withdrawing from the Suwon area.

"We found the Reds along the road moving south on our forces and went after them with napalm," the flight leader reported. "We got several direct hits and when we left, bodies were lying in the middle of the road and on both sides. Their clothes were burning."

Lane County Celebrated...

... it's hundredth birthday Wednesday. An act of the territorial legislature on January 24, 1851, organized the county, the same day in which Douglas County was created.

A Week's Rise of 1,064 Casualties...

... in the Korean war was reported Wednesday by the Defense department.

Total casualties are 37,000 Army; 519 Navy; 7,369 Marine Corps.; and 360 Air Force.

... ruled Wednesday that bicyclists on the highways don't have to hit for the ditch when a car or truck approaches them from behind.

"There is no statute of this state that requires a bicyclist to travel near the right-hand edge of the pavement, nor is their any rule of the common law to that effect," the court declared.

The matter was brought up in regards to a bicyclists' death decision in a lower court. The Supreme Court ruled to re-hear the case.

It is Doubtful That Camp Adair...

... will be reactivated as a military training center, U. S. Senator Guy Cordon said in a letter to a former state representative Wednesday.

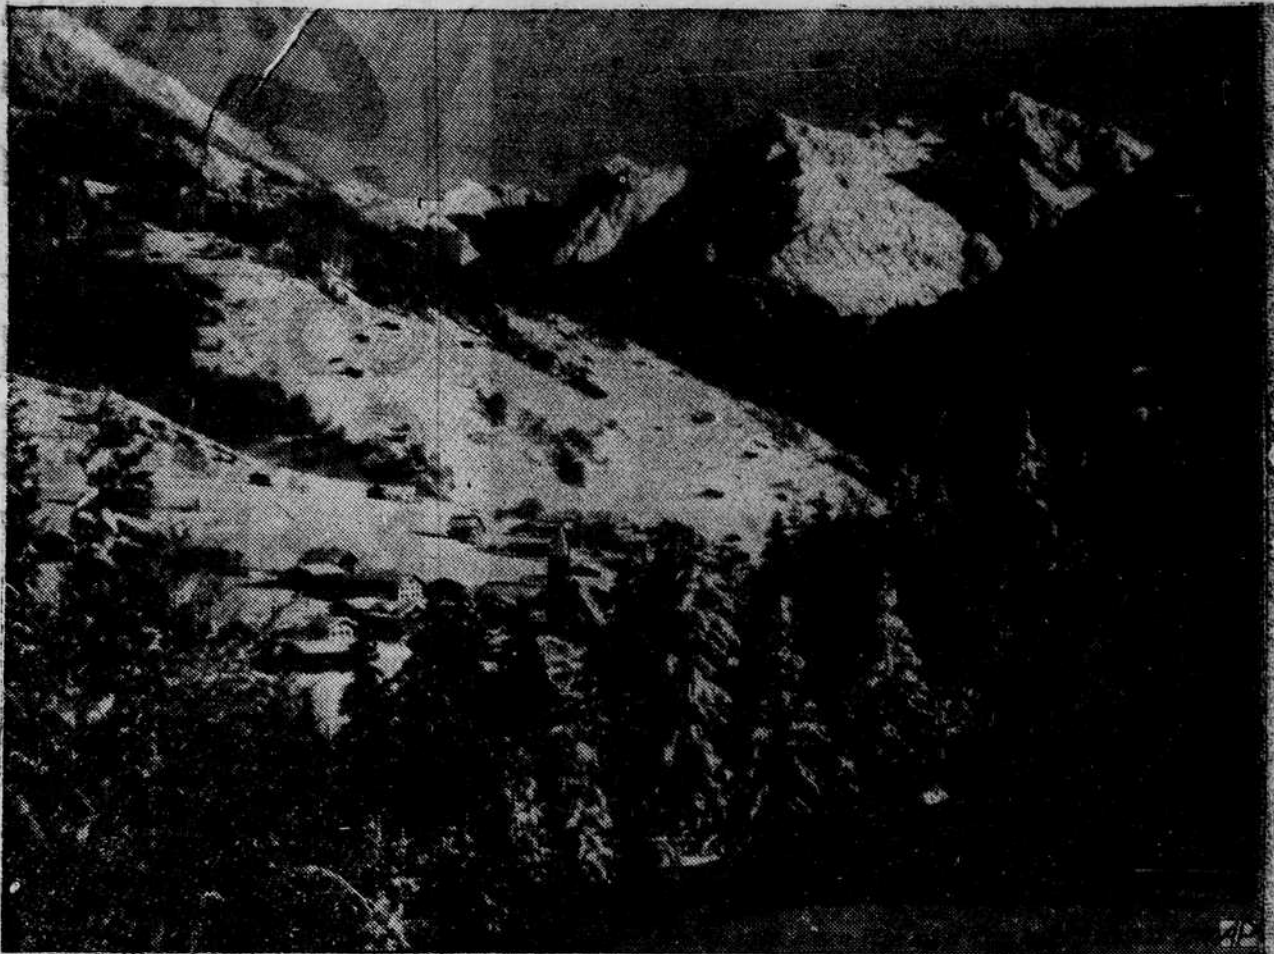

In Eugene Wednesday...

... a 24-year-old driver rolled up the windows and locked the car doors when police stopped him on a charge of violation of the basic rule.

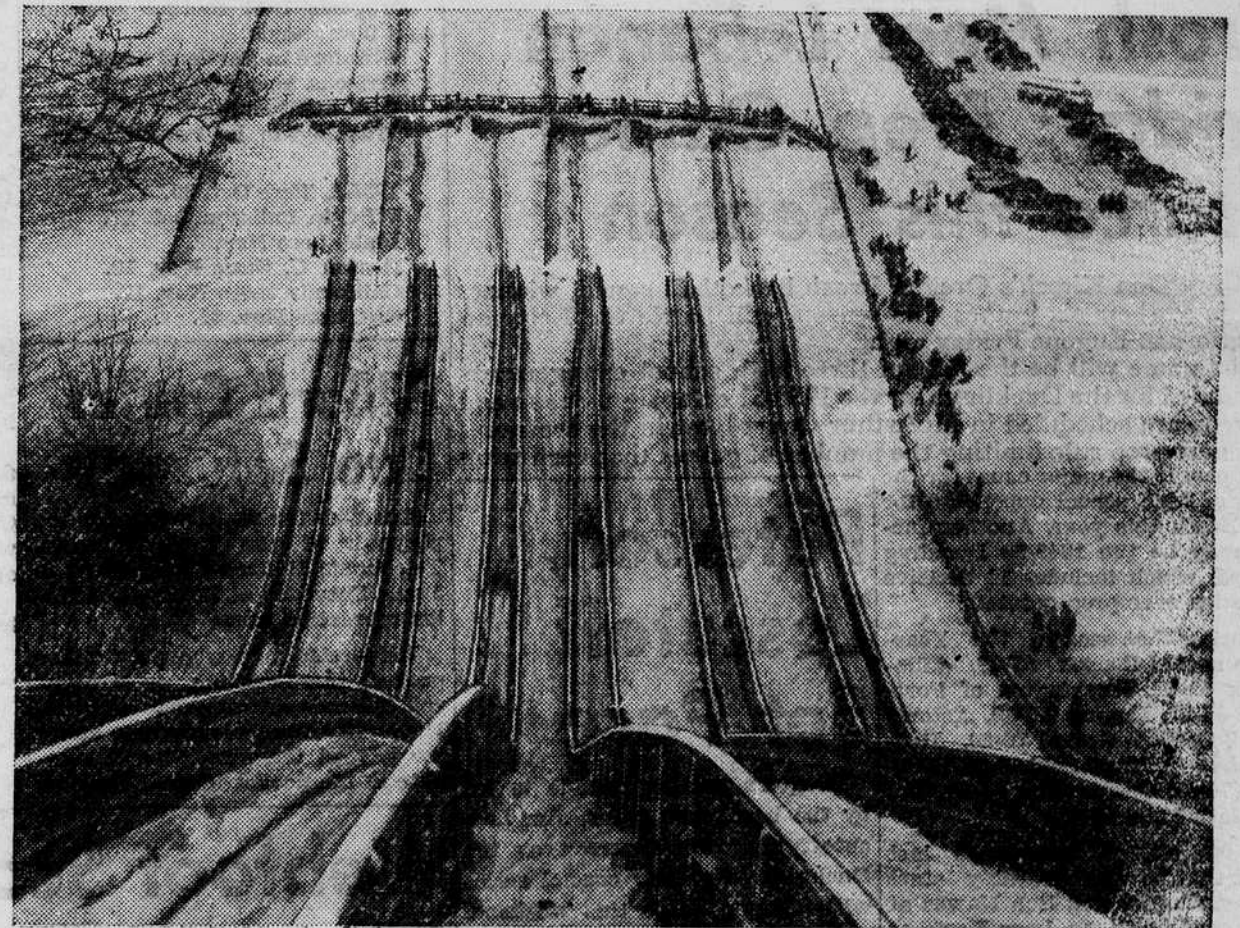

Despite warnings, driver John Sutton, of Eugene, refused to open up to accept the citation.

So police pried open a window, carried Sutton to their patrol car, booked him at headquarters for both disorderly conduct and violation of the basic rule, and then put him in the city jail.
