Pitt Awards Go to Four

Four University seniors in marketing and merchandising have received retail service and scholarship awards from the University of Pittsburgh.

The four, Nadine P. Stephens, Robert F. Johnson, John A. Elorriaga, and Robert L. Coffyn, received the awards from Director Bishop Brown of the Research Bureau for Retail Training. Value of the awards are from $500 to about $1,000, according to N. H. Comish, professor of business administration, who made the announcement.

These students will work for master's degrees in retailing, doing part-time work in stores and part-time work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Oregon had eight territorial governors, serving between Mar. 3, 1849 and Mar. 3, 1859.

Nancy Yates Places In Speech Contest

Nancy Ann Yates, sophomore in liberal arts, won second place in the State Experimental Speech Contest held Tuesday at Lewis and Clark College.

Miss Yates participated in a symposium discussion followed by an open forum with questions from the audience. The question was, "Is Collective Security Possible?"

Only Woman to Place
Students from Lewis and Clark College, Linfield College, Willamette University, Pacific University, and the University of Oregon participated. Miss Yates was the only woman who placed.

William Lees, sophomore in liberal arts, spoke in the Peace Oratory contest, also held at Lewis and Clark College. Both students are in the University symposium group and were accompanied by Dr. Kirt Montgomery.

Others Speak Friday

Karl Harshbarger and Don Colvin will speak at a symposium engagement Friday at Oakridge High School on the topic, "Should the Non-communist Organizations Form a New World Organization?" Robert L. Montgomery, instructor in speech, will go with them.

An extensive tour through Clatskanie, St. Helens, Astoria, and Tillamook will be taken by Lees, Miss Yates, and Morris Sahr, symposium speakers, Feb. 13, 14, 15, and 16.

They will discuss the topic "What Should the People of the United States Think of a Welfare State?" before civic, school, and church groups. Herman Cohen, symposium adviser, will be with the group.

The capitol building of the United States is valued at 53 million dollars.

Library Exhibits 'People of India'

"People of India," second in a series of exhibits prepared by the editors of Life Magazine, is now on display for two weeks at the University Library.

The 28 panels making up the display are reproduced from a selection of photographs made by Margaret Bourke-White. Her name has for many years stood for superlative photography in the fields of social and industrial documentation.

The exhibition is specifically concerned with depicting the complex social and political structure of India. It will suggest the numerous peoples who make up what Westerners are liable to think of as the "Indian problem."

The question of Pakistan is now a reality with bitter fighting among Moslems, Hindus, and Sikhs. "People of India" presents a dramatic portrayal of the background of the conflict, library officials stated.

Enters Shows Talent Monday

Angna Enters, acclaimed by critics "the first dance mime of our day," will present her "Theater of Angna Enters" at 8 p.m. Monday in the University Theater.

Admission for the general public is $2.50, and for season ticket holders of the theater, $2.

Reservations may be made at the theater box office, or by calling Ext. 201.

Miss Enters' program has been termed an unusual one. She presents a series of sketches, each a complete story in itself, through pantomime and dance and facial expression, with a musical background. She uses no set, but many properties.

Miss Enters is now on her seventh transcontinental tour. This will be her first performance in Eugene.

Petition Deadline at 12

Deadline for petitions for AWS officers is noon today.

Sophomores may petition for secretary and treasurer and juniors may petition for president.

Petitions may be turned in to Barbara Stevenson at the Kappa Alpha Theta house or Eve Overback at Hendricks Hall.

KERG Appearance Due Heart Finalists

King of Hearts Finalists Martel Scroggin, Pierre Pasquio, Mike Lally, Merv Hampton, Curt Finch, and Dick McLaughlin will be interviewed at 7:45 p.m. tonight on KERG.

Tickets for the Friday night dance are still on sale at the Co-op and voting will continue until Friday afternoon.

The King of Hearts will be crowned on the Zeta Tau Alpha front porch at 9 p.m. Friday. From there the dance will progress to Alpha Delta Pi, Chi Omega, Hendricks Hall and Pi Beta Phi.
