Little to Host NW Architects At Friday Meet

The American Institute of Architects will hold its Northwest regional conference on the University campus Friday. Host for the conference will be Sidney W. Little, dean of the School of Architecture and Allied Arts.

Purpose of the meeting is a survey to determine what education is necessary for the practice of architecture. Three major questions will be put before the conference delegates:

- (1) What kind of society is foreseen in the future; will the trend toward collectivism in England, western Europe, and Asia extend to the western hemisphere?
- (2) How will the social organization of the United States of the future affect physical forms of buildings and the growth of cities, towns and rural areas?
- (3) What should be the basis of preparation for men and women for professional leadership in such a society, with special reference to the place of architecture in it?

Faculty to Hear Musical Program

Florence Vanderwicken Duprey, soprano, and Herman Gelhausen, bass-baritone, will present a faculty recital at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the School of Music Auditorium.

Accompanying them will be Stacey Green, assistant professor of piano, and William Woods, instructor in piano. Mrs. Vanderwicken is an assistant, and Gelhausen, an associate professor of voice.

The University String Quartet, George Boughton, Mary Kapp Allton, Edmund A. Cykler, and Milton Dieterich, will assist in the program.

Included in the recital will be numbers of Bach, Handel, Schubert, Brahms, Franck, Schuman, and other composers.

Six men will be picked to represent Oregon against the Beavers. They'll be taken from eight men whom Bellissimo said are among the best bowlers on the campus.

They are Jim Eckstrom, Laverne Thompson, Jack Reading, Clancy Naapi, Pete Darlington, Sanford Hio, Gene Hebrard and Ned Takasumi.

Young 'Bum' Gets Bonus

RECENTLY SIGNED BY THE BROOKLYN Dodgers for what is described as a "large bonus" was 18-year-old Dick Hanlon. He graduated from San Francisco's Lincoln High School, and is shown with junior-high and high school trophies. Hanlon is holding a baseball given him by the late Tony Lazzeri just before his death.
