

Basketball Rally at 11 in Ballroom

Loscutoff Declines Yo-Yo Exhibition

A rally assembly, first and by far the most important of the current basketball season, will be held in the Student Union ballroom at 11 this morning. Today's class schedule will be re-arranged as follows:

- First period: 8-8:35 a.m.
- Second period: 8:45-9:20 a.m.
- Third period: 9:30-10:05 a.m.
- Fourth period: 10:15-10:50 a.m.

Art Larsen, president of the Eugene Duck Club, will speak; Coach John Warren will introduce the basketball team; and Team Captain Will Urban will give a brief talk. Bashful Jim Loscutoff has declined to give a Yo-Yo exhibition.

Ballteam to Play Do-or-Die Games

Oregon and Washington approach this weekend's crucial series deadlocked for the Northern Division lead. A split would leave both teams in the same position.

A double victory for the Webfoots would mean a single victory over Oregon State the following weekend would cinch the title. A double victory for the Huskies would virtually eliminate Oregon from title contention.

The rally squad will be on hand to lead several yells, among them a new one.

Music will be furnished by the University band. ASUO President Barry Mountain will conduct the rally.

Sign Contest To End Soon

Sign contest judging for Dads' Day Weekend will be held at 4:45 p.m. Friday. Jeanne Hoffman, chairman of decorations, announced Wednesday.

The signs will be judged on the following: originality of theme, 25 per cent; color, 10 per cent; sentiment, 15 per cent. Fifty per cent will be the basis of judging, Miss Hoffman said.

Rules for the contest, which were submitted by Miss Hoffman, are as follows:

1. Signs are to be two-dimensional.
2. Material expenses are not to exceed $10.
3. No movable parts are to be used.

Judges for the contest are G. L. Henson, manager of the Co-op; Mrs. Bobbie Chambers, Dads' Day Hostess of 1950; F. H. Heid, instructor in art; and Olga Yevitch, program director of the Student Union.

All of the 700 Dads' Day luncheon tickets have been sold, according to Wednesday's report. Present equipment permits no more tickets to be sold.

"Events such as the business meeting and the basketball games are still open," Karl Onthank, associate director of student affairs, announced Wednesday. "Even though some dads may not be able to attend the luncheon."

Dads' Day Mixer Fixed for Ballroom

Curt Finch and his quintet will furnish the music for the mixer scheduled for the Student Union ballroom Saturday night after the Oregon-Washington game.

Admission for the no-date dance will be 20 cents and dads will be admitted free upon presentation of a Dads' Day button.

The theme and decorations will follow the general weekend theme—"Dad—King For A Day." Dancing will begin directly after the game and will end at 12:30 a.m.

Special cut-in dances will be introduced. Four acts of various types of entertainment will be presented.

Members of the orchestra are Bill Fletcher, drums; Chuck Peterson, bass; Robin Gilbert, piano; Dave Carlton, tenor sax; and Curt Finch, brass.

Registration Ends Friday Afternoon

Friday is the deadline for registering with department clerks for classes for spring term, Registrar Clifford L. Constance said Wednesday afternoon.

Students still have until Mar. 3 to complete the remaining steps in the advance registration process and file their cards with the registrar's office.

Oregon Daily EMERALD

VOLUME LII UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1951 NUMBER 85

Fall '51 Rolls May Decline

The University will have an enrollment of 4,624 students in the fall term of next year, according to an estimate by the Oregon State System of Higher Education. The estimate appeared in the Feb. 17 issue of the Oregon Voter.

According to the same source, Oregon State College will have 5,250 students next fall. This represents a drop of 10.8 per cent over this fall's enrollment for both schools.

Oregon's estimated enrollment is broken down as follows:

Women students	1,712
ROTC: Air Force	392
Army	495
Veterans	905
Physically exempt from draft	663
18-year-olds not drafted	150
Deferred technical or scientific or assigned to school	277
Total estimated enrollment	4,624

This would mean that there would be 1,712 women and 2,912 men enrolled—a ratio of 1.7 men to every woman. The present ratio is about 2.1 for every woman.

Total enrollment in all Oregon schools of higher education has been declining steadily since the peak year of 1947-48, when some 19,000 were registered, according to the Oregon Voter.

New Committee Added to SU Board

Another step in the planned expansion of the Student Union Directorate was taken Wednesday night when the SU Board voted to establish an 11th standing committee.

The new committee, which will handle all SU music programs, was created from members of the cultural committee. Petitions for chairmanship in the new group will be called for early next week.

Board members decided to change the name of the cultural committee, headed by Barbara Bates, senior in art, to the Browsing Room committee.

Approval of a no-credit, no-grade course in student government was also voiced by the board. The course is to be offered spring term with a schedule to be arranged later.

Bowling Pictured By Free Movies

Free bowling movies will be shown at 4:30 and 7 p.m. today in the Student Union recreation area in the basement.

The movies, "Bowling Fundamentals" and "Bowling for Strikers" are being shown by the recreation committee of the SU Board.

Cast of 'Goodbye' Set for Opening

Gerry Hettinger, two-time winner of the University Theater "Neut" for acting, will lead the cast of the centrally staged production, "Goodbye, My Fancy," directed by Otilie Seybolt.

Box office for the production opens Monday. The comedy hit will play eight performances beginning next Friday.

Miss Hettinger, who won the award for best supporting player in 1947-48, and for best actress in 1948-49, will play the role of a U. S. Congresswoman who returns to her alma mater to accept an honorary degree.

The Broadway production of the Fay Kanin comedy starred Madeline Carroll, with Sam Wanamaker and Shirley Booth.

Donn Doak, last seen in "Othello," will play the middle-aged college president; and Ed Ragozzino, also of the "Othello" cast, will play the life photographer that competes with the president for the love of Agatha.

Beverly Gratton, who up to this time has been busy in the backstage aspect of the theater, steps before the footlights in "Goodbye" as Grace Woods, witty secretary to the Congresswoman.

Others in the cast include Sandra Fisher, Sue Perry, Barbara Baker, Kathleen Wisdom (Miss Wisdom is also assistant director to Mrs. Seybolt), Jo Ann Curry, Helen Neuber, Joanne Forbes, LaRue Daniels, Eric Mathews, Ted Thompson, Helen Johnson, Sue Polsky, Paul Wexler, Bob Chambers, and David Ward.

The play will be the first major University Theater production to be presented in the theater's own intimate in-the-round theater in Villard Hall. Central staging of the production will allow the audience to sit on all four sides of the acting area.

This type staging necessitates deviations, naturally, from the regular techniques of production. The last centrally staged production of the theater was "Midsummer Night's Dream," which was done arena style in McArthur Court as the spectacle production of the 1947-48 season.

Radio Tryouts Open

Tryouts for "The Impertinence of Reason," a radio comedy, will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday in Studio A, third floor Villard, according to D. Glenn Starlin, instructor in radio.

'Defer Pledging' Say Outgoing IDC Officials

The Inter-Dormitory Council Tuesday evening recommended to University administrative officials that rushing and pledging be delayed until the beginning of the sophomore year in view of the deferred living plan.

The statement favoring deferred pledging was issued by the outgoing members of the council in a letter to Donald DuShane, director of student affairs. The IDC is composed of house presidents of all dormitories. New members of the council will be elected by individual dormitories spring term.

The letter, which was signed by Bill Clothier, president of the IDC, stated:

"IDC strongly recommends that rushing and pledging be delayed until the beginning of the sophomore year. From the dormitory viewpoint deferred living can never achieve the results desired by the University until rushing and pledging activities are also deferred on the same time schedule."

Inter-Fraternity Council President Bill Harber, contacted Wednesday, said he had no knowledge of the IDC recommendation.

"The Council feels," the dormitory president declared, "that it is asking too much of a freshman to live as a dormitory resident and think as a fraternity brother. It is asking too much of the dormitory system to serve only as a place to eat and a place to sleep for pledges while they are in training for their fraternal life."

The council expressed the opinion that through the elimination of freshmen pledging "the hodgepodge of conflicting interests and activities during the freshman year" could be removed. "Unpledged freshmen will then be in the position of having to prove themselves as outstanding candidates in order to be pledged to the house of their choice rather than take a pledge pin for granted," the council said.

In respect to fraternities under the living-in program the IDC letter stated:

"The fraternities have everything to gain after the first year of operation under a completely deferred plan. This attitude is held by a large number of national fraternity officers. Any sort of compromise which would separate deferred living from deferred pledging is a compromise of long-range ideals by short-sighted planners."

Mt. Angel Choir To Sing Friday

The Mount Angel Choristers of the Benedictine Monks of Mount Angel Abbey will present a program of Gregorian chants at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the Music School Auditorium. The choral group is sponsored by the School of Music and the Eugene Knights of Columbus.

The evening program will be a full recital of the most ancient of choral singing by the forty voice choir and will feature remarks by the chant master, Father Nicholson. The first time that Gregorian Chants have been presented on stage in this area make it a very rare occasion, according to Donald W. Allton, professor of music.

Father Nicholson, through his ten years' of study of the chant, has helped to bring back the correct interpretation, which was a comparatively lost art for centuries. He studied piano and theory with the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and organ under Oscar Baker and Arthur Bevin of the London Royal Academy of Music.

The Eugene Knights of Columbus are backing the program financially for the people of Eugene, and plan to entertain the choir at dinner before the concert. Allton arranged for their appearance at the University.

Following intermission, the choir will continue to sing the chants used daily in Catholic High Mass and other sung devotions of the church, including "Sanctus" (from the 14th century from "Missa cum Jubilo)—Mode V; "Kyrie" (14th century from the Sunday Mass of Advent and Lent)—Mode VI; "Credo VI" (from the 11th century)—Mode IV; "Laudibus Cives" (Vesper Hymn for Feast of St. Benedict)—Mode I; "Te Beata Sponsa Christi" (Vesper Hymn for Feast of St. Scholastica)—Mode II; "Exsulet Caelum" (Vesper Hymn for Feast of Apostles and Evangelists)—Mode I; "Veni Creator" (Vesper Hymn for Feast of Pentecost, commonly called "Charlemagne's Hymn")—Mode VIII; and "Salve Regina" (Hymn to the Virgin Mary)—Solemn Tone, Mode I.

Classics Talk Set

Professor of classic languages, will discuss "Ancient Classics in the Modern World" at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Library Browsing room at the Student Union.
