

Koreans Penetrate City North of 38th

Compiled by Larry Hobart
From the wires of Associated Press

South Korean forces were reported Monday to have entered Yangyang, five miles north of the 38th parallel. Yungyang is the first town of any size north of the parallel on the Sea of Japan coast.

Some 90,000 Red troops are massed in the central sector to block the Allied advance toward the 38th parallel. United Nations' artillery was zeroed in on some 10,000 Reds in the hills north of Chunchon, about five miles south of the boundary. Immediately north of the parallel an estimated 80,000 more enemy troops are massed.

Allied forces on the central front continued to move forward against poor weather but little Communist resistance. Successes by UN troops were reported on the western front where Allied soldiers cut an enemy regiment to pieces and trapped three Chinese Red battalions north of Seoul.

Defense Secretary Marshall...

... said Monday that any general advance of United Nations troops into North Korean territory is a matter for political consideration. Discussing whether UN troops would cross the 38th parallel, Marshall said General MacArthur will proceed in accordance with the necessity to safeguard the security of his command. Marshall would not comment on General MacArthur's recent statement that a United Nations invasion of China could bring the downfall of the Chinese Red government.

Military men in Tokyo called MacArthur's statement a cold estimate of the military situation—not political. However, word has reached MacArthur's headquarters that President Truman has instructed the General to clear with Washington all statements bearing on political matters.

In London diplomatic officials reported that UN governments with fighting men in Korea are considering a new offer to Red China to talk over a settlement of the war.

The Senate Crime Committee...

... Monday concluded eleven months of public hearings in nine states. Committee members called on the American people to back their lead in cracking down on organized gambling and crime. The committee has gone into closed session.

In Texas a state crime committee has recommended that a grand jury look into the failure of West Coast gambler Mickey Cohen to appear at a hearing at Austin. The action precedes possible contempt procedure against Cohen in the Texas legislature.

International Defense Agreement...

... talks were opened Monday in Copenhagen, Denmark, concerning protection of the huge Arctic island of Greenland. The chancellor of the U. S. embassy heads the American delegation discussing defense of the Danish possession.

The United States and Canada have agreed to pool civilian defense facilities in case of an attack. The plan, proposed by Canada, has been approved by the State Department and sent to the Senate for ratification. The plan calls for formation of a joint Canadian-American Defense Committee, to link facilities along the 3,000-mile Canadian border.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, addressing the Inter-American Conference of Foreign Ministers Monday in Washington, urged the republics of the western hemisphere to gird against Communist attack from within or without. He suggested that a hemisphere-wide defense plan be drawn up.

Defense Mobilizer Charles Wilson...

... said Monday that the United States now has in sight the military power to hold back any aggressor. Wilson said, "If I were a principal enemy, I would be frightened by our progress."

Wilson told a news conference in Washington that inflation has been curbed to some extent but he added that the government still may have to put on the brakes a little harder. He expressed the hope that the wage stabilization board will soon be reorganized and functioning. The board has been out of business because of labor's walkout.

More power over prices, especially farm prices which now are partly excluded from controls by law, will be requested by his office, Wilson said.

The East-West Talks...

... are in their fourth week at Paris and latest dispatches report that deputies of the Big Four foreign ministers appear ready to keep at the job of trying to write an agenda for their chiefs. It may mean the talks will go into a fifth week or a sixth.

One official said nobody seems willing to break up the meetings, although there has been scant progress made. The big stumbling block in the talks continues to be the level of armaments in Germany and among the Big Four and their associated nations.

The New York Atom Spy Trial...

... will go to the jury today following completion of the presentation of the case by the government and the defense. After the jury was excused Monday, Judge Kaufman denied all defense motions for dismissal of the indictment or a directed verdict of acquittal.

Three persons are accused of having stolen atomic secrets for the Russians during the last war. They are Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell. The three face a maximum penalty of death if convicted.

Cheap Synthetic Rubber Process...

... was discussed by the Senate Small Business Committee Monday. President William O'Neil of General Tire and Rubber Company said his company has a process that could increase synthetic rubber supplies 22 per cent almost at once, and 40 per cent in four months. He said it would save vital materials. O'Neil indicated that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which supervises the synthetic rubber program, will not come to terms.
