

New Mixed Doubles Bowling Leagues Play Tonight at SU Alleys

Two of the four new mixed doubles bowling leagues will begin play at 6:30 tonight on the Student Union alleys.

The setup includes four leagues of eight teams each. The schedule will continue for seven weeks, with each league playing a single round robin. Play begins tonight and Wednesday night. There will be two Tuesday night leagues and two Wednesday night leagues, with all play beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Winning teams of each of the four leagues will be presented individual cups, one for each member of each victorious duo, according to Louis Bellissimo, Student Union recreation director.

The four league winners will hold a three-game rolloff, with the ultimate rolloff victor winning the perpetual trophy.

The names of these winners will be engraved on the trophy, which will remain in the Student Union, Bellissimo said.

Handicaps for the leagues are 180 for men and 160 for women.

32 Teams Entered

The 32 teams entered in competition have been divided into the aforementioned 4 leagues, which Bellissimo has labeled leagues 1, 2, 3, and 4. Leagues 1 and 2 play on Tuesday nights, with leagues 3 and 4 playing every Wednesday night.

The schedule for tonight will have the following pairings:

League No. 1—Jack Reading and Nancy Huddleston vs. Vern Thompson and Zoe Hager, Pete Darlington and Evon Darlington vs. Bob Hanberg and Connie Lowery, Clarence Naapi and Nancy O'Connor vs. Ted Takasumi and Matsue Wada, and Warren Woodruff and Nelda Vogel vs. Cameron Thom and Jean Cave.

League No. 2—Don Thompson and Barbara Williams vs. Dick Thompson and Kaydo Stryker, John McAloon and Bev Hart vs. Don Collins and Maggie Powne, Mert Meeker and Carol Broeren vs. Jack Smith and Joan DeBenedetti, and Ken Ireland and Molley Mliefernich vs. John Frost and Marilyn Schultz.

Wednesday night's leagues 3 and 4 pairings will be listed in Wednesday's Emerald.

Seals Fail To Win Once This Year In Seven Tries

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A gentleman named Frank O'Doul must be wondering today whether the Pacific Coast Baseball League's 1951 season actually is underway. Or has he merely been having a nightmare these past eight days?

Mr. O'Doul, more familiarly known as Lefty, shepherds a ball club known as the San Francisco Seals through the perils and pitfalls of the PCL pastures. And that club, as if you didn't know, has yet to win a game after seven starts.

The Seals are supposed to be loaded with seasoned campaigners and such new talent as Jim Russell, $30,000 Yankee bonus pitcher from Compton, Calif., College.

Jim lost his first pro start in yesterday's twin bill nightcap, which the Los Angeles Angels captured 5-3.

Incidentally, the Angels should do all right if they can keep two lads named Chuck Connors and Max West on their roster. West poled out three homers in the curtain-raiser against the Seals yesterday, one of the power blows coming in the tenth inning and clinching a 6-5 contest.

On Saturday Connors walloped three circuit smashes in his first three times up.

Speaking of home runs, Seattle found some long-hitting boys yesterday. Bud Sheely, Al Lyons and George Vico each contributed four-base blows to stop San Diego's winning streak. The Rainiers, on the strength of the big hits, won the opener of a doubleheader, 7-3, but dropped the nightcap 7-5. This gave the Padres six wins and one setback for the young season.

Oakland, defending PCL champ, won a pair from Hollywood, 1949 circuit kingpins, 8-4, and 2-1. The Acons, in a three-way tie with Portland and the Angels for second place, took three games in the four-game series.

A wild throw in the first game caught Oakland's pinch-hitter Will Haffey on the ear. Several stitches

Dougherty Back From Conclave

D. M. Dougherty, head of the foreign language department, has just returned from the Pacific Northwest Conference of Foreign Language Teachers held in Vancouver, B. C.

Dougherty was accompanied by three other members of the University faculty: Edna Landros, assistant-professor of classical languages; Victor C. Strash, assistant professor of Slavic languages; and W. A. Roecker, assistant professor of Germanic languages.

The conference, which began Wednesday, was attended by delegates from four states—Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho—and two Canadian provinces—British Columbia and Alberta. Over 100 delegates were present from Northwest Colleges, universities, and high schools.

The purpose of this annual conference was the discussion of the teaching of foreign languages and literatures. It also served to bring high school and college teachers together.

All members of the Oregon delegation participated in the program. Dr. Landros served as chairman of one of the discussion groups, and Dr. Dougherty spoke at the general session of the conference.

Dougherty has announced that plans have been made to hold the conference at the University of Oregon next spring. The exact date has not been set. This will be one of the conferences held in connection with the 75th anniversary celebration of the University.

Harvard Man Sets Interviews for BA

One of the deans of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, J. Leslie Lollins, will be in Portland Friday and Saturday to interview candidates for admission to the school and for scholarships.

Any graduate, not necessarily of the BA school, who is interested in either the scholarships or admittance to the school may see Victor P. Morris, dean of the BA school, as soon as possible.

Some new scholarships to the Harvard school have been made available exclusively for students from the western states.

Civil Service Men To Hold Interviews

Two representatives of the Oregon Civil Service Commission, George Robinson, examination supervisor, and Robert Johnson, director, will be on campus Apr. 11 and 12 to interview interested students.

The two will furnish job information on the commission, including general opportunities, basic qualifications, salary, employment conditions, and application procedures.

Appointments may be made at the graduate placement office in Emerald Hall.

'Comedy of Errors' Tryouts at 4 Today

Tryouts for "Comedy of Errors," by William Shakespeare, will be held starting at 4 p.m. today in the lab theater, 102 Villard.

The play, scheduled to open near the end of May, will be an outdoor production and is directed by Paul Wexler, senior in speech.

Both men and women are needed, and Wexler emphasized that tryouts would be confined to just those in theater work now.

There are about 13 roles to be cast in the production and among them Wexler will be looking for the counterparts of two sets of male twins.

Urge Rushing Sign-up

Women interested in spring term rushing should sign up in the office of Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, director of women's affairs, Emerald Hall, by Apr. 12.

Singers Return To Give Concert

The University Singers returned to the campus Monday night after a six-day tour through Oregon.

This group will finish up their year's activities with an all-campus concert to be held at 8 p.m. Apr. 10 in the Student Union ballroom at which they will present many of the numbers that were sung on the tour. The Singers are under the direction of Donald Allton, assistant professor of music.

YWCA Sophomores To Plan Program

Members of the YWCA sophomore commission cabinet will hold a dinner meeting tonight at the home of Ancy Vincent, commission chairman, to plan the service program.

Those attending the meeting will be Cathy Tribe, Sally Haseltine, Donna Hart, Pat Gustin, Barbara Swanson, Jean Webb, Jean Gates, Barbara Johnson, Shirley Olson, Jean Mauro, Sue Madsen, Lee Kellow, Mary Bennette, Marilyn Patterson, and Miss Vincent.

VA Office to Stay Open

The Eugene office of the Veteran's administration, 208 Hampton Building, will remain open indefinitely, according to Kenneth Farnor, officer in charge. The office had previously planned to close Apr. 1.

Veteran's training, insurance, and other benefits are handled through the local office for all veterans in Eugene.

Speech Contest Open to Seniors

W. A. Dahlberg, associate professor of speech, has announced that all seniors, regardless of major, who are interested in trying out for the Failing Beekman speech contest being held June 8 should contact him immediately.

The Failing Beekman contest is an annual event in which seniors prepare and deliver 12 to 15 minute talks, each contestant having the right to select his own topic. Awards will be $150, $100, and $50 for first, second and third places respectively.

Dahlberg, whose office is in 210 Villard, said that help will be given to any student in choosing a topic as well as in composing and delivering the speech.

Amphibians Slate Swimming Tryouts

Special tryouts for Amphibians, women's swimming honorary, will be held between 4 and 5 p.m. Thursday, President Cathy Vilas announced.

Women interested in joining are asked to report to Gerlinger swimming pool for tests. In order to accommodate those who have 4 o'clock classes, the testing will take place until shortly after 5 p.m. This is an unusual opportunity as tryouts are not regularly held spring term, Miss Vilas pointed out.

Books from the Oregon State Library are loaned without charge, although the borrower pays all postage costs.

Linfield Wildcats

Catcher Smith grabbed it when it came down, but it was too late to catch Martin at first.

Hanns walked Hiller and McNeil with the bases loaded to add two more runs to the Linfield record, and a wild pitch to Zullager contributed another. An outfield fly and a mental miscue retired the side.

Ex-Duckling Jack Pyle replaced Hanns at the beginning of the fifth inning, and he hurled three innings of almost-flawless baseball. After walking two men and giving up a lone single during his first two innings on the mound, Pyle settled down and fanned Blank, Rosenfeld, and Marsh for and easy seventh inning.

An Oregon eighth-inning error and Pyle's ninth-inning wildness contributed to the final two scores of the game. Oregon's final scoring effort came in the sixth inning, when Coley and Smith singled and later scored as the miscues mounted. Settcace fanned with the bases loaded to end the threat.

Linfield ..... 400 400 011—10 10 5
Oregon ..... 310 002 000— 8 8 7
Blank and Boffaro; Hanns, Pyle (5), and Smith.
