

Senate Turns Over Contempt Orders

By Larry Hobart
From the wires of Associated Press

The U. S. Senate has turned over its contempt citations of Gamblers Frank Costello, Frank Erickson, and Joe Adonis to U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol in New York.

Saypol told newsmen Monday he had received the official transcript of the records for study. He said he would present evidence to a federal grand jury for possible indictments.

The three men were cited for contempt after balking at certain questions asked them during the Senate Crime Committee hearings last month.

Erickson is serving a two-year penitentiary term for book-making.

If indicted and convicted, they would face a possible maximum penalty of 12 months imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

The House Voted Tuesday to Scrap...

... the administration's Universal Military Training proposal but provide for a commission to draft a UMT plan.

The decision came as the House worked over the Draft Extension Bill section-by-section. It could be upset by a later vote before final action on the measure.

The admission asked a plan under which all youths at age 18 would have at least six months of military training.

In place of this, the House adopted amendments under which a five-member commission would be appointed by the President to draft a plan for training youths in a national security training corps.

Allied Troops Reached...

... the southern shores of the sprawling Hwachon Reservoir Tuesday, but heavy Red mortar fire stopped them short of the big North Korean dam and hydro-electric plant.

AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from the central front battleground that the water behind the dam still is about 200 feet deep. The Reds opened 10 of the reservoir's 18 floodgates Monday in a try to halt the Allied drive.

But water quickly subsided to near-normal levels in the Pukhan River reservoir outlet.

American units paced the Allies' assault on the dam. The Communists fought back with a steady barrage of mortar shells.

Bradshaw said it was believed the Chinese lacked the equipment necessary to blow the dam.

Former Senator Millard E. Tydings...

... charged Tuesday that Senator Butler (R-Md) knew a "fake" picture and "lies" were being used against Tydings in the 1950 Maryland senatorial campaign but refused to "repudiate" them.

Tydings, a Democrat who lost to Butler, told Senators investigating the campaign that Butler "allowed the whole thing to rest as a cloud over my reputation" until the election was over.

Tydings reiterated his charges that "scurrilous literature" was used against him and that Butler violated election laws by excessive spending. The "fake" picture to which he referred was a composite photograph purporting to show Tydings and Communist Leader Earl Browder, in close conversation.

The Government's Hunt...

... for more Russian spies is extending into espionage activity dating back more than 20 years, U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said.

Some of the new suspects, Saypol says, "have been active in the Communist Party."

They operated in "not only atomic but other fields," he adds.

The U. S. Attorney told newsmen Monday that his men are gathering evidence dating from the late 20's and early 30's to 1948. The data will be given to a grand jury, Saypol said.

Saypol said Sunday that new arrests were to be expected in espionage investigations that culminated in the death-sentence convictions of Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel.

Two Regular Army Divisions...

... and two National Guard divisions stand high on the list of units that may be sent to re-enforce Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's western defense force.

Pentagon sources, reporting this to newsmen Tuesday, said the regular divisions are the Fourth Infantry now at Fort Benning, Ga., and the Second Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex.

The National Guard divisions were named as the 28th from Pennsylvania and the 43rd, drawn from Connecticut, Vermont and Rhode Island. They have been in training since September and appear to be the most likely choices among the National Guard units for European service.

Winston Churchill's Conservatives Baited...

... a Parliamentary trap with rationed cheese Monday night and defeated Britain's socialist government by 18 votes.

But it was no formal motion of censure, and the laborites—disregarding demands of the delighted Tories—viewed it as a minor matter not requiring Prime Minister Attlee's government to resign.

The vote was sprung by the Conservatives on a seemingly routine and comparatively calm debate on the question of Britain's cheese ration. The government had ordered it cut back to two ounces a week. The Conservatives wanted the previous three ounce ration.

The victory meant more than an extra ounce of cheese for the jubilant Conservatives, however. It came only 17 hours before the Socialists were to present their new annual budget (about 7:30 a.m. PST Tuesday.) Conservatives said Monday night's victory set the stage for a full fight on the budget, a fight in which defeat for the government would mean its downfall.

USA Calls For Petitions

A call for petitions for student body offices was issued Tuesday by Ernie Baldini, United Students Association president.

Petitions may be obtained at the ASUO office in the Student Union, and may be turned in to Baldini, Alpha Tau Omega; Helen Jackson, Highland House; Eve Overback, Hendricks Hall; Ed Peterson, Lambda Chi; Don Collin, Gamma Hall; and Marian Briner, Ordes. The petitions are due at 5 p.m. Monday.

"I urge anyone who wishes to run for student body office on the USA ticket to feel free to turn in their petitions," Baldini said. "Every one will be equally considered."

Russian Sculptor For Art School

Alexander Archipenko, Russian-born sculptor who studied and taught in Moscow, Paris, and Berlin, will be a visiting critic on the faculty of the University Architecture and Allied Arts school for the 1951 summer session, June 18 through Aug. 10.

Archipenko's first exhibition in the United States was shown in 1927, and since then there have been 50 shows. The sculptor has developed the convex-concave theory of sculpture, which experts say has exerted a tremendous influence on modern sculpture and is still in evidence in the work of modern artists.

The School of Architecture and Allied Arts will offer a special concentration in sculpture during during the summer session, to coincide with Archipenko's stay here.

Archipenko and Mark Sponenburgh, assistant professor of art, and a member of the regular faculty, will present joint classes in elementary, intermediate, and advanced sculpture, as well as a graduate seminar.

GE Exhibits Train Displayed Monday

The General Electric Company's exhibit train, the "More Power to America Special," when in Eugene Monday was visited by several professors from the University. W. V. Norris, professor of physics; R. T. Ellickson, head of the physics department; P. L. Risley, head of the biology department.

This train has 10 cars plus a 5,400 h.p. diesel engine. In each car are various types of electrical equipment for power and industrial uses. The train, first of its kind, will visit 150 cities.

Some of the demonstrations included types of transformers, lighting for both sport and industrial use, switching devices, atomic energy, instruments for the measurement of electrical energy, and the use of Beta rays for measuring thickness of metals and paper.

Alpha Phi Alpha Installed on Campus

Installation of Beta Psi Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity was held Saturday night in the Student Union.

Regional Director of the Far Western Jurisdiction, William McCoy Jr., Portland, conducted the installation of the inter-racial social group.

Following the initiation ceremonies, a banquet was held in one of the small dining rooms of the SU. DeNorval Unthank Sr., Portland physician and surgeon, served as toastmaster. McCoy presented the banquet address.

A representative group of members attended from Epsilon Beta Lambda Chapter, Portland. Congratulatory greetings were received from the Pacific Coast chapters of the fraternity and from Beta Psi Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Portland.

The members of Beta Psi Chapter are DeNorval Unthank Jr., graduate student in architecture; Theodore Daniels, junior in journalism; Theodore Burger, senior in business; Theodore Martin, graduate student in health education; W. E. Johnston Jr., graduate student in education; James MacMillan, OSC pharmacy student; and Clarence Pruitt, student in the University Dental School in Portland.
