

Senior Gets Glimpse of Weekend Program

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS on campus this weekend for Duck Preview will find plenty to do and see around the University during their visit. Pictured here is Joy White, a Eugene High School senior, taking part in three phases of the weekend program. Left, Joy is talking with members of a woman's living organization where high school girls will be housed. Center, she views one of the educational displays that have been set up in various departments for Saturday morning inspection. Joy has her eyes on a rock collection in Condon Hall. Right, dancing in the Student Union ballroom will be a major attraction Saturday night following the Vodvil.

Deferment Cards Available Monday

Application cards for student draft deferment tests will be available Monday at local draft boards, according to a release from state headquarters of the Selective Service in Portland.

Address of the local board is 127 Seventh Ave. E.

The test, officially dubbed the Selective Service Qualification Test, will be given to all eligible registrants. Testing dates are May 26, June 16, and June 30.

The University of Oregon is one of 14 sites throughout the state selected as an examination center.

To be eligible for the test an applicant must be a full-time student working toward a degree.

J. S. Carlson, director of the University counseling center who will administer the Selective Service test here pointed out Thursday that students accepted for, or now in, the advanced program of the Reserve Officer Training Corps and veterans need not apply for the tests.

Recent legislative action in the House of Representatives in which the legislators voted against deferring students on test scores, will not prevent the administration of the tests. However, it appears that the test results will play a lesser role in draft board considerations than was originally planned.

Alpha Xi's State Political Policy

Alpha Xi Delta sorority issued a statement Thursday to clarify its position regarding its political affiliation. Its members voted Monday night to notify the United Students Association that it was reconsidering its political position on the campus. The house has been a member of the USA party since its formation in 1948.

The statement said that "our action of Monday has been taken to mean that we are petitioning Associated Greek Students for membership. We wish to make it clear that such was not our intent."

They pointed out that their action on Monday was only a notification to the USA; a final vote will be taken in two weeks.

The text of the statement appears on page 10 of today's Emerald.

Funk, Isaak Oregana's New Heads

Robert Funk and Charles Isaak were named to the top positions of the 1952 Oregana Thursday night by the Student Publications Board.

The board recommended Robert Ford as editor of the Ore-Nter, orientation booklet for University freshmen. His recommendation will go to the Executive Council and Office of Student Affairs.

Funk, a junior in English, received the editorship of the University's yearbook. Isaak, junior in business administration, is the new business manager.

They succeed Ruth Landry, editor, and Robert Schooling, business manager, of the 1951 Oregana.

The new editor was associate editor in charge of copy of this year's book. He is an Emerald columnist and assistant managing editor for the daily.

Isaak was Oregana sales manager this year. He has worked on the yearbook since last fall.

Ford, freshman in pre-journalism, is feature editor of the Emerald.

Twelve Acts Ready for Vodvil

A highlight of Duck Preview Weekend will be the 12-act All-campus Vodvil Show, to be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in McArthur Court. Doors will open at 7:15.

Tickets for the show, which are 60 cents, will be sold through today in the Co-op, Student Union, and in campus living organizations. They will also be sold at the door.

Everyone wishing to attend, including participants in the show, is required to buy a ticket as the proceeds will go to the World Student Service Fund. Visiting high school seniors will, however, be admitted free as guests of the University, on presentation of their registration receipts for Duck Preview.

'Preview' Planners Expect 700 High School Visitors

Between 700 and 800 seniors from most of Oregon's high schools are expected to start arriving on the campus this afternoon in preparation for Duck Preview weekend today, Saturday, and Sunday.

By Thursday afternoon 700 reply cards had been received from expectant visitors.

Housing for the students will be provided by fraternities, sororities, co-ops, and dormitories according to the preference indicated on their reply cards. Boys desirous of staying in dorms will be housed in halls of vets' dorm; girls will go to Susan Campbell Hall, opened especially for the occasion.

Students not on any preference list will be housed arbitrarily by the housing committee, as will those who sent in no reply cards. Living organizations have already been notified who will stay in their respective halls and houses.

The weekend agenda, as arranged by General Chairman George Oberteuffer, is as follows.

Registration...

'Finian's' Smash Hit at Theater

By Don Smith

They can take curtain calls from here to Glocca Morra for a sparkling production of "Finian's Rainbow" which played a special formal dress rehearsal last night before 300 invited guests of the University Theater.

The superlative production, directed by Horace W. Robinson, opens its regular run this evening at 8.

Last night's crowd almost danced its way out of the theater—thanks, in many ways, to the vivacious little Jane Bowen who danced her light-footed way into the hearts of the audience as Silent Susan.

Glenna Hurst played the Irish Sharon with a sparkle in her eye, and a sparkle in her voice; and Gordon Howard was a fine, strong-voiced Woody. Faber DeChaine proved an accomplished Finian.
