Ducks Face Huskies Mel Krause to Pitch

Mel Krause is scheduled to handle Oregon's starting mound duties when the Ducks battle the powerful Washington Huskies at 3 p.m. today on Howe Field.

The two teams will meet again at 2 p.m. Saturday on the diamond. Stan Aune will pitch for Oregon on Saturday.

Jack Smith will handle the catching chores today for the league-leading Ducks. The starting infield will include First Baseman Phil Settecase, Second Sacker Daryle Nelson, Shortstop Joe Tom, and Third Baseman Nick Schmer. Coach Don Kirsch's Webfoot outfield will consist of Left Fielder Norval Ritchey, Center Fielder Jim Livesay, and Right Fielder Earl Averill, Jr.

Segura Recovers

Catcher Joe Segura, who injured his ankle during pre-season practice, is beginning to work out again and might see some action.

Washington comes to Eugene with a powerful pitching staff and a talented infield. Captain Bobby Moen left-handed hurler who stopped the WSC Cougars with six hits and one base on balls last Friday, will face the Ducks today.

Husky Coach Warr-n Tappin stated earlier during the week, "Our season will be half over at the end of this trip, and we'll need three wins in the four games if we hope to be in the middle of the title picture. Moen is our best bet to get two of those. In the others games we'll start Bob Bell, Bob Peterson, or Mal Waite.

Peterson, incidentally, hurled a no-hitter at the Idaho Vandals last Monday.

Probable Starters

The other probable starters for Washington (and their batting averages for two games against WSC) include Catcher Dave Lewis (.000), First Baseman Jimmy Morrison (.200), Second Sacker Len Tucker (.000), Shortstop Jack Engler (.000), Third Baseman Lorne Hurlbut (.355), Left Fielder Tom Absher (.500), Center Fielder Larry Hems (.500), and Right Fielder Gordy Rodland (.285).

The batting averages for two games mean very little and undoubtedly will be altered this weekend. The Huskies will face Oregon State Monday and Tuesday at Corvallis.

Spring Practice Ends Saturday

Coach Jim Aiken's Oregon football team will end spring practice with a scrimmage Saturday morning. That will be the twenty-ninth of the authorized thirty workouts—Webfoot mentor says he is sparing his men the final workout because of the hard work and good spirit they have shown. Forty-five men are out at the present, and Aiken hopes to invite a squad of about sixty, including several freshmen, out for fall practice which starts on September 1 in preparation for the opener with the Stanford Indians at Portland on September 23.

Line Coach Gene Harlow and Backfield Coach Johnny McKay have aided Aiken in the process of emphasizing football fundamentals and polishing the Duck running and passing games.

Rifle-armed Hal Dunham has shown steady improvement at passing chores from the T-quarterback slot, and his favorite targets have been last year's end star Monte Brethauer and fast-stepping Leroy Campbell, a 6' 1", 190 pound transfer from Los Angeles City College.

Running backs who have shown well, according to Aiken, are diminutive Tom Edwards, transfer Tom Novikoff, sophomore Don Sloan, and Ted Anderson, a freshman halfback of great speed and promise.

The Webfoot mentor picks Anderson, end Campbell, and last year's frosh quarterback Earney Holland as the men who have shown the most improvement during the spring session. Holland is a husky 6 ft., 175 pound ex-Marshfield high star who has a good passing arm and calls plays well.

Hal Simmons, a tackle last year, has been shifted to guard for his senior year, and has been paired with rugged Jerry Moshofsky at that spot.

Aiken's tackles are transfer Bill Bates and Mike Sikora, letterman Jerry Shaw, and Len Deitreich.

Portland Club Drops Players

PORTLAND—(P)—Portland cut its squad to the 23-player Pacific Coast League limit yesterday by optioning pitchers Bill Elbert and John Tierney to a Western International League baseball club.

The Beavers management said Elbert and Tierney were being optioned either to Victoria or Vancouver. The Beavers aren't sure where the two will do their pitching, the management said.

Salem High's 1948 basketball squad included two all-staters and a second team all-stater. At the same time, the Jayvee squad included two players who later became all-staters (1950) and a third who later became a second team all stater, while the sophomore quint included a future United Press second team all-state.

The 1908 Cincinnati Reds demonstrated outstanding bunting ability. After three consecutive batters bunted safely to load the bases, the fourth bunted successfully and batted a run in.

Duck Thinclads Battle Vandals On Local Field

Coach Bill Bowerman's Oregon track men will face some potent opposition when they tangle the Idaho cindermen at Eugene on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in their second Northern Division meet.

Among Vandals to watch, according to Bowerman, is Bob Christian who has run a 9.7 100 yard dash, and a 21.6 220 yard dash. The fastest 440 man in the Northern Division is an athlete named Miller with a 48.7" effort to his credit. Taylor, the Idaho discus man, has thrown the platter 162 feet as compared to Webfoot Bob Anderson's 148' 6" top this year. Even Chuck Missfeldt must get off a good javelin toss to top Vandal Hodgson's 190 feet.

The Idaho relay team is reputed to be the fastest in the Northern Division with a 3.22 mark for a mile. Bowerman thinks that the Vandals have a fine chance to take the meet and lists the following events as their strongest:

100, 220, and 440 yard dashes; High and Low Hurdles; High Jump; Pole Vault; Discus; and Relay.

Frosh Cindermen Beat Husky-Pups

Oregon's Duckling track squad nosed out the University of Washington Husky Pups 66-64 in a telegraphic track meet Wednesday afternoon.

The margin of victory came in the field events with the Oregonians taking first place in all events.

Oregon's point making efforts were led by Roger Webster and Ray Packwood who took two first places each. Webster copped honors in the javelin and discus while Packwood won the 220 yard low hurdles and tied for first in the polevault with teammate Russ Mannex.

Joe Kane of the Husky Pups took both sprint events.
