

O'Dwyer Accused; Reds Grind to Halt

Compiled by Phil Bettens
From the wires of Associated Press

William O'Dwyer, former mayor of New York and present U. S. ambassador to Mexico, was accused Tuesday by the Senate crime committee of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York City. The committee's report, released Tuesday, also charged that underworld kingpin Frank Costello is a power in Democratic politics.

The crime committee's report had this to say about O'Dwyer: "Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, water-front, murder, or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

And on Costello:

"It is apparent to the committee that despite Costello's protestations, his sinister influence is still strong in the councils of the Democratic party organization of New York."

The senators devoted about 35 pages of the 195-page report to their New York City investigation, where O'Dwyer and Costello were the major witnesses at hearings viewed on television by upwards of 20 million persons.

The committee's report made many recommendations on legislation to cut down on organized crime by making it financially unprofitable.

In Korea, The Red's Big Spring Offensive...

...has ground to a halt. Their attack on Seoul, the South Korean capital, has been temporarily halted, and the Chinese Reds seem to be shifting their forces to the central Korean front.

On the central front, the Reds cut off the water supply for rivers blocking their invasion route. The Han river dropped so sharply that U. N. engineers had to adjust pontoon bridges three times Tuesday. The Chinese have apparently closed the sluice gates of the huge Hwachon dam, located further up the Han river, an Allied spokesman said.

And another senator has asked that Chinese Nationalist troops be used in the Korean fighting. Senator Warren Magnuson (D., Wash.) made the statement in a news conference in Hong Kong, China, last weekend.

Tuesday Was May Day—A Big Communist Holiday

...and appropriate celebrations were staged by the Reds all over the world. Life in Paris slowed to a walk as bus, subway, and taxi men obeyed union orders to take the day off. Most cafes and bars were closed also.

Some 10,000 Italians, many of them youths and children, gathered at Rome's ancient Colosseum for a Communist-sponsored rally. But most Italians celebrated quietly.

In Moscow, the Communists shot the works. Stalin appeared atop Lenin's tomb to view the biggest parade of the day; little trouble from non-Communist opposition to the big demonstration was expected. Red China's radio stations ground forth propaganda all day long, but non-Communist Asia generally observed a quiet May Day.

The State Legislature May Adjourn Today...

...if an eight-member conference committee on taxes can settle the Legislature's tax dispute. The Senate, meanwhile, approved a bill which would join two big Oregon counties—Multnomah and Columbia—into one county, to be called Custer. The bill was introduced as a jibe at senator Richard Neuberger's (D., Multnomah) plan to consolidate five eastern Oregon counties into one governmental group.

This last bill is expected to die in committee, now that the senator's have had their fun.

A Roseburg Man Shoved Off for Tahiti Tuesday...

...all by himself in a 26-foot sailboat. He embarked from Long Beach, Calif., on his 52nd birthday.

Roland H. Barney, the roving seaman, estimated that the trip would take him two months. He'll cover approximately 4,000 miles during his lonely cruise. The ship, a New Bedford-type whaling sloop purchased as war surplus, was christened by Barney, "China Doll."

Gen. MacArthur Took A Back Seat...

...Tuesday when he brought his wife back to her home town—Murfreesboro, Tenn.—for a half-day visit.

The General was busy getting ready the testimony he will deliver to Senators when he appears Thursday before a joint session of the Senate's Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committee.

Murfreesboro gave a long and lusty greeting to the MacArthurs, but the main reception was for Mrs. Jean Faircloth MacArthur. She has not been to her home town since her marriage to the general 14 years ago.

Senator Morse (R., Ore.) Served Notice...

...Monday that he will no longer be bound by the rule forbidding disclosure of testimony heard in closed door Congressional sessions. He said that he has heard at recent meetings of the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, testimony about "practices of some groups guilty of unpatriotic commercialism in connections with the defense effort."

Morse told the Senate, "I am shocked at the open defiance of some business establishments," which, he said, are earning unprecedented profits "but still want more."

The United Daughters of the Confederacy Are Mad

...because the Fifteenth Army Corps is taking over control of Camp Chaffee, Ark., headquarters of the Fifth Armored Division, The Corps led Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's famous march through Georgia in 1864 during the Civil War, and the ladies haven't forgotten it.

The president of the Fort Smith U. D. C. chapter, near the site of Camp Chaffee, called the corps "A bunch of barn burners," and added: "I am thinking of wiring Senator McClellan (D., Ark.) and Senator Fulbright (D., Ark.) in protest. It's exceedingly bad manners on the part of the Army."

Petitions Due--- Oregon Positions...

Chuck Isaak, business manager of the 1952 Oregon, Tuesday called for petitions for promotion and publicity manager, advertising manager, and advertising layout editor for next year's annual.

Petitions are due by 5 p.m. Monday in the Oregon office, third floor of the Student Union.

Duties of the promotion and publicity manager include handling publicity for editorial and business departments; promotion during sales drives; distributing year-books to Oregon high schools; and directing sales personnel.

Advertising layout editor candidates are asked by Isaak to submit ideas for ad layouts and turn in one completed layout ready for submission to an advertiser.

Further information may be obtained by calling at the Oregon office any afternoon this week, Isaak said.

Ore-nter Art Editor...

An art editor is needed for the 1951-52 edition of the Ore-nter, freshman orientation book, it has been announced by Bob Ford, editor.

Samples of art work may be turned in to Ford at the Emerald Shack. Art work will include cartoon drawings for the division pages of the book.

Any student, whether an art major or not, may apply for the position.

Health Service Urges Injections

"Not nearly as many as should be taking advantage of the service" were reported as receiving the smallpox vaccinations and tetanus toxoid injections being given at the health service until Thursday.

Students, faculty members, and University employees are eligible to get the shots for the cost of the serum, according to Dr. F. N. Miller, director of the health service. A charge of 25 cents is being made for each shot.

Volunteer nurses will be at the health center from 1 to 4:15 p.m. today and Thursday and May 22-24 to assist in giving the shots.

Anyone who hasn't had a smallpox vaccination within the last three to five years, said Dr. Miller, should be re-vaccinated. The tetanus toxoid shots will build up immunity against lockjaw, in case of a future wound.

Dance Session Tonight

The weekly square dance session in the Student Union ballroom will start at 7:30 p.m. today with folk dancing and squares. The Tennessee Waltz, the Waltz Quadrille, and "Old 97" will be featured.

At 8:30 p.m. the Square Dance Club will meet. The square dance groups are sponsored by the Physical Education department.
