Religious News Youth Is Topic At Little' Forum

"Singspirations," worship hours, parties and movies highlight campus religious group social gatherings for the coming week.

Christian House
 A joint party between Christian House and the Plymouth group is planned for 7:30 Friday at Plymouth House. Christian House members are urged to meet at Christian House a few minutes before the party.

Saturday is open house at the religious group. "Singspirations" is the theme for a group meeting at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the House. A worship hour and movie will complete the program.

An Iraq foreign exchange student will be the speaker at the 4 p.m. Tuesday International Hour. Christian Executive Council will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the House.

Westminster House
 Graduating seniors will be honored by the Presbyterian religious group at the 6:30 p.m. dinner Friday in the Eugene Smorgasboard. A dance will follow the banquet at Westminster House.

Lutheran Student House
 A work party is planned by the campus religious group for Saturday at the House.

A coast trip is slated Sunday by the group. Breakfast will be between 6 and 7 a.m. with the group leaving at 7 a.m. for the coast. The party will return early Sunday evening.

Discussion is planned for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. Bible study will take place Wednesday noon at the house. Lunch will be provided.

SU Will Feature Old Time Movies Friday, Sunday

Old-time silent movies are featured in the Mack Sennett comedy program slated for 8 p.m. Friday and 3 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union Ballroom.

Movie producer Mack Sennett was the leader of comedy direction during the 1910's and '20's. During his period of activity, he discovered Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Carole Lombard, Marie Dressler, Bing Crosby, Wallace Beery, and W. C. Fields.

The program includes "Love and Bullets," "A Clever Dummy," and "Campus Vamp." The Keystone Kops and Mack Sennett's "Bathing Girls" appear in the films. A Charlie Chaplin short completes the bill.

"These films are presented by popular demand," commented Jane Wigen, SU movie chairman. "There was so much student interest in Rudolph Valentino's "Son of The Sheik" and the Mack Sennett shorts presented at a Chapman Hall Wednesday night session, that the committee felt a program of silent movie hits would meet with success."

Music Senior To Present Piano Recital

Margaret Reeve, pianist, will present her senior recital at 8 p.m. today at the Music School Auditorium.

Miss Reeve is a student of Robert Hord, assistant professor of piano. She has been accompanist for Choral Union both fall and winter terms and is the pianist for the square dance classes. She also accompanied Mary Hawkins in her senior recital Apr. 24.

Miss Reeve's intention is to return after graduation to do private piano teaching and professional accompanying. She is a native of Portland, and a member of Phi Beta, music and speech honorary. Her program will include Bach's "Partita in C Minor;" Beethoven's "Pastoral Sonata, Opus 28;" Brahms' "Opus 10," and his "Rhapsody in B Minor;" Prokofieff's "Sonata Number 3;" and "Five Bagatelles" by Howard Ferguson.

Youth Is Topic At Little' Forum

A Little Town Hall forum on the question, "What Are We Failing to Do for Youth in Our Community?" will be held at 8 p.m. May 10 at the First Congregational Church.

Speakers for the forum, which is sponsored by the Eugene YMCA, will discuss the topic from four points of view. John M. Foskett, University professor of sociology, will speak from the parent's angle. "From the youth angle" will be the subject of Victor Fennell, a senior at Eugene High School. Lloyd F. Milhollen, principal of University High School, will give views of a school administrator, while Wesley G. Nicholson, minister of the First Congregational Church, will speak representing the community.

Kirt E. Montgomery, assistant professor of speech, will be forum moderator. A question and answer period will follow.

Proceeds from the dinners go for the Hazel Schwering Scholarships.

Travel Service Arranges For Hawaiian Tour

Arrangements for the "Oregon-Hawaii Tour of 1951" are now being made by the Eugene Travel Service, with a number of University women planning to go.

This will be the third annual tour, which has included approximately 30 girls from the campus each year. The trip combines the opportunity to attend summer school at the University of Hawaii with a vacation in the Islands.

A meeting of girls interested in the tour will be held at 6:15 p.m. Tuesday in Carson Hall. A sound and color movie of Hawaii will be shown. Those who wish to join the tour should contact Miss Lou Weston at the Eugene Travel Service.

Reservations are limited because of limited housing. This year the group will be housed at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Shopping tip, remember that it's always possible to get worsted on a new suit.

For the want of a want-ad, many sellers and buyers never meet.

Landscaping on Grounds of Student Union Best Few Years from Now

The area surrounding the Student Union is being landscaped with an eye toward improving the looks of the grounds and toward adding beauty to the campus.

This purpose was expressed by H. R. Sebald, assistant professor of architecture and landscape architect for the University.

It will be three or four years before the plants are at their best, Sebald explained. In landscaping, planting is never done for immediate effect, he said, because plants don't reach their full size and beauty for a few years after their planting.

Plants were selected for their color and for their time of bloom, he pointed out. Plants with different blooming times were chosen, to provide a succession of blooms starting in the spring and continuing until early summer.

Selected for Color
 Composition with the Student Union building was an important factor in the landscaping. The area was viewed from different places to obtain a picture of where to put the various plants. One plant especially chosen was the azalea, which is useful because it comes in many colors. White, pink, orange, and yellow azaleas were planted to blend in with background, some against the brick and others against other backgrounds. Other plants used are heath, peris, and broom.

Sebald explained that a few larger plants were moved in to break up the effect of the numerous small plants.

Some of the trees selected for the area were chosen for their blooming, others for their habits of growth, he said. Some trees are wide spreading, while others have an interesting bark effect. White birches were chosen for their bark effect, he said. They are planted along the stairway and near the brickwork on the northwest side of the building. Trees were also planted in composition with the building.

A linden tree, the largest tree in the area, is planted on the northwest side of the court. It is the tree of the Class of 1950, selected by that class.

A number of flowering cherry trees were chosen, one of which has yellow blossoms. Also planted are oaks, horse chestnuts, laburnum, and jinkgo.

The area south of the Student Union building, Sebald said, was laid out with the intention of taking care of circulation of students. Benches will be placed on the corner paved areas.

Officers Find Lost Boy Chubby With Mumps

DETROIT, Apr. 30 (AP)—A kindly policewoman and officers were much taken with the chubby-cheeked little boy who'd been found splashing in a mud puddle Sunday.

A scout car took the two-and-a-half-year-old youngster to the police station while officers looked up his parents.

Policewomen fondled the boy and policemen plied him with candy, although the shy child didn't seem much interested in eating.

Nine hours later his frantic mother, 19-year-old Mrs. Patricia Carmack, claimed the boy.

She said she'd left Mickey with her husband, Virgil. Virgil thought Mickey had gone with his mother. Mickey himself had gone for a walk and ended up six blocks from home.

Officers were glad to hand Mickey back. They found out that Mickey's fat cheeks were caused by mumps.

Board to Select Top Emerald Staff Tonight

Interviewing of candidates for the positions of editor and business manager of the Oregon Daily Emerald will be held at 7:30 tonight by the Student Publications Board in the Student Union.

Candidates for Emerald editor are Lorna Larson, junior and present managing editor of the Emerald; and Tom King, senior and associate editor of the Emerald. Abbott Paine, sophomore, is the lone candidate for the office of business manager.

The board will make the final selection for officers following the interviews.
