Art School Picnic Date Set for 18th

The School of Architecture and Allied Arts' annual spring picnic has been scheduled for May 18, according to Pat Price, general chairman of the event.

Feature attraction of the event will be a student-faculty baseball game and upper-lower division competitions.

Only those students with ASAAA membership cards will be admitted. Students desiring cards are urged to contact Price as soon as possible.

Committee heads for the event are George Diac, promotion; Kitty Lou Shaw and Mel Streeter, entertainment; Chuck Ogden, transportation; and George Yost, clean-up.

A refreshment chairman has not yet been appointed, and anyone in the school interested in the position is asked to contact Price in the architecture annex drafting room.

Correction...

The business administration-social sciences building, approved by the state house of representatives Tuesday is a $700,000 project, not a seven-million-dollar building, as was erroneously stated in Wednesday's Emerald.

Merchants Plan UO Conference

Addresses by Paul J. Raver, administrator for the Bonneville Power administration, and University President Harry K. Newburn at a Sunday night banquet will open the 12th annual conference of the Oregon Retail Distributors Institute to be held here Sunday and Monday.

More than 200 merchants throughout the state are expected for the conference.

Two of the principal speakers for Monday will be N. H. Comish, professor of business administration, and W. D. Richins, assistant professor of business administration.

"Merchandising Practices Abroad Adapted to American Retailers" will be the topic of Comish, who traveled extensively in Europe and the British Isles last summer. Richins will discuss effects on retailing of fair and unfair trade laws.

Henry Owen, acting regional director for the Office of Price Stabilization's Seattle office, and James Crutchfield, also of the Seattle OPS office, will discuss various aspects of recent federal restrictions and controls and their effects on retailing.

Other speakers will include Floyd E. Miller, vice-president of Miller's Merchantile company, Portland, and C. Ward Macy, head of the University economics department. Panel discussions will follow the speeches.

Woods Presents Recital Sunday

Charles Woods will give a recital in the Dad's Lounge of the Erb Memorial Student Union at 8 p.m. Sunday, under the auspices of the Beta Psi Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. Woods will be accompanied by Richard Moffatt, a graduate of Lewis and Clark College.

Woods, a baritone, appeared as the High Priest in Verdi's "Aida," which was presented in Washington Park last summer by the Portland Civic Opera Association under the direction of Ariel Rubstein, and as Mephistopheles in the "Finals of Faust." He has also been soloist with the Portland School of Music Orchestra.

Woods' program will include Robert Schumann's song cycle "Dichterliebe" and a selection of Afro-American folk songs.

There is no admission charge.

Board Requests Men to Sign Up For Draft Tests

Draft eligible students should apply immediately for the Selective Service Qualification Test, according to Local Board No. 13.

The double postals, Forms 106 and 107, should be picked up and sent in so that the application may be processed, officials said.

Dates for the test are May 26, June 16, and June 30. They will be administered on the campus by J. S. Carlson, director of the counseling center.

The deferment order for enrolled college students has not been cancelled or modified. It will provide a measurement for local draft boards in determining the induction status of students now enrolled, and provides for temporary postponement of military service as a form of occupational deferment.
