

See the Emerald editorial page (page two) for the latest explanation of the "Stanford plan" for freshman living next year.

Oregon Daily EMERALD

Low last night, 45 degrees; high today, 74 degrees.

VOLUME LII UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1951 NUMBER 123

UO Wheels To Discuss Dorm Plan

The 1951-52 dormitory program and the recommendations of the ASUO dormitory committee which visited Stanford will be discussed by administration and committee members sometime this week.

ASUO President Barry Mountain announced Tuesday that the committee will meet with Ray Hawk, director of men's affairs; Golda P. Wickham, director of women's affairs; H. P. Barnhart, dormitory foods director; and Donald DuShane, director of student affairs, to talk over the dormitory program.

The meeting will be prepared by a nine-student member committee following a visit to Stanford to investigate the living-in plan in effect on the campus.

The suggested freshman living program has been approved by the Interfraternity Council, the Interhall Governing Board, and a representative group of the Inter-dormitory Council. IDC, however, has not yet approved the plan by majority vote. Panhellenic and Heads of Houses have rejected the plan.

Panhellenic President Joanne Lewis said Tuesday that the sorority group does not disapprove of the entire plan, but objects to certain portions. She said that the rushing program outlined in the report was not favored by the group. She did not name any other objections.

The group voted against the entire plan, although approval of some parts was expressed. A committee to formulate definite suggestions to place before the dormitory committee was appointed by President Barbara Williams.

The IDC will meet Thursday night when a group vote on the plan is expected.

Inter Class Tug-o-War Set Today

Freshmen and sophomore men, divided into two rugged and ready teams, will eye each other from opposite ends of a rope this afternoon at 4 p.m. when the annual interclass tug-o-war is staged behind Kappa Sigma.

The frosh, up in arms after Tuesday's report from the sophomore training camp which referred to them as "bums," will be geared to a high pitch for the millrace classic, according to President Wayne Carothers.

Secret Plan

Carothers said that a secret plan of the second-year men to grease the freshmen end of the rope just before the tussle had been shattered when a grease pot, hidden beneath the bridge over the millrace, was discovered by freshmen inspecting the battle site.

Rooter's lids, a traditional part of Junior Weekend, will be doffed for good by freshmen if they succeed in pulling the sophomores through the race. Green ribbons, worn at the same time by frosh girls, will also come off if the Class of '54 is victorious.

Frosh Confident

Although Sophomore Class President "Muscles" Jackson has named a starting line-up that will average 205 pounds in weight, Carothers said his crew, whose names he refused to release until the last minute because of security reasons, was confident of preserving the record of past freshman classes by winning the fray hands down.

"We'll drown those weaklings," was his only comment.

'Book' Due for Release

Distribution of 1951 Oreganas will begin Thursday.

Editor Ruth Landry admitted Tuesday that even she was surprised at this before-Junior-week-end release date. Last year's Oreganas were distributed beginning the first day of Junior Weekend.

Yearbooks will be handed out in 213, 214, and 215 Student Union Thursday, Friday, and Monday. Students need not present receipts for the books, Miss Landry said.

The editor issued a warning to students using the partial payment plan who have not paid their final $3, however.

"If these students do not complete their payments by noon Friday, their books will be sold to the first comers and their first $3 forfeited," she explained.

In addition, there are about 20 Oreganas not now contracted for which will be available for purchase by students who were unable to order yearbooks earlier in the year.

The 1951 Oregana is built around a general theme featuring the Student Union, the editor revealed. The book contains 408 pages, including two insert full-color photographs, and features printed end sheets.

Spankin' Students Have Firm Stand

PULLMAN.—(AP)—Two Washington State College students may feel like standing up to do their studying but all they want to know is:

"Did we set a world's record?" The two, Danny Dawson, Buena, Wash., and Ted Rehwald, San Bernardino, Calif., rode a teeter totter over the weekend for a total of 49 hours and 10 minutes.

The stunt was a feature of the annual Junior Revue at WSC.

Livingstone Takes 'Isms' As Topic

"Liberalism and Rationalism," will be the subject of Sir Richard Livingstone, one of the world's foremost educators, who will speak at 8 p.m. today in the Student Union.

Livingstone arrived on the campus Tuesday and will remain here until May 25, for a series of lectures and meetings with faculty, students, and townspeople. The educator, who was president of Corpus Christi College of Oxford University from 1933 until his retirement in 1950, will give four lectures on the general topic of "Education and the Spirit of the Age" while on the campus.

Preview Proposals Submitted

A report on Duck Preview listing possible improvements for next year was submitted to the ASUO Executive Council Monday by Les Anderson, alumni secretary.

Anderson's report cited lack of attendance as the major failure of the weekend. Oregon State entertained 1,119 high school students during their Senior Weekend, Anderson said, while some 380 participated in Oregon's Duck Preview Weekend.

Methods of combating the low attendance problem suggested by Anderson were to urge individual living organizations to send out invitations to high school students and to invite students of private and parochial schools to attend the weekend.

Anderson also recommended to the council that the Duck Preview chairmen be selected early in fall term.

A questionnaire distributed to living groups by the alumni office revealed that there is a need for better promotion of the event, Anderson said. The All-Campus Vodvil, the mixer dance, the academic display, the exchange dinners were listed by living groups as effective means of presenting the University to high school students. Most houses considered the weekend valuable to the University.

(please turn to page eight)

Amphibians to Stage Water Pageant

The Amphibians annual water show will be held at 8:15 p.m. today and Thursday, May 9 and 10 at the Men's Pool. The theme this year is "Swimming Down To Rio."

Included in this year's cast are four guest swimmers from the men's swimming team who will have a part in an octet number. The men are Pete Van Dyke, Jim Allen, Yoshino Bu Terada, and Allen Wakinekona, Jr.

In all, there will be eleven numbers with an intermission dividing the show into two sections, labeled "North of the Border" songs and "South of the Border" songs. Included in the north border swimming, which are acted out to the song titles are: "It's a Grand Night for Swimming," "Manhattan Serenade," "Starlight Trails," "St. Louis Blues," and "New Orleans by Night."

EXPECTING RAIN—girls with parasols suggest the improbable notion that Amphibians object to rain water. The ladies are, left to right, Mary Bennett, Mimi Jones, and Joan Skordahl. The parasols are props for one of the numbers of the water pageant which begins tonight.

Included in the Southern division are: "Mexican Hat Dance," "La Cumparsita," "Mayan Melody," "Carioca," "Adios Muchachos," and "When Day is Done."

Co-chairmen for the show are Cathy Vilas, Joan Jacobs, and Joan Skordahl, with Miss Jeanette Masilionis as adviser. The entire cast is made up from the members of Amphibians, women's swimming honorary, with the exception of the four guest swimmers. The members included in one or more of the numbers are as follows: Joice Balch, Patricia Beaudoin, Mary Bennette, Ashley Dixon, Monnie Gutchow, Marion Irion, Joan Jacobs, Miriam Jones, Norma Latimer, Jackie Lewis, Nancy Morse, June Nichols, Shirley Nichols, Janet Nunn, Myrna Olson, Ann Ostenson, Lila Popish, Cynthia Price, Sandra Scott, Joan Skordahl, Shirley Smart, Audrey Truesdail, and Catherine Vilas.

Tickets for the show may be obtained from both the men's and women's physical education departments or from any member of Amphibians. Tickets are 60 cents apiece.