

Night Tilt Scheduled At Linfield

Handicapped by injuries, the Oregon Duck baseball nine will battle the Linfield Wildcats Wednesday night at McMinnville. The game originally was scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

The latest of a series of Duck diamond injuries occurred during a pitching and fielding practice Monday afternoon on Howe Field.

Hurler Jim Hanns suffered a dislocated little finger on his glove hand when he attempted to field a batted ball. He might be ready for action for Saturday's clash with the Oregon State Beavers of Howe Field.

Two regular Duck infielders, First Sacker Phil Settecase and Second Baseman Daryle Nelson, were injured during the recent Webfoot trip into the Inland Empire.

Settecase suffered a minor back injury during pre-game practice and exercises. He was replaced by Mel Krause, who provided an outstanding fielding performance and a brilliant display of horsehide-punching.

Nelson pulled a muscle during the Idaho series at Moscow and was replaced at second base by Joe Tom, who regularly plays shortstop. Ray Coley started at shortstop and fattened his batting average during the Inland Empire trip.

"We'll have nine men on the field, anyway," Coach Don Kirsch stated Monday night.

New Champs Yet! Teeter Totters

SEATTLE — (P) — Two Seattle University students are the new self-proclaimed teeter-totter champions of the world.

Danny Ryan, 20, and Glenn Graham, 21, left a teeter-totter at the Seattle Sportsmen's show at 11:31 p.m. Saturday night after 50 hours and 31 minutes astride the slender board.

Ryan and Graham said they had beaten by 81 minutes a teeter-totter record recently set by two Washington State College students.

Husky Crew Starts Work

SEATTLE — (P) — University of Washington oarsmen, who weren't supposed to be in condition but swept the annual Pacific Coast Regatta from California and Stanford here Saturday, went back to the grind Monday to get in top form for next month's defense of their three national titles.

For those who wondered what polishing might be needed after three open-water triumphs in one day, Coach Al Ulbrickson had a ready answer.

The lububrious Dane, who had bemoaned the bad weather that kept his crews from all-out psring practice, said:

"There has to be an improvement in rowing form, the bladework has to be cleaner, the boats have to be steadied up."

Stan Pocock, Freshman Coach, had another comment on conditioning, and that was that all three California crews seemed short on it in their appearances on choppy Lake Washington.

"They didn't have the condition our boats had," he said. "Looked as if they might not have had enough high-stroke work. They rowed beautifully together. But in each race, when they tried to sprint in the last half-mile they held it for maybe 20 strokes and then came apart."

California had been favored to take the Saturday varsity race but the Bears trailed Washington by two lengths. Stanford was another two lengths behind.

Washington's Junior varsity beat California by two lengths in a two-boat race and the Husky Frosh ran away from California by 2 1/2 lengths and Stanford by eight.

The Huskies will have about three and a half weeks of home rowing before leaving for the National Regatta, scheduled at Marietta, Ohio, June 16.

Washington made a clean sweep of the Marietta Regatta a year ago, winning the freshman, junior varsity and varsity races.

Salem High has won seven state high school basketball championships, and Astoria holds six. No other school in the state has taken more than two.

Trackmen Tangle With OSC Today on Hayward Field

The Oregon Duck varsity track squad will meet the Oregon State Beavers at 3:30 this afternoon on Hayward Field.

Coach Bill Bowerman's Ducks are slightly favored to take their third straight win over the Aggies. Although Oregon State is strong in the sprint and jumping events, the Webfoots are expected to score heavily in distance competition.

Beaver Duane Eby will be favored in the shot put, although Oregon's Bob Anderson might win an upset victory in this event.

Lyle Dickey of OSC is favored to take another Aggie first in the pole vault, and teammate Danny Miller is expected to take top honors in the high jump.

Oregon's Chuck Missfeldt should place first in the javelin and might set a new Northern Division record. Jack Hutchins of Oregon is heavily favored in the mile run, but Beaver Merv Brock should take firsts in the 100 and 200.

Al Bullier, another Duck star, appears to be the logical choice for first-place honors in the 440, but teammate Jack Countryman and OSC's Jack Peterson also are capable of finishing ahead of the field.

Oregon State should place first in the high hurdles, but the Ducks are expected to seize meet championships in the 880, the broad jump, the discus, and the two-mile.

The meet had been scheduled as part of Junior Weekend festivities Saturday, but the rain ruled otherwise.

Trojans Cop West Coast Relays Again

FRESNO, Calif. — (P) — The University of Southern California Trojans are again the team champions of the 25-year-old west coast relays.

The powerful Trojans, coached by Jess Mortenson, won their 19th victory in the Athletic Carnival Saturday night.

USC won only one track event, the 880-yard relay, and tied in the high jump. But a wealth of second, third, and fourth places gave the Trojans 34 points in the Intercollegiate Division and 67 7/12 in the Open-Collegiate class.

UCLA trailed in both with 3 5/8 points in intercollegiate and 45 in open-collegiate.

The fastest 100-yard dash run in this country this season was set by UCLA sophomore Rod Richard at 9.5 seconds.

UofW Alumnus Named Harvard Sports Director

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (P) — Tom D. Bolles, Harvard Crew Coach since 1936, was appointed today as Harvard's Director of Athletics, to succeed Bill Bingham who held the post for 25 years.

President James B. Conant announced the appointment has been confirmed by the board of overseers.

Bolles, whose Harvard crews have won Henley Regattas in England in 1939 and 1950, will take over his new post July 1, when Bingham's resignation becomes effective.

Bolles is 49 and a graduate of the University of Washington. He rowed on the U. of Washington crew which captured the Poughkeepsie Regatta in 1926. He was the Washington Freshman Coach for eight years.

IM Tennis, Golf Finals Due Soon

The winner of the semi-final Beta Theta Pi-Gamma Hall tennis match will oppose Nestor Hall in the tennis finals.

In intramural golf Theta Chi will square off against Sigma Nu in the final match after this week.

The golf finals were held up when Sigma Chi protested their lost match with Theta Chi. Intramural advisory board members denied the protest at a hearing Monday afternoon.
