US Navy Needs Women for Duty

Lt. D. N. Field of the United States Waves will conduct interviews for senior women interested in the regular navy as a career from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. today in the lobby of the Student Union.

According to Lt. Field, plans are being made for women to take part in active duty with the naval reserve. She will explain the program and the basic training program to any interested women.

To be eligible to apply for training and a commission as an officer in the regular navy, a woman must be a college graduate or be in her senior year and expect to graduate.

Women who are appointed receive commissions as line ensigns and will begin their careers in the General Line School at Newport, R.I. The indoctrination course lasts five months and upon completion women become junior officers and are sent to duty.

Lt. Field may be contacted at Carson Hall, where she is staying, by anyone who cannot see her during the above hours.

Registration Urged Orientation Committee

Graduating seniors who have not already done so, are urged by the graduate placement office to register with them as soon as possible.

According to the placement director, Karl W. Onthank, students who might possibly need help in finding a job later should register. He reported that men who think they might be drafted should also register, since they will be able to receive help when they return from the service.

GE Atom Plant Hires 4 Students

Four University students have been hired by the General Electric Company to work at the atomic energy plant in Hanford, Wash. They are Edward A. Boyrie Jr., graduate student in physics; Richard Dahlberg, Gerald Owsley, and David Lannings, all seniors in chemistry.

Also obtaining jobs for next year are Sam Adler, graduate assistant in physics, who has accepted a position with the Dow Chemical Company, and Dwight Berreman, also a graduate assistant in physics, who has accepted a graduate assistantship at California Institute of Technology.

Petitions Due---

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is calling for petitions for pledgeship. Petitions have been sent around to all living organizations and others may be obtained from Jim McAlear, 1436 Alder.

Petitions are due Tuesday afternoon and may be turned in to McAlear. An open meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday night in the Student Union for those who have turned in petitions and anyone else who might be interested.

The organization, which has just finished running the "Ugly Man" contest and helping at the Junior Weekend luncheon, is now formulating plans for next year.
