Rally Board Names Four New Yell Dukes

Paul Lasker, Don Gartrell, Don Crawford, and Jack Faust will serve as the four yell dukes under Yell King Cy Newman for the 1951-52 school year.

The four were picked following tryouts Monday night in Gerlinger Annex. Sixteen men tried out for the posts.

Five song queens remain to be selected to complete the rally squad which will perform for the first time at the Arizona game Saturday.

Tryouts for the yell queens will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. today and from 7 to 9 p.m. tonight in Gerlinger Annex. Ron Symons, rally board chairman, announced that the women would be given pom-poms and asked to demonstrate their ability to lead songs, either with a spontaneous step or some step they know.

Those trying out will also be given instructions on how to give the "triple O" and will be asked to demonstrate it.

Following the evening session, the finalists will be named and they will perform again Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the annex. From this last group, the five yell queens will be selected.

Freshmen are especially urged by Symons to turn out for the tryouts, as well as sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Judges for the tryouts will be the members of the rally board, Bob Brittain, Jean Gould, Ethel Larsen, Newman, and Symons.

Carey Names Senate, Cabinet Meeting Times

Meeting times for ASUO cabinet and senate groups were named today by Bill Carey, ASUO president.

Cabinet members will gather at 3:30 p.m. today in room 337 of the Student Union. Senate meetings are slated for 7 p.m. Thursday evening in room 334. The senate will meet twice a month as specified by the constitution. Senate members may also be called into session by the president.

Cabinet meetings will not be open to the general public but students are requested by Carey to visit the Senate.

Agenda for the first senate meeting, Carey said, will include discussion of the National Students Association, the annual picnic at Jantzen Beach and class councils.

Guide Art Contest Ends Friday Noon

Friday noon has been set as the deadline for submission of drawings in the Pigger's Guide art editor contest, guide editor Pat Choat has announced.

The person who submits the best drawing for the cover will automatically be named as art editor. Drawings may, but need not, follow the general theme of the guide which is the 75th anniversary of the University.

Drawings should be left at the Alpha Xi Delta house or in Room 303 at the Student Union.

The Pigger's Guide is the campus student directory and contains the names, campus and home addresses, and campus phone numbers of all students. It also includes the phones and addresses of faculty members, phones of all living organizations, and other important data.

Wire News Column Starts Again Today

A resume of the day's news, as compiled from the wires of the United Press, will again be a daily feature of the Emerald, starting today. Today's summary of the wire news, titled "World News Capsules," appears on page 6.

Journalism School Missing 2 German Foreign Students

"Is dot you, Joseph?"

Charles Duncan, associate professor of journalism may be running around the campus today repeating these words as two German foreign students, slated to arrive Monday are nowhere in sight.

Duncan said seven arrived on schedule Monday and another was detained in Chicago. There are ten in all.

The Germans have come to the university on an agreement with the state department and are enrolled in the journalism school.

The German students have worked in newspapers and other mass media, Duncan said, and will study American journalistic methods. Together with six other foreign students primarily interested in journalism, they will attend a journalism school seminar but much of their work will be outside the school, he explained.

This arrival swelled the number of students from other nations on campus to approximately 110, according to John D. Provart, foreign student advisor. It is a slightly larger group than last year.

"They come from almost every place but behind the Iron Curtain," Provart said. Europe, Asia, South America, and Canada are represented.

All new students and transfers must have a chest X-ray as part of their entrance requirements, Dr. F. N. Miller, health service director, has announced.

Most students had this done as part of the registration procedure last week, Dr. Miller said, but those who have not done so yet, are reminded that it is required.

The X-ray machine will be open in the health service basement from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Friday and 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday. X-rays will also be taken from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday of the following week. No appointment is

Basketball Mentor To Enter Business

Oregon Head Basketball Coach John A. Warren terminated a 23-year coaching career by presenting his resignation to Duck Athletic Director Leo Harris late Monday afternoon.

Purchasing the stock interest of Joe Gordon and W. A. Hummel in Joe Gordon's hardware and sporting goods store, Warren stated that he would "devote my full time to that store."

The genial Duck basketball expert explained that "because of the uncertainty and pressure on a coach and his family, I feel it is advisable to go into something more secure."

AWS Sets Friday Eve For Derby

Doors will be open at all women's living organizations Friday evening from 7 to 11 p.m. for the annual AWS Bunion Derby.

Men's living organizations will travel in groups to all the women's houses, following a route to be announced later in the Emerald.

Each man will be charged a nickel for ten minutes of dancing at each of the women's living organizations he visits.

Awards will be made to the men's organization with the most participants and the women's organization that receives the most guests during the evening.

Andy Friedle, general chairman for the event, expressed the hope that all students would participate in the affair to make it a success.

Other chairmen for the event are Sue Lichty, routing; Mary Gillham, collection; Carol Lee Tate, publicity; Carolyn Silva, awards; and Gerry Pearson, flying speeches.

Warren's unexpected resignation marked the second time within slightly more than three months that a Webfoot coach resigned from a major position. Grid Coach Jim Aiken suddenly resigned last June, and he has been replaced by a "big-name" coach, Len Casanova.

Warren, like Aiken, resigned shortly before practice for a new season was ready to begin. Realizing this, he announced that "in case of some unforeseen difficulties I will continue coaching to November 1, 1951, rather than leave without a coach the boys I regard so highly and am so fond of."

Coach John Warren issued the following statement as he resigned Monday afternoon:

I am happy to announce that I have purchased the stock interest of Joe Gordon and W. A. Hummel in Joe Gordon Hardware, Inc. I will devote my full time to that store.

J. E. Robertson, R. M. Shisler, and A. R. Kline retain their present stock interest in the business. The four of us will strive to provide Eugene with even a better hardware and sporting goods store, selling quality merchandise at fair prices.

Recent Decision

Warren's decision was made only two weeks ago. He gave this account of the incident:

"Joe Gordon returned from the baseball season and asked me, 'John, why don't you buy out my business?' I replied, 'Joe, I might just do that.'"

Warren considered the situation, and when Gordon reduced his sale price, the well-liked Oregon coach agreed to purchase the stock.

A Portland newspaper reported Saturday that rumors concerning a possible Warren resignation had been quickly throttled by the Duck hoop boss.

Despite the loss of four starters from the strong 1951 Duck hoop varsity, Warren faced no major personnel shortage as he looked ahead to the 1952 campaign. Transfers, lettermen, ex-Ducklings, and newcomers will turn out when practice open October 22.

Graduating from the University of Oregon in 1928 and later returning to coach for 16 years at the same school, Warren was one of the most versatile coaches in this history of the Pacific Northwest.

Jack of All Trades

He coached high school football and basketball, college freshman football and basketball, college varsity basketball, college varsity football, college track, and college swimming.

Warren, who saw three years of grid action as a Duck lineman in the 1920's, moved to Astoria High for his first coaching assignment. His Astoria teams compiled phenomenal records during his seven-year stay.

The Fighting Fisherman basketball squads captured four state championships (1930, 1932, 1934, 1935) during those seven years.

1951 Civic Music Series to Include Marian Anderson, Robert Shaw

Marian Anderson, nationally famous contralto, and the Robert Shaw Chorale will be two of the artists appearing at McArthur Court in the 1951-52 season of the Civic Music Association.

The CMA, whose membership drive was over Monday and will end Saturday, announced the signing of two artists in an unprecedented move. The Association has never announced any artists on the program before the drive, not selecting the season's artists until the drive was over. This year, however, enough money was available to select these two, and they were chosen and announced.

Marian Anderson, generally recognized as the world's greatest contralto, sang at McArthur Court in 1947 and drew one of the CMA's largest crowds. The Shaw choral group is composed of 32 mixed voices and a 15-musician symphonette.

Two Artists Representative These two artists are representative of those who will be chosen for the season, T. M. Alexander, president of the association, said.

The campus membership drive for the concert series, to which students are admitted by their student body cards, is directed at faculty members, administration, and other personnel. Chairman for the University Division is Mrs. Robert D. Horn, wife of R. D. Horn, professor of English.

The University division is divided into five groups, with a captain and workers for each area assigned to contact the worker in their area, Mrs. Horn said. She urged all members of the faculty and other personnel to renew or obtain their memberships before the drive ends, as season tickets will not be available after Saturday.
