Mexican Officials Offers Fellowship

In the interest of good-will toward the United States the Mexican Government through the Mexican-United States Commission on Cultural Cooperation, is offering nineteen fellowships for study in Mexico during the academic year beginning February, 1952.

These offers are open to any graduate or undergraduate in the United States provided he is a U. S. citizen, has a knowledge of Spanish, has good academic records, is in good health, and has a knowledge of the culture of the United States.

The undergraduate fields in which awards are available are physical anthropology, archeology, ethnology; Mexican history, architecture, philosophy and letters. The fields of physical anthropology, archaeology, ethnology, Mexican History, museography, painting, biological sciences, pediatrics, tropical medicine, and cardiology are open to graduates.

These grants cover tuition, plus a monthly living allowance. Also, a few round-trip air travel grants between the Texas border and Mexico City will be available.

Applications may be secured from the U. S. Student Program of the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th St., New York. These forms, along with all supporting documents, must be filed with the Institute not later than October 15, 1951.

Wilkinson Returns to Campus After Extensive European Tour

Jack Wilkinson, assistant professor of art returned to the campus this year after a 15-month sabbatical leave in Europe. He toured England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, and Spain by auto.

Wilkinson said automobiles are more abundant in France than elsewhere in Europe, which causes traffic problems not unlike those in the United States. When asked if taxis still used hand toot horns in threading their way through the narrow streets of Paris, he explained that horns are used by day, but at night blinking lights indicate cars approaching intersections.

Food and clothing are plentiful in France, Wilkinson stated, but housing is very inadequate.

French are slow and inefficient in their building, he said.

Northern Spain, according to Wilkinson, seemed quite prosperous, and was a shopping center for the French because of the low prices on good and clothing.

Wilkinson spent a great deal of time in Paris, where he met many interesting artists, including Chagall, Leger, Herbin and Corbusier. He maintained a studio in Paris and surrounded as he was by so many talented fellow-workers in art, he painted intensively. He is now putting the finishing touches on canvasses in order to exhibit them in the Little Art Gallery of the School of Architecture and All Arts later in the year.

Language Tests Ready in October

Reading tests in foreign languages required for advanced degree will be given the week beginning Oct. 8.

Test appointments should be made with the office of the Department of Foreign Languages before noon on Oct. 5.

This will be the only opportunity for graduate students to take these tests during the fall term.

Applications Due For KWAX Staff

All students interested in obtaining staff positions on KWAX University radio station, should be present at the meeting to interview applicants at 7:00 tonight, Studio A on the third floor of the Old Hall, Dick Hardie, station manager, said Wednesday.

Since the KWAX staff will be formed very soon, only students who attend the meeting will be eligible for staff positions, unless a student is absolutely unable to be present at the meeting, Hardie said. He stated that the positions are open to all students, not just speech or radio majors.

Positions open include such work as program coordinating, continuity, music, news, office management, and publicity.

KWAX will begin broadcasts for the 1951-52 year on Oct. 8.

Planning Group OK's Parking Plan

Open lot parking as originally planned will remain unchanged, it was decided by the University planning commission Tuesday.

After 30 days, the commission will review the parking assignments in the Johnson hall parking lot. Those areas which are not needed will be returned to the pool at that time.

The physical plant reported that parking lots are always available, and most of the faculty complaints are from those who cannot park directly in front of their buildings.

It was also noted that many students who live close in on campus are driving their cars when it is not really necessary, thus causing the crowding. The physical plant reported that there was always space in the 11th street lot by the Dad's Gates, and on the curbs in the 15th street area and between McArthur court and the Student Union.

CMA Announces Check Plan

Post-dated checks will be accepted as payment of membership in the Civic Music association, Mrs. Robert D. Horn, wife of R. D. Horn, professor of English, and chairman for the University division of the present CMA membership drive, announced Wednesday.

The plan to allow the use of post-dated checks is designed as an aid for faculty members, Mrs. Horn said. Checks may be dated as late as Nov. 7, she indicated. Students are admitted to the concerts upon presentation of their student body cards.

Dr. Marion Hayes Miller of the University health service, who has worked on seven of the annual CMA membership campaigns, will sell memberships to persons connected with the infirmary, Mrs. Horn announced.

WRA to Give Skit

The Women's Recreational Association will present a short skit explaining WRA activities at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Gerlinger's Alumni Hall. The skit is entitled "WRA on Parade."

The brief dramatic sketch will include explanations of Amphibians, women's swimming honorary; the Outing Club, a hiking group; and the Hockey Club. A short introductory talk will be given by WRA president Joan Skordahl.

Any interested University of Oregon woman is invited to attend the program. Refreshments will be served following the entertainment.

Eugene Rotarians Aid Foreign Study

Eugene's Rotary club will sponsor a candidate from the University of Oregon to study in some foreign country next year under program set up by the Rotarian Foundation Fellowship. Approximately 100 American college students will take part in the program.

To qualify, applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 28, permanent residents of Eugene, and hold a bachelor's degree by next summer. Prospective candidates can obtain further information from Paul B. Means, head of the religious department, in 211 Commercial.

The scholarships, each $3,400 will provide for travel to the chosen university, registration fees, essential books, tuition costs, comfortable living, educational travel and return trip.

Selection is based on scholarship ability, character, interest in foreign relations, leadership, and service.

Discussion Hour Starts Saturday

Charles P. Schleicher, professor of political science, will speak on the subject "American Ideals: Our System of Government" at conversation hour to be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at Friendly House, 2445 Kinsaid Street.

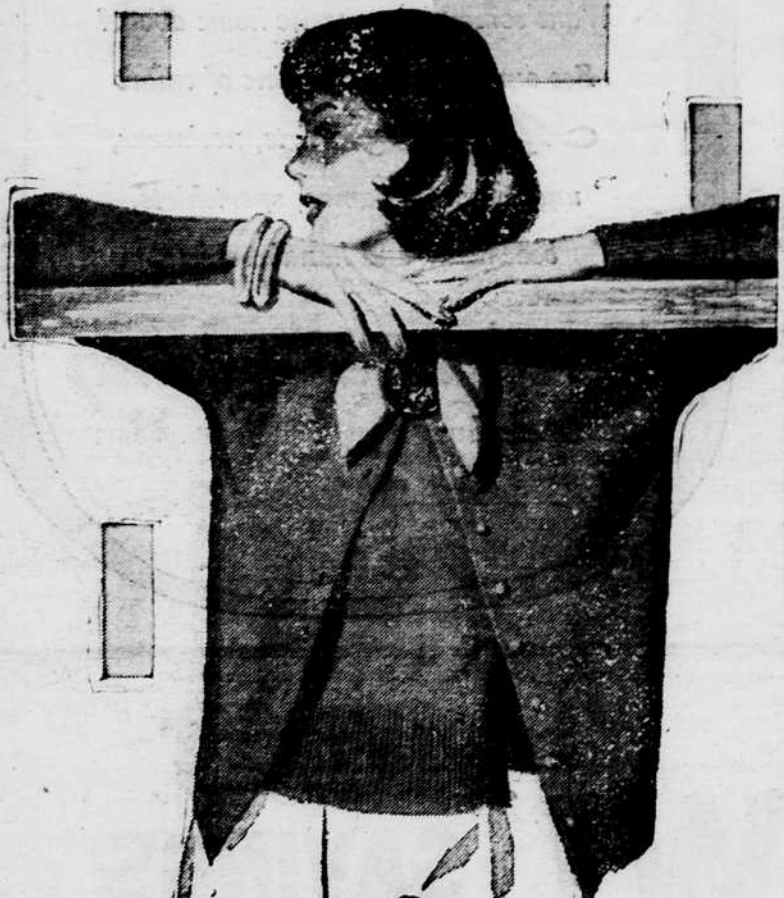

All interested students and faculty members are invited to attend the discussion which is the first of a series of Saturday evening meetings. William Tugman, editor of the Eugene Register-Guard will talk on "Free Speech in Our System of Government" on Oct. 6.

Phi Theta to Meet

Phi Theta Upsilon, junior women's honorary, will hold a meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Union. The room number will be posted on the SU bulletin board in the lobby.

Rhodes Petitions Currently Accepted

Dr. Paul Means, head of the region department and once a Rhodes scholar himself, has announced that all eligible students interested in the Rhodes scholarships "should apply as soon as possible".

Application must be made through Dr. Means by Oct. 15. The scholarships handle all normal expenses for a two to three year term at England's Oxford university. G. I. students may apply and if elected may receive their usual benefits along with the scholarship funds.

Three University of Oregon students have been awarded the scholarships since World War II. Donald Treadgold is now teaching history at the University of Washington, while Nicholas Reasonoski is teaching at the University of Iowa. Hugh King is now completing his studies at Oxford.

There are 32 such scholarships awarded throughout the nation with eight going to district eight, which embodies Oregon, Idaho, Washington, North Dakota, Montana and Wyoming.

To qualify, an applicant must be a U. S. citizen, at least 19 years old and not more than 24 years of age, and a student preferably of senior standing scheduled for a Bachelor's degree by the time appointed.

Selection is based upon scholastic ability, leadership, character, physical health and interest in outdoor sports.

Cosmopolitan Club Hold Wesley Meet

Cosmopolitan Club will meet at 4 p.m. today at Wesley House. The club's purpose is to promote international friendship through social gatherings.

All students are invited to attend, the club being open to everyone, not just foreign students, emphasized Dirk Schepers, social chairman.
