In Peter Pan, if the crocodile who bit off the captain's missing hand had not swallowed an eight-gay alarm clock which ticks a loud warning at his approach, he would probably have succeeded in making away with the rest of the captain.

Interior Designers Schedule Meeting

The Interior Designer's club will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the Student Union. Plans for an interior decoration exhibit in the Little Art gallery, field trips and visiting speakers will be discussed according to president Bill Milliken.

The club is open to all interior design students. Interior design students with upper division standing are eligible for registration with the American Institute of Decorators.

Officers of the club are Milliken, Barbara Bates, secretary and Thomas Moss, treasurer.

Marching Band Needs 20 Women

Twenty more women are needed to complete the newly-formed women's marching band, Robert Wagner, band director, said.

Next event for the women's band is the Oregon-Washington football game in Portland Saturday. The joint men and women's band is working on a circus skit for half-time ceremonies.

The women's group was formed partly on the request of women members of last year's band who were denied the chance to participate in the men's marching band, and partly because of the shortage of men caused by the draft.

For the first time "in about three years" the display cases in the circulation room of the University library are exhibiting something besides books and manuscripts, Robert Cryder, assistant administrator of the library, said Tuesday. Each case is filled with work done by the natives of the Indonesian Islands and the Malay Peninsula.

Head-hunters' swords and hats are exhibited in the case closest to the new book shelf. The Dyaks, the head-hunters of Bornea, also made the baskets on the bottom shelf. Very ornate sterling silver spoons are located on the second shelf, and these were also made by the natives.

In the second case is a light pastel two-piece dress, given to Mrs. Paul Means, wife of Dr. Paul Means, head of the department of Religion, by a Malayan woman. The dress is used for very dressy occasions in its native country. Other materials in the case, all hand-woven and designed, are tablecloths and other household linens.

Sarongs fill the third case. All sizes and many colors. Each one is batik, which is a process of hand-dyeing cloth.

A painting of a rice paddy with palms and mountains in the background tops the last case. On the second shelf is more silver work, intricately designed and fashioned. The bottom shelf holds statuary work.

The display was loaned to the Library by Mrs. Means. Much of the display was brought back from the Means' latest trip to Borneo and Java, where Dr. Means was studying the Islam religion.

U of O Employee Assaults Boy

University Grounds Keeper Mike Steddom was charged with assault and battery of a 15-year-old boy in district court Tuesday.

Steddom allegedly beat the boy about the head and shoulders with a length of chain according to the complaint signed by the boy's mother, Mrs. Pearl Stott.

Steddom's attorney, William Bartle, entered a plea of not guilty in his behalf. The trial date has not been set.

The boy was one of a group attempting to climb the fence into Hayward field Saturday to see the Oregon Jayvee-Portland air base game. Steddom discovered the boys, yelled at them to come down and a scuffle followed.

Mrs. Scott reported the boy's injuries included a gash in the head requiring two stitches to close up.

In April of 1917 875,000 tons of shipping were destroyed by submarine warfare, more than half of it British.

Phobia, meaning "fear", is derived from Phobos, the Greek goddess of panic fear.
