

Clarence Faust to Be Featured As Main Speaker at Celebration

One of the main speakers at the 75th anniversary celebration Nov. 1, 2 and 3 will be Clarence Faust of the Ford Foundation and Stanford University. Faust will speak at the official dinner, Nov. 2.

Registration for the college and university representatives from all sections of the country will be Nov. 1. A concert will be presented that evening by the symphony orchestra under the direction of Edmund Cyckler, associate professor of music.

Also scheduled to speak is James E. Connat, president of Harvard University and N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia. MacKenzie will deliver the opening address Nov. 2 and Conant will speak at the anniversary convocation that afternoon.

Acting dean of Stanford for four months in 1949, Faust has been dean of humanities and sciences since 1948. He is associated with the Ford Foundation, the country's wealthiest philanthropic society, as a member of the board.

Conant, who became president of Harvard in 1933, holds many degrees from colleges in the U. S., England and Canada.

President of the University of British Columbia since 1944, MacKenzie was president of the University of New Brunswick four years previous to that.

YMCA Sponsors Trip for Foreign Students to Plant

Twenty foreign students will tour the Springfield Plywood corporation plant Wednesday evening under the sponsorship of the YMCA.

The students will meet at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the Student Union building where they will take the bus to Springfield. Only cost of the tour will be the thirty-five cent bus fare, according to Peter Streefkerk, chairman of the YMCA international affairs committee.

This is the first of a series of such tours to be sponsored by the YMCA in order to give foreign students an opportunity to see various aspects of life in Eugene and nearby communities, Streefkerk said.

The tour is limited to twenty persons and the first twenty who register will get to go. Streefkerk announced. Students wishing to take part in the trip may register in the YMCA office, room 318, Student Union.

Chapman to Show German Movie

"Waxworks," a silent German film, will be shown Wednesday in 207 Chapman hall at 7 and 9 p.m.

Material for many future film fantasies, including "The Thief of Bagdad" was provided from this charming fantasy, according to Sandra Price, Student Union movie chairman.

The movie shows the story of a poet commissioned by a fairground showman to write stories around three of the figures in his waxworks show. The stories form the three parts of the film: Ivan, the Terrible; Haround-Al-Raschid, Caliph of Bagdad; and Jack, the Ripper.

Also on the same program is "The Little Screw," a German-titled adaptation of a Soviet animated cartoon.

Book Discussion Group to Meet

The great books discussion group will discuss "Plato's Republic", Books I and II, at 8:15 p.m. in 319 Student Union Thursday.

Discussions of the group are open to all interested persons, including townspeople, students, and faculty members. Persons attending the discussion are asked by the group to read the material prior to Thursday night.

Skull, Dagger Petitions

Sophomore men who wish to petition for membership in Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary, may do so this week, according to John Beal, president.

Petitions, which are due by noon Wednesday, may be turned into Beal at Phi Kappa Psi, or to Bob Scott, secretary, at Sigma Chi.

A small number of new members will be admitted to the honorary fall term, Beal said.

All sophomore men with a GPA of 2.00 or above are eligible to petition.

Foreign Students Have Trouble In Some Lectures

Classroom lectures and discussions are sometimes hard to understand for a number of foreign students. D. P. Bhutani, student from India in journalism, reported recently.

He said that some instructors, unmindful of the presence of the foreign students, speak too fast for them. Other students have said that during discussions, both the teachers and the American students have a tendency to use American idioms. This makes the English somewhat different from the language in the books many of the foreign students used to learn English.

Discussions become quite unintelligible to them, Bhutani said. He pointed out that this was one of the reasons foreign students find it hard to participate in classroom discussions.

Sweetland to Speak To Foreign Students

Monroe Sweetland, national Democratic committeeman from Oregon, will speak to foreign students in journalism Tuesday evening in the Straub dining room.

His talk on the Democratic party will follow that given last week on Republicanism to the same group by Walter W. R. May, editor and co-publisher of the Oregon City Enterprise-Courier.

The appearances of Sweetland and May are part of a special seminar offered by the school of journalism to its 14 foreign students.

Sophomore YWCA Selects Members

Replacement for three members of the sophomore YWCA cabinet were chosen at the weekly meeting of the cabinet Monday, according to Ancy Vincent, president.

Sue Hannah will take the place of Barbara Rubin, social chairman; Virginia Means will succeed Barbara Johnson as duckling counselor chairman; and Joan Lawson and Jane Slocum will be new members-at-large, following the resignation of Joan Gates and a decision by the cabinet to add one new member.

The next meeting of the cabinet will be at noon Monday in Gerlinger.

Production Crews Told For Next Student Play

Production crews for the forthcoming University theater's production of "Mad Woman of Chailot", scheduled to open Oct. 26, have been announced.

Lorna Anderson, senior in speech correction, is in charge of properties. James Blue, senior in liberal arts, is the chief carpenter and in charge of all properties on the floor. His assistant, John Jensen, is in charge of all properties hanging from the ceiling.

Members of the fundamentals of stagecraft class will assist in the set construction, advised by the class instructor, Howard Ramey.
