New Labor Rules For Minors Listed

New rulings affecting the employment of minors were announced Tuesday by Oregon Labor Commissioner William E. Kimsey.

According to the report, the new regulations, approved by the State Wage and Hour Commission, prohibit the employment of minors under 18 in recreation places after 10:30 p.m., prohibit the employment of minors under 16 in jobs declared hazardous by the State Industrial Accident Commission, and outlaw the employment of children under 14 in any work during the school year.

Also prohibited are the employment of minor girls as hotel maids until after the labor commissioner has made a special investigation. In addition, no minor girl may be employed for curb service work in drive-ins.

The new regulations also set a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for minors not already covered by special orders, and they provide for a 10-minute rest period for minors in the middle of each four-hour work period.

Kimsey stated that the law does not affect domestic work, chores in and about residences, and sale and delivery of newspapers.

He added that all employers of persons under 18 must have work permits.

Tuesday's order is the first change made in the regulations for the minors during the past 15 years, according to Kimsey.

Pre-Nursing Club Meets

Ron Bell recently pinned Marcella Murray, Theta at O.S.C.; Marty Hankinson is pinned to Jean Furby of Hillsboro and Ron Lowell to Berna Dean Bartz of Springfield.

The fruits of Ron Bell's successful hunting trip were enjoyed this week when he treated the house to a venison dinner.

New pledges include: Russ Sara, Bob Glasson and Norwegian foreign student Kaare Sandegven.

Alpha Delta Pi

Barbara Williams, house president, recently announced her engagement to Don Thompson, a graduate with the class of '51, and Dorothy Cleaver came down from LaGrande last week to show off her diamond from Al Fountain of Merced, California.

Donna Sandusky is wearing Howard Slikard's Phi Kap pin and Mary Ellen Burrell is pinned to Bill West, Campbell Club.

Alpha Omicron Pi

Recent initiates are Marilyn Moore, Clare Johnson and Lila Popish.

Kappa Alpha Theta

How about this for a new slant on marriage? . . . Fiji Russ Waddle is playing cook at Waddle's Drive-In while wife Marilyn (Hunt) acts as waitress. We wonder . . . does it work that way at home?

Recent-weds Margie Wells and Sigma Nu Jim Bartelt are teaching in Coquille, Oregon.

Fort Benning, Georgia is home to past-president Nancy Chamberlain while recently-acquired husband Lt. Jim Goode is stationed there.

To be engaged list we can add Ann Craig. Her fiancée, Bob McLean, is a dental student at Southern Cal.

And pinnings . . . Barbara Keelan to A.T.O. Bob Altman, Sue Fitzgerald to ATO Bob Jones, Patti Wright to Phi Psi Carson Bowler and Sally Hazeltine to Phi Psi Jim Harding.

Gamma Phi Beta

Irene McLeon, Marion Moore and Mary Lou Hansen spent the summer gaining new knowledge of their sorority philanthropic project as counselors at the Gamma Phi Beta summer camp for underprivileged children in Sechelt, British Columbia.

There's romance in the air at the Gamma Phi house, too . . . Janet Bronson announced her engagement to SAE Bob Bloom last week and Ann Hollenbeck is wearing Robin Lamson's Sigma Chi pin.

Alpha Phi

B. J. Boner has been elected to fill the vice-presidency, vacated when Shirley Vanderende transferred to the University of Washington. Punky Boner was selected as social chairman, her sister's former job.

Alpha Chi Omega

Trudie Eberhart announced her engagement last week to Pat Hanon, student at the University of California.

Marriage took its toll of the Alpha Chi officers this summer . . . Barbara Allison has been elected to fill the presidency left vacant by Hallie Williams' marriage to Bob Nottinham; Fran Lowery will take over Donna Lusby Henry's post as treasurer; Mary Gilham replaces Helen Hyche Bowman as social chairman and Audrey Truesdail fills Pat Foley Terjeson's office as first vice president. Other new officers are: Rosemary Vaught, rushing chairman; Winnafred May, corresponding secretary; and Helen Shanks, second vice president.

House Managers Meet

House managers will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Student Union.

Religious Leaders Hear Jones Speak on Religion in the University

"Today's world is a world which confronts religion with many problems—problems which challenge our faith." This was the opening thought brought to a group of campus and community religious leaders who met with William C. Jones, dean of administration, to consider "Religion in the University", in Gerlinger Monday night.

Jones presented the question of why America lives under the shadow of fear, a fear which was evident by continual armament, negotiation with allies and conscription of young men. He suggested that we, as individuals, fear even ourselves. "Perhaps we, the people, do not understand the philosophies that are on the march in the world today," he said.

Don't Practice Fundamental Ideas

He continued, stating we do not practice ideas fundamental to civilization, as we disregard equality of man and imperial economic security of minority groups. Freedom of press, mind, assembly, and religion are neglected, Jones pointed out.

Recalling the basic freedom of mind, which is essential in every group situation, Jones pointed to the modern university as the focal point of work. He described the university's task to conserve the wisdom of the past and to push the frontiers of knowledge forward. Jones emphasized that students come to the university to learn value judgments of justice, truth and to develop a philosophy of life as well as to pursue definite skills. "One does not have to be a religionist to know that one must have a philosophy of life other than materialism," he said.

Evaluation of Effect on Soul

In conclusion, Jones emphasized that all the world is evaluated in terms of what it does to the soul of man, an evaluation that weighs the building of the spiritual life of a man. Man is precious in the sight of God and capable of repentance, he stated, and conditions of life are beauty, truth and good will—conditions which man transfers into God.

Jones also said division of state and religion does not mean that a university need be antagonistic toward religion.

Bewhiskered Gents, Candidates For Contest Feature Whiskerino

By Donna Hart

Ladies, don't be frightened if some bewhiskered gent should come up to you on campus during the next week and a half. He probably isn't a fugitive from a gold mine of the 1850's, but a "wholesome" sophomore complying with the rules of the Whiskerino beard-growing contest.

And another feature of the next two weeks will be the Joe Colleges and Betty Co-eds of Oregon vying for the coveted title, the winners will not be announced until the night of the "Razor Rollick," Saturday, Oct. 27.

All this was not so in the past. Back in 1933 there was no Sophomore Whiskerino . . . it was then the Sophomore Informal. The dance was held in McArthur Court and the theme was built around that of a Spanish Court. This was "the first free admission dance of the school year."

All-American Girl Contest

The only contest at that time was the All-American Girl contest. Selection was based on portraits only, and the winner was awarded a cup with the inscription "To the loveliest girl on the Oregon campus in 1933."

Student Traffic Court Lists 1,442 Student Cars

Student traffic court records show 1,442 cars registered at the University.

Parking lots open to student cars include the Emerald, Friendly, and Fiji parking lots; the Johnson hall lot is closed to students this year. The lot between Deady and Villard is a fire regulated zone, where parking is prohibited.

A few years later, in 1941, a change had taken place. The Joe College-Betty Co-ed theme, first used in 1940, was made traditional. There was a beard-growing contest too, and the rules were enforced by Sheriff Jim Burness and his posse. Violators were dunked head-first in a barrel of water.

Loud Sweaters and Socks

Dress for the 1941 dance was "loud sweaters and socks, as well as skirts and saddles, cords and rooters' caps." Special permission was granted to have 1 a.m. closing hours for the night of the dance.
