Jayvees Down Beavers 19-13

Holland Pitches Oregon Junior Varsity to Victory Over Orange Juniors

By John Whitty

Sharp passing on the part of Barney Holland, combined with fine play on the part of the Oregon junior varsity line, resulted in a 19-13 upset victory for the Ducks over the slightly favored Oregon State JV's on the Webfoots' field, Friday. Holland's passes accounted for two touchdowns, as well as for 167 of the 224 yards gained by the Ducks during the game.

Part of the credit for the success of the Oregon passing game must go to the tight pass protection given Holland by the Webfoot line, which effectively kept the Beaver defenders away from the sophomore quarterback. On the receiving end of most of the passes were Merritt Barber and Chuck Greenley, each of whom made several excellent catches during the afternoon.

OSC Uses Air

The State JV squad also relied on the air route for a large part of their yardage, as Gordon Brown and Chuck Brackett hit 7 of 23 passes for 175 of the 242 yards chalked up by the Beavers. The visitors' first touchdown came in the second quarter on a pass from Brown, standing on his own 35, to Laird Brattain. Brattain picked the ball from the air on the Oregon 30 and romped the rest of the way to score standing up. The try for point was wide, and the score remained 6-0.

There was no further scoring until the third period, when the Ducks went wild, scoring three times while keeping their opponents well away from the goal line.

Slover Recovers Fumble

The first Oregon TD was set up when Center Jim Slover recovered Derald Jenkin's fumble of a punt on the Oregon State eleven yard line. On the next play Barney Holland spotted Chuck Greenley in the end zone and hit him with one of his bullet passes to knot the score at 6-6. Harvey's placement for the extra point was wide and the score remained tied.

Oregon's next tally also came as a result of the Beavers' mishandling of the ball. Duck linebacker Bob Wilcox hit Gordon Brown with a bone-crushing tackle, causing him to drop the ball. Alert Oregon tackle Ray McLeod fell on it on the Webfoots' 45 yard line, and the Duck offense started to roll again. Dean Van Leuven picked up nine yards, and a few plays later he rambled across from the 22, to put Oregon ahead, 12-6. The Ducks again failed to make the extra point, and their margin remained at a mere six points.

Webfoots Tally

A few minutes later, however, the Webfoots scored again. The Beavers were forced to kick, the boot going out of bounds on the Oregon 29. Two plays later Coach Bowerman's boys scored again to make the count 18-6. The first was a pass from Holland to Barber, which placed the ball on the State 40 yard line. Holland followed this up with another toss, this time to halfback Ferrell Albright, who caught the ball on the 25 and plowed the rest of the way to score. Pat Curtis' kick gave the Webfoots their 19th and final counter, and the third stanza ended a moment later.

Beavers Behind

This left the Beavers with a 13-point deficit to be made up in eight minutes, and they could garner only seven of the necessary counters. These came on a 3 yard plunge over center by Brattain, following two gallops of 10 and 13 yards by Tommy Little. Gordon Brown ran the ball across for the extra point to make the score Oregon State 13, Oregon 19. Oregon State threatened twice more, but the game ended with the ball in Oregon's possession on their own 18 yard line.

Line-ups are as follows:

UCLA Bruins Ruin Green Webfoots 41-0 In LA Coliseum Tilt

LOS ANGELES—After a scoreless first period, the University of Oregon's helpless Webfoots succumbed to the inevitable Saturday afternoon in bowing to the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, 41-0 in a Pacific Coast Conference tilt played before 14,495 spectators in the Memorial Coliseum.

The victory balanced the Southerners' PCC books with one win and a single loss, and dropped the Ducks into sole possession of the loser take-all spot. Henry (Red) Saunders' eleven now share the congested third spot behind Southern Cal and Stanford, with California and Washington.

Ducks Have Few Moments

Few bright moments for the Ducks were evident and those were quickly dissipated by the tidal wave of seven Bruin touchdowns. Tailback Paul Cameron failed to add much yardage to his passing record because he was used only sparingly.

The visitors surprised the on-lookers, but only temporarily, in playing the favored Angelinos to a virtual standoff in the first fifteen minutes of action. Oregon now has a dubious record of 14 consecutive league losses; not since the 1949 encounter with Washington State College Cougars have the Ducks emerged victoriously.

UCLA could hold back no longer after Bob Ashworth was stymied by the Bruin forward wall (a determining factor throughout the day's proceedings) after failing to negotiate a first down on a fourth and one occasion.

Cameron Passes

From the Webfoots' 46 Saunders watched a play develop that he or no other Bruin had a hand in devising; Cameron passed to Pete O'Garro, who fumbled, but Luther Keyes snatched the elusive hind before it was grounded and thereby gained 25 yards.

Cameron, four plays later, right-handed a toss to Quarterback Julie Wisstein, a blocking back in UCLA's single wing offensive formation. Wisstein captured the hide on the two and tumbled into the endzone for the initial score. The Bruins converted their first of six point after touchdowns.

Oregon was faced with a situation similar to the one that confronted them earlier. From the Bruin 46 Novikoff unsuccessfully tried to move the massive Bruin line for a one yard gain which would have resulted in an Oregon first and ten.

UCLA, with the aid of a deft right holding penalty, overcame two long setbacks in which their passes were rushed and nabbed yards behind the line of scrimmage. O'Garro's 37 yard end around culminated in the winners' second touchdown.

Daily Crashes Tackle

Pete Daily crashed through right tackle into a 41 yard long vacuum which terminated in the Oregonians' much traversed salty soil. Gayle Pace added another boot from placement. UCLA's half time margin—21 points over Oregon.

The usual 15 minute halftime intermission toned down the high pitched UCLA attack as the Ducks were able to stave off all but one Bruin score. Oregon punted out of immediate danger from the on-foot line and right back into trouble as the Uclans knocked off touchdowns door and scored two plays, commencing on the UCLA 43.

Cameron's pass, which netted eight yards from the line of scrimmage, was collected by Bill Stollwick for another score. The Bruin retained a 28-0 stranglehold on the outcome with the remaining fifteen minutes of terror yet to come.

'Big Crash' Hits College Football Ranks; California Tops List of Fallen Mighty

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The college football world was without a "king" today following Saturday's mass crash of the mighty.

Four great powers went down, including California—the nation's No. 1 team. And to complete the picture, once-great Army lost its fourth straight game and its first to Harvard in a decade.

As a result of the "The Great Crash," eight major unbeaten teams were contending for the No. 1 rank. They were Tennessee, Michigan State, Northwestern, Georgia Tech, Illinois, Maryland, Baylor and Princeton.

Tennessee, probable heir to California's rank as the nation's best, beat Alabama, 27-13, as Hank Lauricella threw two touchdown passes, and scored another. Michigan State won its fifth in a row, coming from behind to beat Penn State, 32-21 and Georgia Tech downed Auburn, 27-1.

But the big story still was the crash of the mighty.

The most stunning of all was California's 21-14 defeat at the hands of the University of Southern California before 18,000 fans in Berkeley's Memorial Coliseum. California, ranked first in the United Press's board of coaches' ratings, suffered its first defeat in 38 regular season games as the underdogs overcame a 14-0 half-time deficit to win one of the roughest games ever played in Memorial Coliseum.

The victory not only sent California spinning out of the ranks of the elite, but made Southern Cal the number one choice to represent the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl on New Year's day.
