U.N. Planes Hit Enemy Railroads; Panmunjom Truce Talks Continue

Compiled by Tom Jaques

From the wires of United Press and Associated Press

Allied planes have made of the most concentrated attacks of the war on Communist rail lines and trains in North Korea. Fighter bombers caught the Red trains out in the open and destroyed 9 locomotives and 99 rail cars before the Reds could run for cover. Nineteen locomotives and 129 cars were listed as damaged.

Comparative quiet has fallen all along most of the fighting front with the resumption of truce negotiations in Pan munjom. But there was a brief but sharp encounter southeast of Kum-song on the central front, where U.N. infantry drove Red forces from a hill position.

At the truce table in Panmunjom . . .

... United Nations truce negotiators offered Thursday to give up 200 square miles of hard-won territory in eastern Korea if the Reds yield an equal amount of terrain in the west.

U.N. offered the offer in proposing a 2½-mile-wide armistice buffer zone across Korea at a subcommittee meeting following the re-opening of cease-fire talks with the Communists in Panmunjom.

The Communists were expected to give their answer at another meeting today.

President Truman said Thursday . . .

... that the nomination of an ambassador to the Vatican in no way conflicts with the basic American doctrine of separation of church and state.

Mr. Truman told a news conference he was aware of all kinds of criticism of his nomination of Gen. Mark W. Clark to be this country's first ambassador to the Holy City.

But he said it was necessary to go ahead and thrash out differences over the appointment which, he said, was made in an effort to further the cause of world peace.

The Egyptians claim that the British have killed . . .

... one and wounded another of their men in a new outbreak of violence in the Suez canal zone.

Egyptian interior minister Faud Serag El-Din Pasha said the incident occurred Wednesday about 10 miles from Port Said. He said British troops in a car opened fire on an Egyptian truck.

'Progress' in American-Iranian talks . . .

... would be reported to Britain to determine whether the stalled oil negotiations might be resumed at an early date, one diplomatic source said Thursday.

Official U.S. sources said this government was optimistic that British and Iranians could be brought together again following Britain's elections. They hoped a decision could be reached before Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh leaves Washington in the next few days.

... Thursday to attend a United Nations showdown meeting with the Russians on Korea, atomic energy, and other critical problems threatening world peace.

He was in high spirits as he chatted with reporters before boarding his train for New York. The smile vanished during last-minute train-side discussions with undersecretary of state James E. Webb and assistant secretaries.

Acheson, who will be gone for six weeks, would not discuss any world problems on his departure.

AFL stevedors hooted down a union proposal . . .

... Thursday to end an 11-day wildcat waterfront strike that has almost closed the nation's largest port and piled up $250,000,000 worth of cargo at New York.

The striking 20,000 members of the International Longshoremen's Association jeered at union president Joseph P. Ryan's suggestion that they return to work while a federal board studied their grievances.

Customs officials reported 144 ships were idle at 138 piers in New York, Brooklyn, Staten Island, New Jersey and Albany, N.Y.

Communists barred West Berlin police . . .

... Thursday from traveling across 300 yards of the Soviet zone to reach the American sector outpost of Steinstuecken.

The Red action cast doubt upon the validity of the Soviet promise to return the disputed "island" sector to U.S. jurisdiction. The Communist police said they were under orders to prevent "illegal" trips through the Soviet zone.

Steinstuecken is cut off from the American sector by a narrow strip of the Soviet zone but the Red Wednesday permitted three West Berlin police to go into the area.

The cost of living has gone up again . . .

... to hit a new all-time high—and that will mean a small pay increase for more than 100,000 workers. Their contracts are tied to the government cost-of-living index.

Clothing was the big item in pushing the index to a new record high, although food prices also edged up a bit.

The latest reading is for the month ending Sept. 15. The index showed a gain of nearly 7 per cent compared to September one year ago.

Religious Notes

Halloween parties, doughnut fries and buffet dinners are planned by campus religious groups during the last week in October.

Westminster House
"Afflicted Party" is the theme for the Westminster House get-together at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Centered around a doughnut fry, Presbyterian students and friends, who attend are to be wrapped in bandages, splints, and adhesive tape to effectively carry out the evening's theme. General chairman for the party is Mary Cochrane.

Worship at the 6:15 p.m. Sunday evening vesper service in the House will be led by Phil Jacobson, Alan Mundle, Bill Perl, and Al Deal. Following the worship, a student panel will discuss "What Is the Purpose of Our Lives." Included in the panel are Hal McIntyre, Mary Cochrane, and Larry Gregory. A social hour with refreshments will follow the panel discussion.

A potluck dinner is planned for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the House under the direction of the group stewardship committee.

"The Meaning of Stewardship" will be the topic for the 12:30 p.m. Wednesday worship service in the upstairs chapel of the House. Jacqueline Madigan will lead the service.

Friendly House
"Politics in Our System of Government" is the topic to be discussed by E. S. Wengert, political science department head, at 8 p.m. Friday at Friendly House, 2445 Kincaid. The talk which is the fifth in a series on "Our System of Government" is open to all interested students.

Canterbury Club
"Religion and Life in an English University" is the topic for a speech by Rev. Dr. E. R. Williams, former chaplain of Christ Church at Oxford University, at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at St. Mary's parish hall, 13th and Pearl. The talk will be preceded by a thirty-five cent supper which will begin at 5:30 p.m.

Rev. Williams will illustrate his lectures with slides on Oxford and Cambridge. Following the talk, he will invite discussion and comment.

Baptist College Group
A Halloween party is planned by the College and Business Age class of the First Baptist church, Broadway and High streets. The group will leave from the High street side of the Educational building, which is behind the church auditorium, at 7:15 p.m. Friday for the scene of the get-together. Sweater and jeans are recommended wearing apparel. All interested University students are invited to attend the affair.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil
Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR PAUL was eggasperated because every chick on campus gave him the bird. They told him: "We're all cooped up!" Then one day his roommate said: "The hens avoid you beak-cause your hair's messy, you dumb cluck! I don't know feather you've heard of Wildroot Cream-Oil or not, but you better fry it—er, try it! Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test." Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil—and now the gals think he's a good egg! Better lay down a few poultry cents on the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hair at your favorite barber shop. Then the girls'll take off their hatch to you!
