Body Identified As Portland Man, Francis Gutchow

University authorities spent a troubled half-day Saturday attempting to identify a body suspected to be that of an Oregon student.

The youth, who died in Eugene Saturday morning after being found on Highway 58 five miles west of Oakridge at 4:30 a.m., was identified late Saturday night as Francis Gutchow, 2322 N. Ross st., Portland. His sister, Monica Gutchow, is a senior in health and physical education here.

Gutchow was an employee of the Hines Lumber Co. in Westfir. He was identified by friends and acquaintances from the area.

Wore Oregon-type Jacket

Springfield police notified Ray Hawk, director of men's affairs, of discovery of the body. They reported it was neatly clothed and wearing a green and yellow jacket of the type worn by Oregon students. A physical description was furnished.

No identification was found, police stated, and labels had been removed from clothing. The only clue was a pocket watch containing the name plate of a Portland jeweler.

An immediate check with all fraternities was made by Hawk. "The lack of personal identification and the type of clothing described to me suggested the possibility of a senior ride," Hawk said. The fraternities reported none of their members were missing.

Men View Body

Fraternity men, dormitory counselors, and administrators viewed the body Saturday afternoon in Springfield but were unable to identify it as a University student. Identification followed later in the day.

Lane County Coroner Fred Buell said that an investigation to determine whether the youth was the victim of a hit-run driver or of foul play, is being carried on. The coroner estimated his age at between 19 and 24.

Autopsy revealed that Gutchow died of a brain injury, not a skull fracture as was first believed. He was discovered by two drivers of a Los Angeles-Seattle motor express as he lay in the middle of the road. He died in Sacred Heart Hospital about 6:30 a.m.

Oregana Sales Will Continue Until November

The Oregana late sales campaign will continue through Monday, Nov. 6, it has been announced by Chuck Issak, Oregana business manager.

"This will be the last chance to get 1952 books," Issak said, "unless students wait until the spring distribution and take a chance on obtaining an annual."

Yearbooks will be sold in living organizations by house representatives under the supervision of District Representatives Mary Ann Moore, Ray Wrigglesworth and Bobette Gilmore.

Free Oreganas will be given to the top salesmen and to any living group which has 95 per cent participation in yearbook purchases.

2 a.m. Closing Time Given Nov. 23, 24

Special 2 a.m. closing hours have been granted women for the nights of Nov. 22 and 23, Thursday and Friday of Thanksgiving. It has been announced by the office of student affairs.

Decision to grant the special closing hours for those nights was made Friday by a student affairs subcommittee, composed of Donald DuShane, director of student affairs; Golda Wickham, director of women's affairs; and Ray Hawk, director of men's affairs.

Alumnus Donates Scholarship Cup

An award for the fraternity maintaining the highest scholarship standing for the year has been donated to the University by John MacGregor, alumnus of 1923 and former Oregon student body president.

The MacGregor award will be given first to Phi Delta Theta for grade standing last year. The award will rotate until it is retired by the house which wins it three times.

A similar scholarship cup, the Dahlberg award, was retired last year by Tau Kappa Epsilon.

MacGregor was one of the students who began the drive for a student union building at Oregon. He has been national president of Alpha Tau Omega and is now an attorney in New York city.

'Amazing Objects in Returned Books' Says University Library Assistant

By Donna Lindbeck

"It's amazing the things we find in returned books," says Dorothy Randall, library assistant at the circulation desk of the University library.

"Recently a woman, who was a town patron, called early in the morning to report the loss of a five dollar bill. The money and some books she was returning to the library were lying on her desk. After she returned the books, she noticed that the money was gone. We looked through the books and found the bill," Miss Randall recounted.

On another occasion, Miss Randall found several note cards in a book being returned by a graduate student. Later when she saw the boy she asked him if he had missed the cards. Indeed he had, he was looking everywhere for them, since they were necessary for his work.

Letter Found

One student reported that he had lost a letter containing a check made out to his insurance company. After a short search through the books he had returned earlier, the letter was found.

Citing the above instances, Miss Randall cautioned students to leaf through a book before returning it. Student body cards, checks, small bills, letters, and valuable papers are frequently left in books. An effort is made to look through each book before it is returned to the shelves, but due to the large amount of books handled at the circulation desk, this is not always

Tribe, Hankinson Winners At Sophomore Whiskerino

Al Donahue and his orchestra played to an estimated 650 couples Saturday night at the annual Sophomore Whiskerino held in the Student Union ballroom.

Cathy Tribe, Alpha Phi, and Marty Hankinson, Alpha Tau Omega, were announced as Oregon's 1951 Betty Coed and Joe College winners following voting at the dance.

Roger Klahn, Sigma Phi Epsilon, was declared winner of the beard-growing contest on the basis of audience applause.

Pep Band OK'ed By Committee

Decision to form an all-student pep band to perform at rallies was made by a special music planning committee meeting Thursday.

Members of the University band will form the nucleus of the pep band, the committee decided, but all interested students who can play an instrument are urged to leave their name, phone number and type of instrument they play in room 309 of the Student Union, the rally board office. If no one there, they are to slip the information under the door on a piece of paper.

The committee was composed of Bill Carey, ASUO president; Ray Hawk, director of men's affairs; Howard Lemons, athletic business manager; Theodore Kratt, head of the music department; Robert Vagner, associate professor of music; Col. E. L. Bruns, head of the military and air science department; and Ron Symons, rally board chairman.

Their discussion centered around the problem of a band for rallies. It was agreed that it was too hard for the regular band to play for such affairs and so the pep band was decided upon.

According to Symons, the band will be on a strictly volunteer basis. A list of available players will be made and they will be called on before each rally. The emphasis will be on spirit, instead of perfection in performance, Symons said.

Persons interested in the pep rally band are requested by the rally board to leave their name, address and type of instrument played at room 309 Student Union or notify Bob Glasson, band chairman, at 5-9120 or 5-9521.

Theme for the dance was "Razor Rollick." The ballroom was decorated with barber poles, pictures of animated razors, shaving mugs and shaving brushes.

During intermission Skull and Dagger, sophomore men's honorary, tapped Karl Harshbarger, speech major, for membership.

Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary, presented a plaque to Ron Lowell, sophomore in liberal arts, for outstanding grades achieved during his freshman year.

Intermission entertainment was provided by musical numbers presented by a group consisting of Larry Smith, Bud Oringdorp, Hack Sharer and Nancy Byran. "Cartoon Sketches," an illustrated monologue, was delivered by Karl Harshbarger.

Miss Tribe received an individual trophy and a trophy for her living organization in addition to a cashmere sweater from Kaufman's. Hankinson was given the two trophies and a sport shirt from Fennell's.

Klahn was presented with a trophy and a free shave by Charlie Elliot of Elliot's campus barber shop.

Finalists in the Betty Coed-Joe College contest in addition to Miss Tribe and Hankinson were Shirley Olson, John Ackers, Sue Madsen, Libby Briscoe, Mary Louise Johnson, Don Almy, Clyde Diller, Karl Harshbarger and Don Parr.

Beard-growing finalists were Bob Scott, George Estey, Jack Sharer, Dick Lozo and Jerry Freidman. Applause for the contest was judged by Bob Brittain, president of the sophomore class and master of ceremonies for the evening, Joanne Abel, Bob White and Sunny Allen.

Delegates Represent Nation's Universities At 75th Anniversary

Colleges and universities throughout the nation are sending representatives to the University of Oregon campus this weekend to participate in a celebration of the university's 75th anniversary year.

Three prominent speakers will be brought to the campus for the two-day event Thursday and Friday. They are President James B. Conant of Harvard university; President N. A. M. MacKenzie of the University of British Columbia; and Clarence Faust of the Ford Foundation and Stanford university.

More than 150 delegates have been designated by institutions of higher learning to attend the diamond anniversary celebration, and are expected to arrive in Eugene Thursday afternoon.

Response to Celebration 'Good'

Response to anniversary celebration has been very good, L. M. Nelson, director of public services, said. "Seventy-five delegates was the most we dared hope could attend, so we are very pleased that 150 have indicated they can be present," Nelson stated. He said cooperation of student organizations in planning and staging the celebration has been gratifying.

Delegates will register from 3 to 5 p.m. Thursday in the Dad's room of Erb Memorial Union. Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, will assist the delegates in registration.

A concert by the University Symphony orchestra Thursday at 8 p.m. in McArthur Court will begin the series of special events. Edmund Cykler will direct the orchestra in Brahms' Symphony No. 2, and Exine Anderson, soprano, and George Hopkins, pianist, will be featured soloists. Miss Anderson is the holder of a Metropolitan Opera Award.

MacKenzie Speaks Friday

"The Contribution of Social Sciences to our Contemporary Society" will be the topic of an address by MacKenzie at 10 a.m. Friday at an assembly for students, faculty members and guests. H. K. Newburn, University president, will introduce MacKenzie.

Delegates will be guests of University departments at a luncheon Friday noon in the Student Union and, with faculty members, will assemble for the convocation procession at 1:15 p.m. in Villard hall.

The academic procession will march from Villard to University st. and then south on University st. to McArthur Court, where it will enter court to music played by the University concert band, directed by Ira D. Lee.

Invocation

The Rev. George Herbert Swift, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Salem, will give the invocation, after which greetings and messages of congratulation will be delivered.

Paul L. Patterson, president of the Oregon state senate, will extend congratulations to the University on behalf of the state of Oregon; R. Kleinsorge, vice-president of the state board of higher education, will give greetings from the board; colleges of Oregon will be represented by President Mor-

Tickets Offered For Best Entries In Slogan Race

The Homecoming slogan contest will begin Tuesday, according to Joan Cartozian and Norma Hultgren, slogan committee co-chairmen.

Boxes for entries will be placed in the Co-op at the right of the main entrance and in the lobby of the Student Union. They also may be turned in at Room 303 of the Student Union.

Each entry should include, in addition to the slogan, the name, address and phone number of the contestant. Winner of the contest will receive two free Homecoming dance tickets. The contest is limited to students of the University, but there is no limit on the number of slogans each student may submit.

Slogans will be accepted through Tuesday, Nov. 6. Interested students may use ideas based upon the University's 75th anniversary, but this is not a requirement.
