

Robinson Slated to Give Reading of Play in SU

Horace W. Robinson, associate professor of speech and director of the University theater, will present a reading of F. Hugh Herbert's play "The Moon Is Blue" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the browsing room of the Student Union.

Discussion leader will be William Tugman, editor of the Eugene Register-Guard and active in the Eugene Very Little Theater group.

Richard Watts, Jr. of the New York Post commented on March 9, 1951: "At last Mr. Herbert has written a sex comedy that has an atmosphere of modest sophistication toward its subject yet manages to keep a spirit of attractive innocence. It is funny, good natured and likeable. . . . It is a comedy of spirit without malice, even when it aims at two such familiar targets as television and the state department".

"The Moon Is Blue" is currently playing at the Harris theatre in Chicago, the Walnut Street theatre in Philadelphia and the Henry Miller theatre in New York City. The play was first staged earlier this year at the Henry Miller Theatre in New York by Otto Preminger. Starring players were Barbara Bel Geddes, Donald Cook and Barry Nelson.

Robinson first came to the University in 1933, graduating from Oklahoma City university and receiving his M.A. from the University of Iowa. He was manager-director of the Eugene pioneer pageant in 1947 and has been active in the American national theater and academy. He is now a member of the steering committee for the National theater assembly.

Committee Announces Record Concert Choice

Tuesday evening "Die Fledermaus" will feature the weekly recorded concert at 8 in the Student Union music listening room.

Marian Cass will be in charge of the concert, one of a series presented weekly by the SU music committee.

The recording is by the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra and chorus, directed by Clemens Krauss.

USA Group Plans Party Objectives

A group of United Students Association members met Sunday to discuss USA plans for this year. The group formulated a statement of objectives and principles for USA, one of two campus political parties.

The two principles emphasized in the declaration were "belief in a political party composed of individual students believing in freedom of political action and in a political party not based on social standing, economic status, living organization, restricted membership, and group conformity."

A temporary committee was set up by the group to propose organizational machinery for USA operation this year.

It was decided to submit these tentative plans evolved by the committee to an open meeting of all interested students for discussion and ratification or approval.

Movie of UO-WSC Game Set in SU

Movie of the University of Oregon-Washington State college game will be shown at 6:30 p.m. tonight in the Student Union ballroom.

Gene Harlow, assistant football coach, will narrate the film and give a scouting report for the University of California game.

Next week there will be a double billing for the final football movies of the season. The Boston University-Oregon and the University of California-Oregon games will be shown.

The football movies this fall have been presented through the cooperation of the University athletic department and the SU movie committee.

Inquiring Reporter Assembly Plan Failure Seen By Students

By Sue Lichty

Last week the Senate passed a resolution that faculty promote student attendance at intellectual assemblies. Students do not seem to think that this resolution will help the situation much.

They gave various reasons for their pessimism concerning its effectiveness. Many felt that it was not up to the teachers to promote them, and that they would not be successful if they tried. Some said that teachers have already promoted them and it has not worked.

Jackie Pritzen—senior in English—"I think the senate has no right to do that. It's the students' responsibility. The faculty should not be taxed with that responsibility."

Bob Shryock—senior in architecture—"A professor who sees a student one or a few hours a week can't possibly make him go to assemblies."

Ann Richards—sophomore in English—"The trouble with that is it ends up being enforcement!"

Don Ford—senior in law—"I don't think the faculty will have any influence unless it deals with a specific course the professor teaches."

Sandra Price—sophomore in speech—"I don't see how it can work. They probably have already promoted them, and it hasn't worked."

Jim Cecil—senior in business administration—"It isn't up to the faculty to promote them. It's up to the students to get themselves to go."

Barbara Williams—senior in speech—"It all depends on how they promote them. It is not a good idea to force us to go. If they can make it seem interesting, and know enough about them to do a good job of promoting them, it's a good idea."

All students interested are invited to attend the coffee hour, Marian Briner, Myra Wood and Francis Gillmore, general chairmen for the event, announced. Dress will be campus clothes.

Arrangements are being handled by freshmen commissions with refreshments under the direction of the arts and crafts commission and posters and decorations by the service commissions.

The drama and music commissions will present entertainment which will include musical numbers and a special narration.

Weed Continues To Cover Campus

A Weed has covered the campus since summer, but the University appears to favor it.

The Weed is Wilbur Weed, foreman of grounds maintenance, since being hired last summer. He is in charge of the crew which takes care of all campus planting, mowing, fertilizing, trimming and groundskeeping.
