Reds Using Entire Jet Air Strength Over Northwest Korea

Compiled by Donna Lindbeck

(From the Wires of Associated Press and United Press)

The Red are using their entire jet air strength of Mig 15 fighters in Manchuria in the air war over northwest Korea, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, United States Air Forces chief of staff, stated Tuesday.

He added that there was no cause for alarm since the Fifth Air Force using F-86 Sabrejets is more than holding its own with a ratio of 14 Reds downed for every U.S. plane. He said that the occasional heavy American bomber losses have been "greatly exaggerated" and are really "extremely small."

In order to send up 100 to 150 Migs daily in good weather, the Communists are using their full "jet potential" in Manchuria, Vandenberg said. The total number of Communist jets is believed to be 600.

The General commented during a lull caused by rain and fog which has grounded both U.N. and Communist planes. The occasion was also his return from a week's visit to Japan and Korea.

The U.N. said "no" to cease-fire . . .

...until disposition of war prisoners and enforcement of the truce has been assured. This reply was made to a Communist demand for immediate cease-fire which was virtually a renunciation of their previously-stated position that hostilities should continue during the armistice talks.

The latest Red proposal called for a cease-fire line drawn along the present battleline. A buffer zone would be formed when each side withdrew one and a fourth mile on either side. Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the U.N. spokesman, said the previous impression given by the Communists had been that the cease-fire line shift with the battleline during the talks.

Russia lost out four times . . .

...at the United Nations assembly in Paris Tuesday. The most outstanding vote was a defeat to the Communist attempt to win a seat in the U.N. for Red China.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson opposed the Russian move to oust the Chinese Nationalist and install the Reds when he charged that the international conduct of Red China was so low it would take vast improvement to raise it to "the general level of barbarism."

Other Russian defeats in key cold war areas included a 30 to 8 vote to debate Nationalist China's charge that the Kremlin threatens China's independence, a 47 to 6 decision not to discuss the establishment of a U.N. commission to determine the possibility of all-German elections to unify the split nation; and a 44 to 5 vote to hear Yugoslavia's charges of aggression against Marshal Tito by Russia and its satellites.

The U.S. admitted failure . . .

...in settling the oil dispute between Britain and Iran after three weeks of talks with Iranian Premier Mossadeh in Washington. During the discussions Mossadeh is reported to have requested President Truman personally for more financial aid because Iran's oil production has been cut to almost nothing resulting in a drastic slash in the country's income.

The aid was asked in addition to that given by the International Monetary fund which has extended an emergency eight-and-three-quarter-million dollar credit to Iran. This appears to fall far short of Iran's need for the crisis.

A United States hospital evacuation plane . . .

...carrying 34 American soldiers and airmen from Germany to Bordeaux, France, was missing Tuesday night.

Radar-equipped rescue planes were sent to search for the missing aircraft, 12th air force headquarters announced.

Tornadoes hit the midwest Tuesday . . .

...killing one man, injuring at least seven persons and piling up heavy damage. The one death was caused when a twister hit a state park at Gilbertsville, Kentucky. Tornadoes also hit parts of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

At Gary, Indiana, a small tornado plowed through an alley in a residential section. Damage was estimated at $500,000.

Garages were smashed and a fire department official said 250 homes were damaged.

Sen. Robert Taft predicted . . .

...Tuesday that he would receive the Republican presidential nomination next year "on the first few ballots" regardless of whether Gen. Dwight Eisenhower were a candidate. His statement was made on the assumption Eisenhower will run.

Taft also said that he would go on to "defeat President Truman or any other Democratic candidate."

Eisenhower-for-president movement . . .

...leaders agreed yesterday on plans for a campaign organization to be announced within a few days.

The agreement was announced by Senator James H. Duff (R-Penn.) one of the leaders of the Republican faction seeking the Republican presidential nomination for Gen. Eisenhower.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur stated . . .

...Tuesday that his current western trip had no political significance whatever.

MacArthur is enroute to Seattle to participate in the city's 100th birthday celebration.

Homecoming Bonfire Discussed At Dorm Meeting Last Monday

A committee of four attended a meeting of freshman men in the Vet's dorm cafeteria Monday evening to talk about the Homecoming bonfire, which will be held at 8:45 p.m. Friday, Nov. 23. The committee consisted of Jack Beyers, chairman of the bonfire; Roger Webster, guards; Dick Johnson, policing and clean-up; and Donna Hart, publicity.

Hal Swarthout, president of the freshman hall and chairman of the freshman executive council, introduced the committee and distributed sign-up papers to those who planned to help on the bonfire.

Beyers explained to the freshmen that it is their class which builds, guards and cleans up after the bonfire. This is done according to tradition and has been carried out successfully in past years. This year, however, Beyers pointed out, there is the problem of Thanksgiving vacation. The vacation begins Nov. 22 and the bonfire is to be built Friday, Nov. 23.

In outlining the plans for the bonfire, it was pointed out that this year it will be held on top of Skinner's butte and will be from 20 to 25 feet high. The freshmen are to procure the materials and take them up to the butte the day of the fire.

The building of the bonfire, which will be in the shape of a barn, will be supervised by those who have previously participated in Homecoming bonfire-building.

Beyers anticipated trouble from OSC, stating that fraternities and other men's living organizations at the rival school are rumored to have a movement underway to return to the campus on Friday with the express purpose of burning the Oregon bonfire.

Swarthout added to this by explaining to the assembled group some of the ways in which OSC might attempt to set the fire off early. With Skinner's butte the site for this year it will be more difficult to set off, but it is still possible, he indicated.

Johnson talked about last year's bonfire, which was to have been held on lower Howe field. This bonfire was burned in advance, however, and had to be rebuilt on the Fiji parking lot on Kincaid st.

Johnson further emphasized the fun which can be had by the men taking charge of the bonfire, and how closely it tended to unite the class as a whole.

Beyers asked the cooperation of all freshman men and urged their return to the campus to assist.

"Jane Eyre" is a short version of the 20th Century Fox adaptation of Charlotte Bronte's story about the long-suffering governess who finally marries Edward Rochester, a melancholic squire with the mad wife, Joan Fontaine and Orson Wells are stars of the film.

"British Isles" is concerned with life in England and other sections of the British Isles.

Graduate Record Tests Available

Application forms for the February section of the graduate record examinations are now available at the counseling center, J. Spencer Carlson, director of counseling and admissions, has announced.

Graduate students should find out from their respective departments which of the three tests they should take, according to Carlson. Veterans who want to take the exam under the "GI bill or rights" can pick up the same applications used by other students.

These tests are given four times each year to admit students to graduate standing. February section tests will be given Feb. 1 and 2.
