Fashion Magazine Chooses UO Coeds

Jo Anne Hewitt, senior in English, and Mary Alice Baker, junior in business administration, have been chosen members of Mademoiselle magazine's national college board.

The two Oregon students were among 700 others from colleges and universities all over the country who competed for places on the board.

Miss Hewitt and Miss Baker wrote 1500-word criticisms of the August issue of Mademoiselle in the contest. Each contestant submitted a list of their college activities with the criticism.

The two selectees will complete three assignments in their chosen fields. Miss Hewitt's chief field is feature writing, with secondary work in fashion; Miss Baker will work primarily in fashion, and will work secondarily in advertising.

Work in the three assignments is in competition for guest editorships to be awarded to 20 women. The editorships will be awarded next June. The guest editors will go to New York for four weeks in June to help write, edit, or illustrate Mademoiselle's 1952 August college issue. Transportation will be paid to and from New York, and a regular salary will be paid for the work.

Guest editors will also interview outstanding men and women in their chosen fields to help clarify their career aims, visit fashion showrooms, publishing houses and advertising agencies.

Former Governor Gives Talk To J School Students, Faculty

"A newspaper is a distributor of timely information in a package", Charles A. Sprague, former governor of the state of Oregon and publisher of the Oregon Statesman, told journalism students Tuesday in a talk entitled "Newspapers Today".

Sprague, who was introduced by Gordon A. Sabine, dean of the journalism school, was making his first appearance as a visiting lecturer on the University of Oregon journalism faculty.

Timeliness and information are the two greatest factors in today's newspapers, Sprague told his audience. Papers serve humanity and must supply what humanity wants.

Sprague believes that newspapers of today are less partisan than they were 25 years ago. It is his belief that this has been brought about by the factual presentation of news which has caused in part the decrease in the number of papers and the concentration of newspaper ownership. Also responsible for the declining number of papers is the rising cost of production and the growth of the business side of the paper, Sprague stated.

'King of Kings' Set For SU Showing

"King of Kings" and "The Littlest Angel" will be shown at 2 p.m. and 4:15 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union ballroom.

"King of Kings" portrays the story of Christ from the conversion of Magdalene to the Resurrection.

The movie stars Joseph Schildkraut and H. B. Warner and is produced by Cecil B. DeMille.

"The Littlest Angel" is a short, animated cartoon about a Christmas story.

Admission is 30 cents.

Veep Had Duty Of Accepting Gifts

Oregon's only veep (vice president, to you) came to the University in this capacity in 1928 from a lucrative law practice in New York city. He is Burt Brown Barker, an Oregon pioneer, who accepted the vice presidency with the purpose of promoting gifts to the University.

For over 20 years monetary contributions have been pouring into Oregon with more aid promised, all through the efforts of Dr. Barker. Many wealthy persons have noticed Oregon through philanthropic eyes because of Dr. Barker's interest.

The history of the Pacific Northwest, with particular emphasis on Dr. John McLoughlin, is the hobby of Oregon's ex-vice president. At present Dr. Barker is compiling the complete story of the "great White-haired Eagle," with the cooperation of the British museum which has opened to him material heretofore not touched.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

SHEEDY looked bird-seedy with his ruffled hair. He didn't know feather to bury his head, or go on a wing-ding! "Owl I ever get a date for the prom?" he asked his tree roommates. "You're robin yourself of popularity, birdbrain," they chirped. "Better be cagey and get Wildroot Cream-Oil! It's non-alcoholic! Contains soothing Lanolin! Grooms your hair neatly and naturally. Relieves dryness... removes loose, ugly dandruff!" Now Paul's flying high! The tweetest little chickadee on campus has him out on a limb. So get a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil at any drug or toilet goods counter tomorrow. And nest time you see your barber, ask him for a professional application. Then you'll really be in there pigeon!

Breen to Lecture On Calvin's Book

"Institutes of Christian Religion" by John Calvin will be the topic of the lecture to be given today at 7:30 p.m. in the browsing room of the Student Union. Quirinus Breen, professor of history, will be the speaker. R. D. Clark, professor of history and assistant dean of the college of liberal arts, will act as discussion leader.

John Calvin was a French Protestant reformer whose theological doctrines had tremendous influence, particularly through their incorporation in the Puritan religion in England and later in America.

Calvin had an early background in the humanities as a student of Greek and Latin and familiar with the writings of Plato, Seneca and St. Augustine. "Institutes of Christian Religion" was first published in Latin in 1536 and in French in 1541. It was the first theological treatise to be published in the French language.

Breen is a member of the American Society of Church History and is president of the Pacific Coast division. He is also a member of the Northwest Conference of Arts and Sciences and the American Historical society. Breen came to the University of Oregon in 1938. Previous to that time he taught at Hillsdale college and Lewis and Clark college.
