No Korean Cease-fire Order Given According to Ridgway Spokesman

Compiled by Mary Ann Mowery
(From the Wires of Associated Press and United Press)

Gen. Matthew Ridgway's public information officer has announced that Ridgway has not issued an order to halt the ground fighting in Korea. The defense department meanwhile stated there is nothing in the tentative demarcation line agreement which calls for a cease-fire.

Gen. Ridgway's spokesman said, "I can say that no order has been given to halt ground fighting in Korea and no such order has been given by the Eight army or anybody else."

Meanwhile, two Communist attacks on the eastern front have broken the strange quiet that had settled across the 145-mile Korean battleline. The attacks occurred Wednesday night, Korean time, and were hurled back by Allied troops by midnight.

Field dispatches said Allied troops had been ordered to fire only if attacked. This was contrary to the statement by Ridgway's spokesman.

During the frontline quiet . . .

... there was continued action in the air. However, it is believed most of this action may have come before the ground fighting virtually ended.

A belated report from the U. S. Navy tells of new Communist aggressiveness in the air over Korean waters.

For the first time, Red jet fighters attacked carrier-based American planes last Tuesday. One Navy Skyraider was damaged but managed to land safely on the Carrier Bon Homme Richard.

Japan's peace treaty was approved . . .

... by the British House of Commons Wednesday. Two Labor members spoke briefly against the treaty, but no other opposition was voiced as the measure received its third and final reading. In effect, passage by Commons means that the treaty is ratified.

The British dissented in Rome . . .

... at the council meeting of the 12 Atlantic pact nations when the council called for a quick report on the chances of setting up an international army to protect western Europe—an army that would include German troops.

Britain's foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, provided the stumbling block when he stated "British formations will not join the European army, but there might be some form of association."

This stand brought a strong reaction from Strasbourg, where the European consultative assembly is meeting. With representatives from 15 European parliaments present, France's Paul Reynaud predicted that the British rejection would result in the defeat of the international army idea in the French parliament.

The U.S. government . . .

... has followed through with its promise to clean up the scandal-ridden Internal Revenue bureau. In the biggest single day's house-cleaning in the bureau since Congress started to investigate charges of graft, corruption and irregularities in the tax collection, the government has gotten rid of 31 more employees in 16 cities.

One top official, James Smyth, San Francisco's tax collector, was fired on charges of failing to manage his office properly.

The 30 others included nine deputy collectors. Revenue Commissioner John Dunlap says 18 had been fired outright and the others forced to resign. Five cases have been referred to the Justice department for possible criminal prosecution.

House tax scandal investigators . . .

... got an earful of fur coat stories today from their witness—the ousted assistant attorney general, T. Lamar Caudle. He said five fur coats, three of them mink, were purchased through the help of a tax attorney for his wife and the wives of Senator John McClellan (D.-Ark.) and former Army Secretary Kenneth Royall.

Senator McClellan said his wife purchased a mink coat in New York at some store recommended by Mrs. Caudle, and McClellan stated that he knows that he paid for the coat and gave it to his wife as a Christmas present.

Royall reported that he bought his wife three mink coats in the last 15 years through wholesalers. He maintained that he does not recall ever meeting the tax lawyer in question in the Caudle case.

The Egyptian government . . .

... is cooperating in attempts to hold down Egyptian nationalist extremists who have been threatening the British.

Lieut. Gen. George Erskine, British commander in Egypt, announced an agreement with the Suez canal zone governor. Under this agreement, Egyptian authorities are to clean up the terrorists and the British are to permit Egyptian police in the area to be re-armed.

A former deputy sheriff . . .

... who insists Utah and Truman Wilson are innocent of the slaying of Jo Ann Dewey said Wednesday night that the office of Washington's Governor Langlie has summoned him to a conference, but the governor won't be there to receive him.

Earlier the ex-deputy, Howard Hanson, notified the governor that he had evidence he believes would convince Langlie of the Wilsons' innocence. Hanson said he had received a telegram from the governor, asking him to come to Olympia at once.

Letters Enroute To Oregon Dads

The annual letter to fathers of University freshmen, containing their University of Oregon Dads membership cards, is now being mailed, Karl W. Onthank, executive secretary, stated Wednesday.

Each year these letters are sent to the freshmen's fathers to welcome them as members of the University of Oregon Dads and to invite them to become lifetime members.

The receipts from the club are utilized for a scholarship fund and also for supplying Oregon high schools with copies of the Oregonian.

Freud Discussion Scheduled Friday

An informal discussion of Sigmund Freud will take place at 7:45 p.m. Friday in the browsing room of the Student Union.

Robert Leeper, professor of psychology, will be the discussion leader.

Freud was an Austrian psychoanalyst, regarded as the founder of the science of psycho-analysis, which grew out of his experiences in treating sufferers from hysteria and neurosis. He is famous for his therapeutic methods and his revolutionary theories of sex.

Phone Committee

Thus, from the University's standpoint, Kading explained, the pay phones are a saving, although it is an added cost to individual students in living organizations. He added that the living organizations—as units—are also saving because of the pay phones, in such matters as long distance calls, some of which previously could not be attributed to individuals, the cost being borne by the houses.
