WAF Members Honored at Tea

About 800 women attended a tea held Dec. 11 by the Associated Women students and Heads of Houses, for two members of the Women's Air Force, Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, director of women's affairs, reported.

An informal discussion by Lt. Col. Della Angst, commanding officer of the WAF training center at Lackland AFB, and Capt. Mary Flanagan, squadron commander at the training center, highlighted the afternoon program.

Pouring during the tea were Mrs. Charles Byrne, Mrs. H. K. Newburn, Mrs. William C. Jones, Mrs. E. L. Gardner, Mrs. W. J. Plummer and Mrs. Frank Reid.

Dorothy Kopp and Judy Ellefson were co-chairmen for the tea assisted by Mrs. Wickham.

Kroll to Discuss 'Spanish Dilemma' At IRC Meeting

Morton Kroll, instructor in political science, will discuss the "Spanish Dilemma" at a meeting of the International Relations club at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union.

The meeting will be open to the public.

P. J. Powers, assistant professor of romance languages, who recently returned from a year's leave of absence spent in Spain, will be present at the meeting to answer questions, the IRC said.

Kroll's talk will be concerned with relations between the U.S. and the Franco-dominated Spanish government.

This is Kroll's first year on the Oregon campus. He did graduate work at UCLA. His doctoral dissertation was on the second Spanish republic.

Speaker Chosen For Conference

Sawyer Falk, prominent figure in the national theater, has been chosen as the main speaker for the Northwest Drama conference to be held on the campus Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 7-9.

Approximately 500 delegates will attend the conference. Montana, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, California, Washington and Oregon will be represented.

Those attending will be students and faculty from high schools and colleges and any townspeople who are interested. Anyone may register to attend the conference providing he pays the initial registration fee of $2 for adults and $1 for students. This fee will entitle the delegate to attend approximately four plays and all sessions of conferences with the exception of the Friday night banquet.

Opens Thursday

The conference will open Thursday with registration followed by a theater performance in the evening.

The main address by Falk is tentatively scheduled for Friday. Divisional meetings on acting and directing, publicity and promotion, playwriting and criticism, and technical problems will also be held on Friday. The annual conference banquet will be held that night.

Sectional programs will be scheduled for Saturday. Theater aspects will be discussed in the following sections: college and university, civic and community, children's and high school.

Specially Prepared

The program has been specially prepared to handle the high school group Saturday morning to accommodate those who could not come earlier.

Saturday there will also be a matinee and evening performance of a play, "All the King's Men," currently running in the main theater, will be presented during the conference. Additional plays will be brought in by out-of-town groups.

Theater to Elect Board Members This Sunday

Election of members for the next year to the University theater executive board will be the highlight of the University theater meeting Sunday at 6 p.m. in 102 Villard.

Two freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students will be elected to the board.

Anyone interested in any phase of the theater is cordially invited to attend, according to Karl Harshbarger, chairman of publicity for the event.

The program will open with community singing of show music, followed by a short introductory talk. The University theater staff will be introduced.

The program will close with refreshments and dancing.

Petitions for 'Ike' Beginning in Salem

SALEM — (U.P.) — Petitions to place the name of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Oregon primary ballot for Republican nomination for president are expected to be filed with the state election bureau here late next week.

William L. Phillips, who handled the successful election campaigns of Gov. Douglas McKay, is chairman of the Oregon "Ike for President" committee, and he said after a meeting of his executive committee today that petitions would not be filed until after a conference with Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts at a Republican meeting in San Francisco next week. Sen. Lodge is spearheading the national Republican move to get Eisenhower in the White House.

A group of Oregon Democrats headed by State Sen. Thomas R. Mahoney of Portland would also like "General Ike" for their candidate for president. In fact they beat the Republicans to the punch in filing for him. Way last August they filed petitions carrying more than the necessary 1,000 names of registered Democrats to put the general on the Oregon primary ballot as candidate for Democratic nominee for president.

Eisenhower's first out and out statement that he is a Republican has posed a puzzler for the state elections bureau in Salem. Dave O'Hara, manager of the bureau, said he has asked attorney general George Neuner for a ruling.

The Portland Oregonian gave its "unqualified approval" Tuesday to the campaign to nominate and elect General Eisenhower to the presidency as a republican.

Faculty Get Rates On Athletic Cards

For the first time faculty members coming to the University during winter term may purchase athletic cards at a reduced price, Howard Lemons, athletic business manager has announced.

Before this year, faculty members paid a flat rate of $15 for the entire year and if a professor came to Oregon in the middle of a school year, there was no reduced price for his athletic card, Lemons said. The $15 fee for faculty members is the same as the athletic fee paid by the students, Lemons said.

The athletic fee for faculty members is still fifteen dollars a year if the professor is interested in seeing all Oregon sports. If the professor is interested in football only, he may buy an athletic card for $9 admitting him to football games only. If the professor is interested in just winter and spring sports, he may purchase a card for $10.

The scale of prices was decided upon by the athletic department and a faculty committee headed by Carl Johnson, associate professor of romance languages.

Board Approves Degrees
