

Kappa Sigs Fall 26-16 To ATO's

By Bill Brandsness

Lead by their boy wonder Guard Ernie Baldini, Alpha Tau Omega came back from a first quarter deficit of six points to finally wax the Kappa Sigma 'A' team 26-16.

The lads from ATO couldn't seem to connect in the first quarter, although their floor-play looked very good. By half-time Baldini and mates crawled up to a 10.8 lead as Ernie dropped in two as the horn sounded. ATO is one of the few teams in the intramural playoffs to use an effective-deliberate ball control system.

Center Ray Packwood dumped 6 counters to follow Baldini's 13. Ken Torgerson put up three, Tom Mathews and Ron Lowell added two each. For the Kappa Sigs, Miller and Countryman each

In the second intramural game Phi Kappa Sigma walked all over Delta Upsilon to the tune of 47-14. It was evident in the beginning that the game would be a slaughter because the Phi Kaps grabbed an early 22-9 lead for half time.

Beck Scores

Gene Beck led for the victors with 13 tallies and he was followed closely by Burge with 11, Berg with 10, Gear with 7 and Settecase with 6. Lowell Shuck made 6 for the DU's.

In the second round Chi Psi downed Phi Sigma Kappa 34-8 in one of the roughest games played in the playoffs. Three members of the Phi Sigma Kappa team left the game with bloody noses. The huge Chi-Psi were able to push them around the floor with ease. Del Clemens played a nice brand of ball and made 14 points besides. Bill Dunbar was second high scorer for the Chi Psi's with 12. Romaine was high point man for Phi Sigma Kappa with six.

Sigma Nu beat Pi Kappa Alpha 26 to 7 in another one-sided affair. Sigma Nu held a 9 to 5 half time lead and then really caught fire in the second half. McBee and Johnson were high for Sigma Nu with 10 and six respectively. Champ Husted made five out of the Pi Kap's total of seven.

Don Hull marked up 14 to lead Delta Tau Delta to an easy win over Sigma Phi Epsilon in a 30-15 rout.

Sharp Delts

The Delts played sharp ball all of the way through the contest. Second in the Delt scoring list was Frank Snyder with eight to his credit. Although center Darrell Hawes only countered six, he looked very good on the ball-handling and the shots that he put up were under the basket with several men on his back. Right guard Gray was high for the SPE's with six.

Titanic Series Opens Tonight; Huskies May Use Bob Houbregs

UW Cripples Get Go Signal

SEATTLE, WASH., (U.P.)—Big Doug McClary will be in the Washington lineup despite a sprained ankle when the Huskies meet the University of Oregon Ducks Friday night, Washington officials said Thursday.

There also was a chance that Bob Houbregs, the Huskies, hook-shot artist, might see limited action.

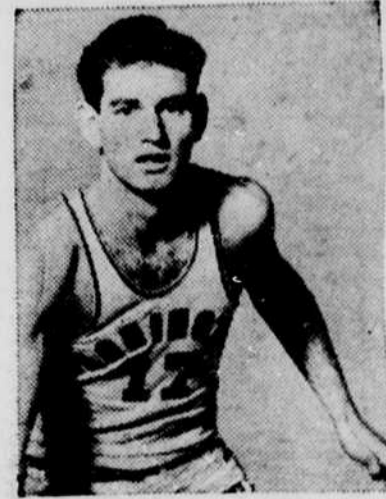

McClary, six-foot-eight forward, sprained an ankle in scrimmage Tuesday, but Dr. John Geehan, team physician, said he couldn't tell immediately whether the Husky star could play. After an examination yesterday, the doctor said McClary can play, but won't be fully effective.

Houbregs, who has been sidelined since the first University of Idaho game, went without a cast on his injured heel today, and Dr. Geehan said he "should be able to play a little."

The team physician said he hoped Houbregs would be at full strength when the Huskies meet Washington State next week.

Coach Tippy Dye, however, realizes this is a big series, one he has to get an even break in to stay in the race. Dr. Geehan gave the two injured Huskies the green light, but did not expect them to go at full steam.

Without those two six-foot, seven-plus-inch starters, Washington's strength, particularly under the backboards, would be hurt severely.

Ducks Brave Pavilion Jinx

By Rick Tarr

With unconcealed upset hopes, the University of Oregon basketball team arrived in Seattle Thursday afternoon. These hopes were strengthened with the news Tuesday of Center Doug McClary's sprained ankle. Although the six-foot, eight center is expected to see action, his speed and rebound process may well suffer. This, coupled with the fact that Bob Houbregs is still unable to play, accounts for the optimism.

Oregon boosters are relying on the rebound genius of Bob Petersen, one of the best in the nation, to smash the Edmunson Pavilion jinx. Washington opponents have been trying to solve the rebound problem without success this season. Chet Noe and Mel Streeter are no slouches at the skill and this combination may prove too much for the weakened Huskies.

Slow Game

At any rate, the experts are looking for a careful defensive game from both teams. The fac-

Stanford, Ducks, Washington Top PCC Statistics

LOS ANGELES, (U.P.)—A pair of sharp-eyed UCLA Bruins ranked as the top markmen today in Pacific Coast Conference Southern Division basketball circles, but Stanford's Ed Tucket led the individual scoring race.

Statistics released by the PCC Commissioner's office revealed that UCLA Guard Ron Livingston made 18 of 20 free throws for an impressive 90 per cent shooting mark, while his teammate, Bobbie Pounds, hit six out of 11 field goal attempts in four league game on a 54.5 per cent mark.

In the Northern Division, Oregon and Washington, who meet in a series at Seattle this weekend, dominated the statistics.

Hunt Heads Lists

Oregon guard Ken Hunt grabbed honors in three departments. He averaged 3.5 assists per game; tied with Dan Johnston of Oregon State and Herb Millard of Idaho for free-throw laurels by dropping eight of nine attempts for an 88.9 average and ran second in total scoring with 13 points per game.

Washington Center Bob Houbregs led the individual scoring column with 16 points per game, but he played in only one of the Huskies' four PCC games.

Bob Petersen of Oregon was third with a 12.5 average, followed by Eric Roberts of Washington State with 12.4.

Wegner Most Deadly

Ken Wegner of Oregon led in accuracy from the floor by making 80 per cent of his field goal attempts, while Tom Flynn of Idaho compiled a 72.7 per cent mark.

Washington led in team field goal accuracy with 32.3 per cent, and Idaho was tops from the free throw line with 64.6 per cent.

Oregon was top dog in team scoring with 59 points per game, and Washington was the best defensive unit.

Duck Jayvees Play OSC Saturday

The Oregon 'JV's' travel to Corvallis Saturday night the O.S.C. 'JV' five in the first of a six-game series at Gill coliseum. Last year with the Frosh ruling still in effect, the two squads played eight tilts, Oregon winning seven of the eight.

Three members of last year's Frosh squad will be in the start- (Please turn to page five) tor of ball control is also bound to play a big part in the outcome. Both teams like to run the fast break but watch for a cautious and deliberate game under each basket.

It will take a twin defeat at the hands of the Huskies to drop the Ducks to second place in the conference. A split would protect the top spot for the local boys with a shaky three-one over four-two win-loss tally. Washington State remains idle while Idaho and Oregon State battle it out at Moscow for third spot.

An estimated 10,000 fans will pack Edmunson Pavilion for the early season crucial on Friday night. Saturday night's affair ends the two game series whereupon the Borchers Boys return for a long stay at home until they journey to Corvallis on February 15.

Mel Streeter	F Frank Guisness
Chet Noe	C Dean Parsons
Ken Hunt	G Joe Cipriano
Ken Wegner	G Mike McCutchen

Swimmers Meet Winged 'M' Club

Pete Van Dijk, of the Multnomah Athletic club, who starred for Oregon last year, will provide tough competition for the Duck swimming team 2 p.m. Saturday at the men's pool. Van Dijk won the conference championship in the 440 freestyle and the 220 freestyle last year.

Coach Borchardt has placed Gordon Edwards to compete with Van Dijk in the 220 freestyle. At the present time Edwards has done a 4:49.6 in the 440 which is one second under the conference record set by Jack Medica in 1934.

Wilbert Joins Globetrotter Five

The Harlem Globetrotters, acknowledged masters of the game of basketball, will have another hoop master in their troupe when they play the Oregon All-Stars at McArthur Court on January 22. He's Ray Wilbert, internationally famous in the theatrical world.

Wilbert manipulates a set of hoops into doing almost fantastic feats with an artistry that has won him acclaim in theaters, night clubs, arenas and music halls of the world, besides being a repeated sure-fire hit on television.

He has appeared 12 times at Radio City Music Hall in New York, which constitutes a record for the famed theater, and has headlined at the Savoy Hotel in London, and numerous other leading places around the globe.

It is doubtful if Wilbert will be able to outdo the Trotters, however, who, when not busy rolling up the score, clown, cavort, hold mock baseball games, and in general keep the crowd in an uproar.

Students are reminded that they must show their athletic cards when purchasing student tickets at McArthur Court.

Ticket Manager Howard Lemons announced Thursday that General Admission tickets would go on sale Friday at 1 p.m. instead of the day of the game as previously announced.

Bobby Reynolds of Nebraska holds the all-time major college scoring record for a single season with 157 points. He shares the all-time record for most touchdowns scored with Whizzer White of Arizona State. Each scored 22 last year.
