Religious Notes

The Parliament of World Religions is at the top of the campus religious agenda for the coming week. Nearly all University spiritual organizations will attend the different meetings of the week, especially the dinner at which Rev. Paul Wright, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Portland, will speak at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union.

Gamma Delta

Initiation of new members will be the main order of business at the Gamma Delta meeting at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in Grace Lutheran Church.

Following the meeting, the group will attend the Parliament of World Religions introductory dinner.

Lutheran Student House

A discussion on the Mormon church is the topic of a student panel scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the Lutheran Student house, 1372 Alder. Many of the members World Religions introductory dinner following the panel discussion.

A skating party is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday evening. All interested persons should meet at the House at 7:30 where rides will be furnished to the skating rink.

"Churches and Sects" is the term theme of the regular "Lunch and Learn" session which will be held at 12 noon Wednesday at the House. A Lutheran doctrine discussion led by Pastor Aalbue of the Central Lutheran church in Eugene will be given at 9 the same evening.

The group will sponsor the St. Olaf a cappella choir when it appears in Eugene on Feb. 1.

Canterbury Club

The Episcopal group will not have its usual 5:30 p.m. Sunday meeting at St. Mary's Church this weekend. Instead, members are asked to meet in the downstairs lounge of the Student Union at 6 p.m. Sunday and proceed to the introductory dinner as a group.

All Episcopal students are invited to join in the celebration of Holy Communion at Gerlinger hall at 7 a.m. every Wednesday morning. A light breakfast is served immediately following Communion.

Newman Club

The Rev. Fr. Mathias Burger, O. S. B., a professor at Mt. Angel seminary, will talk on "Catholic Action: The Call of the Popes!" at the Newman club meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Dad's lounge of the Student Union.

Father Burger was in the Eugene and campus news recently when he invited Paul Blanchard, a noted anti-Catholic lecturer who recently toured Protestant churches in Oregon, to be a speaker at the Mount Angel abbey near Salem.

The Sunday night lecture will be followed by a panel-type discussion after which there will be entertainment and dancing.

Westminster Foundation

An old-fashioned "box-social" is scheduled at Westminster house at 5:30 p.m. Friday with a slightly different twist. Boys are to bring the boxes and the girls will bid for them. Folk dancing and games will complete the evening program.

The regular Sunday evening program and the Tuesday evening fellowship supper will not be held during the coming week. Foundation members are urged to attend the Parliament of World Religions activities instead.

Wednesday chapel will be led by Donna Trebbe, of the Faith and Life commission.

Theta Sigma Phi To Hold Publicity Clinic Saturday

Plans for the second annual publicity clinic sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, are now complete.

All those who received post-cards in the mail are asked to return them by Friday. Anyone interested in publicity who did not receive a card is invited to attend also.

The clinic will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Student Union.

Six speakers will discuss various publicity problems from an angle which they are well-qualified to speak on.

Gretchen Grondahl, associate editor on the Emerald, will give the introductory speech on what makes the news. Lorna Larson, Emerald editor, and Larry Hobart, assistant Emerald news editor, will also talk on publicity and what the Emerald looks for in a news story.

Kenny Warren of KWAX, Jo Moore, manager of the University News Bureau, and Charles Duncan, journalism professor, will speak on publicity from their respective fields. The speeches will be from five to 10 minutes long.

Twenty-five cents will be charged each group attending the clinic to cover the cost of a publicity pamphlet which will be distributed.

and vice-president; one representative) was defeated. A previous suggestion by Karr to rotate the names of candidates on the ballot 25 times, so that each would appear at the top, was likewise not approved.

Director of Student Affairs Donald DuShane told senators the administration was "prepared to be of help and had already done a number of things" regarding the phone case.

"If we want to have what we used to have," said E. R. Bingham, instructor in history, "then let's fight for it."

Volunteers from the senate, to be added to the committee, were Virginia Wright, Bingham, Karr and Judy McLoughlin.

The smaller houses and those who pledged few men during rush week seemed generally in favor of some type of restriction on the larger houses.

A committee composed of representatives from Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Gamma Delta and Pi Kappa Phi will meet Tuesday at 3 p.m. to discuss the problem.

In other action the IFC voted to go on record in favor of dropping the intra-mural points presently awarded in bowling leagues but to award a cup to the winner of the bowling contest.

The move came after a protest by Larry Dean of Sigma Nu that fraternities were being forced to pay $32 for participation in the bowling league to gain points made by joining, when the house had no possible chance of winning. Dean said the "participation points" were necessary to retain standing in the over-all intra-mural race.

Students Provide Several Reasons For Missing Talk

By Jean Lewis

Most students interviewed by the inquiring reporter on the question, "Did You attend Dr. Dull's (Paul S. Dull, associate professor of political science and history) assembly lecture Tuesday said they had not attended. Their reasons ranged from too much studying to not knowing that he was speaking.

Two students had attended the lecture and though that the time taken to attend was well spent.

Yvonne Reed—sophomore in music—"No, I am a music major and I'm working, in addition to having too much class work. I go to the assemblies when I can."

Barbara Bates—junior in art—"No, I had forgotten it was Tuesday. I received no Emerald. Otherwise I would have gone."

Marie Fletcher—sophomore in sociology—"No, because I didn't know who Dr. Dull was until this noon."

Masaru Takamiya—senior in political science—"No, I didn't go because I had too much studying to do."

Tom Shepherd—sophomore in political science—"Yes, and it was an excellent speech that warranted a bigger turnout."

Jim Solidum—junior in journalism—"Yes, I went and though that it was very good. The point I thought was good in Dr. Dull's speech was the one that we should learn more about Asiatic people and that it is not our that is really needed; it is the cooperation in giving and taking of both East and West cultures which is lacking."

Frank Wilson—senior in liberal arts—"No, I was studying."

Barbara Coen—freshman in journalism—"No, I didn't know about it. I don't like lectures."

Bill Curtis—freshman in liberal arts—"No, the Emerald story didn't look interesting so I didn't read it and therefore did not become interested enough in the lecture to go to it."
