Hoopsters Get Tough Workout

By Rick Tarr

Oregon's varsity basketball team went back to work Monday on the Mac Court hardwood. They listened to a brief review of weaknesses by Coach Borchert before taking the floor. These included rebound, post work, ball handling, and aggressiveness on both offense and defense. In short as Borchert put it, "We have to work on just about everything." In regards to the failure of the combination zone and man-to-man defense employed unsuccessfully against the Huskies, Borchert felt that the plan would have worked had it not been for individual failures.

The first drill worked on offensive screening followed by a rebound drill. This was accomplished by having a shirted J.V. aggregation put up long shots from the side and around the key while the varsity skins concentrated on backboard thefts. Don Seigmund nabbed a goodly share of the loot as the varsity displayed anything but convincing control.

The next exercise saw the J.V.'s work a close, aggressive defense against the regulars. At the other end another varsity five played on defense against a sharp group of independent players. Borchert took special time to emphasize rebounding and even entered the fracas himself to prove a point. Aggressiveness was stressed in both skirmishes.

In an attempt to sharpen up the shooting, each varsity player will shoot fifty shots a day of a specified variety. This exercise climaxed the two hour drill.

STRIKES and SPARES

League bowling began its second week with the faculty on the alleys Monday night. Competition will be keener from now on for all teams have acquired handicaps as a result of the team's bowling scratch the first week. The first week there were two very good series bowled by Jerry Shaw and Don Hannu, both of whom bowled better than a 510 series. W. R. A. league is also in its second week and promises to develop some outstanding women bowlers... with the help of Louie Bellissimo, recreation manager.

The Globetrotters appearance in Mac Court tonight is wringing sobs of disappointment out of the Tuesday league men.

High game of last week was bowled by Major Irwin L. Ungerleider with a 234.

Practice sessions are now being held for the pool players who will engage in competition with an expert to be imported in the near future. At the present time, Bill Sperling of Minturn hall seems to be the best of the University's Eight Ball set.

There is a nasty rumor going around to the effect that the ping-pong room is to be bricked up and used for a mausoleum to store the bodies of the Vets' Dorm residents who have refused to hike the last mile to Straub for breakfast every morning. It was supposed that this method of disposal would attract little attention outside of University circles. This is not true! The bodies will be propped up in chairs in the Barber Shop where they will be completely ignored. After all, the hair stops growing after death.

Recreation desk please note: The cartoons on the bulletin board have not been changed since Louie Bellissimo cancelled his subscription to 'Ladies Home Journal.' When interviewed, Mr. Bellissimo was quoted as saying that in the event of all-out war, ping-pong fanciers will have to bring their own ping-pong balls and fight it out in the Fish Bowl. And that's the international situation as it looks from here.

Betas Swamp TKE; PhiPsi Ousts Delts

By Doug White

Once again intramural sports gained the limelight as IM basketball got into its fourth week of action. On the activity courts of the Men's Physical Education building Monday afternoon, Minturn hall took the Sherry Ross-Omega quintet by the score of 22 to 15; Stan Ray hall bowed to Campbell Club 25 to 11; Beta Theta Pi swamped Tau Kappa Epsilon 33 to 2; Gamma hall defeated McChesney 22 to 15; Phi Kappa Psi beat Delta Tau Delta 15 to 14 and Sigma Chi took the measure of Theta Chi 20 to 16.

Crack-shot

WILLIAM "POP" GATES, will occupy one of the forward slots for the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters in the exhibition tonight at McArthur Court. With their tricky ball handling the 'Trotters' have survived through 25 years of global tours.

Jim Scott and Bill Sperling sparked the boys from Minturn hall to their decisive victory over Sherry Ross hall. Together scoring a total of 13 points and taking most of the rebounds they paved the way to the winners' second victory. For the losers Sam Duncan played sterling ball and poured in six points to boot. The whole Sherry Ross team seemed to "perk up" in the last three quarters of play, seeing that the score at the end of the stanza was a phenomenal 11 to 0 in favor of Minturn.

Maier Battles Valiantly

Frank Maier did everything in his power to halt the rampaging Campbell Club, but nevertheless Stan Ray hall still went to defeat by the score of 25 to 11. Mr. Maier scored every one of the 11 points, too, besides playing a good floor game. For the victors Elmer Jones and Ed Heino topped the scoring column, netting nine and six points respectively.

Beta Theta Pi had no trouble at all in subduing the Tau Kappa Epsilon club by the stratospheric count of 33 to 2. As can be readily seen by the score, the Betas were never in trouble, let alone being threatened. Chan Sogge led the way for the winners, nitting the hemp for 11 counters, while the rest of the scoring was evenly distributed among the other members of the team.

The Gamma hall team kept a slight lead throughout their contest with McChesney hall, but that was all they had to do as they won out in the end 22 to 15. Jerry Paine went on a rampage in the first half scoring eight points for his club, the McChesney's. It was all for naught, though, as Gamma held a lead even then and did not care to relinquish it. Dick DuBosch, a classy freshman on the Gamma squad led both teams in the scoring column, though, racking up a total of nine points. Right behind him was Gene O'Brien with seven counters.

The Day's Thriller

In the closest game of the afternoon Phi Kappa Psi pulled one out of the fire by taking Delta Tau Delta 15 to 14. The contest had been close during its entirety, but in the last stanza the Delts had grabbed a slim lead and were holding on to it. With a minute to go John Beal knotted the score a 14 all with a swisher from the key, then Wayne Ballantyne wrapped it up as he canned a free throw in the last 15 seconds of the game.

Dave Hall of the victors was high point man for the game, potting nine points. Darrell Matney was right behind as he poured through seven points for the Delts.

In the last game of the afternoon Sigma Chi trounced Theta Chi 20 to 16. The Sigs just overpowered their opponents as they dominated the backboards and scored when it was necessary. Elliot and Almy topped the scoring column each netting eight points for their respective teams. Jim Calderwood was right behind with five counters. Claderwood was a tower of strength for the victorious Sigs, taking most of the rebounds and playing heads up defense.

In the only handball action of the day Phi Kappa Psi bowed to Stan Ray hall by the decision of a forfeit.

Willamette University scored a grand total of 25 points in 23 games with the Oregon Duck gridders.

Oregon was unscored upon for seven consecutive games during the 1901-02 football seasons.

HOW MORAL CAN A VICTORY GET?
 OR
Don't Put All Your Goose Eggs in One Basket

A college basketball team once had plenty of nothing. It was so bad that even the coach hadn't gone to a game all season. Couldn't stand to watch his job collapse. So the team careened through its schedule and hit the road for the big game, the season's windup. Due to lose by over forty-five points, the experts said.
 But somebody back on campus had a brainstorm and started a notion. Telegrams, to be exact. Just before game time, the team got more telegrams than you could shake a referee at. Group telegrams from fraternities and sororities, personal telegrams from Prexy and the Dean of Women—hundreds of telegrams, all saying "We're behind you, team!" And by golly, the boys pulled themselves together and went out and lost by only twenty-eight points, instead of forty-five.
 The moral is plain. The more you encourage guys, the better they work or play. Giving anyone a hand by telegrams does wonders for gratitude and cooperation—whether it's cash from home you want or a date or just to send a thoughtful message to someone on any special occasion. Just call Western Union, or head for your local Western Union office.
