

Coach Borchardt Hopeful As AAU Swim Meet Nears

By Ron Ricketts

"Our swimmers are looking fairly good for so early in the season and we hold hope of taking the meet this Saturday." Those were the words of coach John Borchardt as his Oregon swimming team prepared for the coming State AAU meet at Multnomah Club in Portland.

Edwards Will be Ready

The team has spent the last few days polishing strokes and working on conditioning. Gordon Edwards, who was out last week with a cold, is rounding into shape and will be a tough competitor for MAC's Pete Van Dijk in the 220 and 440 freestyle events. Besides Edwards, Phil Lewis, Herb West, and Bob Oringolph will be competing in these events.

Pete Charlton has been showing well from the three meter board, and is expected to win that event on Saturday. Other divers are Ray Atkinson and Hal Davis.

John English, Ben Baldwin, and Henry Kaiura are working hard to gain the number two spot behind Yosh Terada in the 200 yard backstroke.

Coach Sees Breaststroke Sweep

Coach Borchardt expects Dick Ruckdeschel, Terada, and Allan Wakinekona to sweep the first three places in the 200 yard breaststroke.

The Ducks have four freestyle sprinters for the 100 yard event in Milton Kotoshirodo, Harry Fuller, Jim Allen, and Dave Houck. They'll also be entered in the 440 freestyle relay.

Preliminaries will be run Saturday afternoon and Sunday with finals slated for both nights.

Ducks Prepare For Home Series With St. Mary's

Coach Bill Borchardt's Oregon basketball team puffed and sweated through another hard workout Tuesday night in preparation for their two game series this weekend with the St. Mary's Gaels.

Extensive scrimmage was held between units of varsity and junior varsity athletes, with the emphasis on polishing off rough edges in all phases of play which became so apparent during last week's Washington series.

Scrimmages Run

Leading off in the full-court scrimmage sessions for the varsity were Captain Ken Hunt and Bob Hawes at guards, tall Chet Noe at center, with Sophomore Barney Holland and six-foot, six-inch Hank Bonneman at the forward slots.

Opposing them were Ron Phillips and Don Seigmund, stars of last year's frosh squad at forwards, another sophomore, Doug Rogers, at center, and freshman Alex Byler and Hug Marxer at guards.

The varsity cagers walked away to a 28-18 victory in this ten minute session, despite a full-court pressing defense by the JV's. This type of defense was a big factor in the shackling of the hitherto potent Duck fast break by the Washington team.

Phillips Shoots Well

Noe and Bonneman were effective for the varsity on the boards and in the scoring columns, aided by two consecutive long shots by Guard Kenny Wegner.

Globetrotters Romp To 50-40 Decision Over Collegiate Team

By John Whitty

The Harlem Globetrotters lived up to their advance notices last night as they gamboled their way to a 50-40 victory over the Oregon All-Stars, a team composed of Oregon hoopsters of the past few years.

The game was very slow in getting started, as neither team seemed able to hang onto the ball long enough to crack the defense of the other. The Globetrotters finally managed to build a 7-3 lead, largely on the efforts of "Pop" Gates, who plays a very good floor game, often scoring as the result of tricky fakes which he executes with the precision of long years of practice.

The All-Stars came back fighting, though, and tied the score at 7-7 on a tip in by Ken Hayes. The Trotters took the lead again a moment later, however, on a bucket by Bob Hall, a good rebounder, a good floor man, and a fine shot. From then on the Harlem boys were never headed, although the Oregon grads continued to threaten throughout the game.

During the first half of the game the Trotters couldn't seem to connect. Their lay-ins rolled out, their hook shots bounded over the basket, and the frequent long two-handers by Duke Cumberland missed consistently.

The All-Stars, coached by Bill Borchardt, also had trouble finding the hoop in the early part of the game, but part of this can be attributed to the fact that none of them are playing on any regularly organized hoop squad.

Dribble Act Fails

An attempt at a dribbling act by Tom Gibson of the world-famous group failed miserably as he had the ball taken away from him twice. The score at the end of the first half of the game favored the Globetrotters, 29-23. Rather than brilliant offensive play, the Trotters led mainly on the basis of their determined work.

At the start of the second part of the tilt, the Abe Saperstein sponsored squad looked like a different team. Two consecutive baskets by Gibson and one by Helem put the Trotters in the lead by a 35-23 count. However, the local quintet went on a scoring drive which saw Bob Hamilton chalk up three points and Wiley and Sowers four each to close the margin to 37-34.

Trotters Start Tricks

At the close of the third period, the Harlemites were in the lead 41-36, and the return to action of Bob Hall spelled trouble for the former Oregon cagers. After four minutes of play in the final stanza, the Globetrotters had increased their lead to 47-36.

Then they began by a marvelous exhibition of ball control during which they had the Oregon team wondering what was going to happen next. The comic antics of Hall and Babe Pressley had the fans howling in glee at the confusion of the All-Stars.

A game of football was played by the Trotters, with one of their number making an unsuccessful attempt at kicking a field goal at the basket.

The game ended with a score by "Ducky" Moore, who was astride the shoulders of one of his teammates.

Fijis Crush PiKA By 53-8 Margin In 'B' IM Action

By Lauren Loveland

Tuesday was certainly a day of contrast as far as the scores of the intramural basketball games are concerned. It was an afternoon reserved for "B" team action again and the spectators were favored with one of the widest varieties of game styles displayed here in one afternoon. The Pi Kappa Alpha "B" squad fell victim to the steam-rolling team of Phi Gamma Delta to the tune of 53 to 8. This is one of the highest scores run up in an intramural game so far this year.

On the other side of the scoring the Phi Sigma Kappa "B" team outlasted the Chi Psi's "B" squad 10 to 9 and Delta Upsilon "B's" nosed out Sigma Phi Epsilon's "B" quintet 14 to 10. Sigma Alpha Epsilon's "B" squad let loose an avalanche on the hapless Sigma Alpha Mu "B" quint and floored them by a 48 to 6 score. In freshman dorm league play Nestor hall's "B" squad bowed to French hall's "B" team, 21 to 15.

Fiji's Roll

The Phi Gamma Delta men were, virtually unstoppable in their game with Pi Kappa Alpha as they completely controlled both backboards and very definitely were tops in the scoring department.

Bob Zener was high point man for the game with 15, and right behind him was Mike Lally with 14. Lally also showed some stellar work on the backboards. Fred Mueller had 12 points to his credit and Don Reed added eight to the Fiji cause. The halftime score was 29 to 2 and the final was 53 to 8.

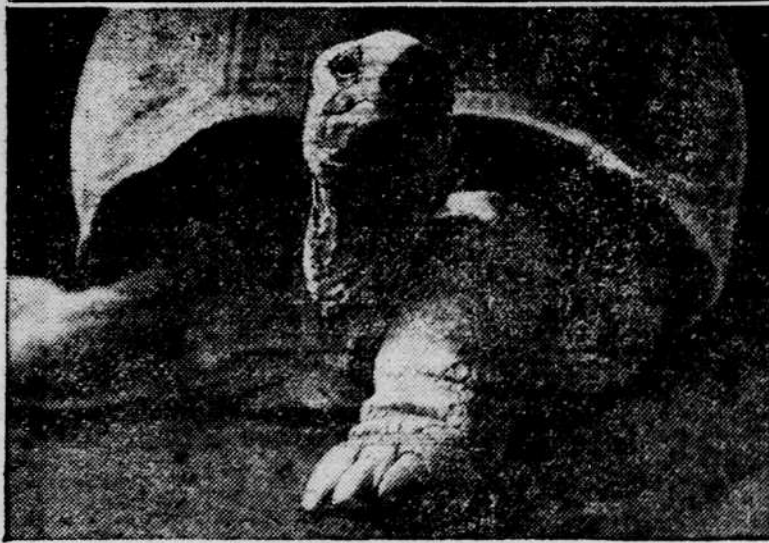

Another game of the same type was won by the SAE "B" team. They trounced the luckless Sammies 48 to 6. The Sammies, definitely handicapped by a lack of height, were unable to add a tally after trailing 24-6 at the half. Ray Karnofski of SAE took the scoring honors of the contest with 19 points. Bob Smith dropped in 8 points and Bob Brittain scored 7 on two field goals and three free throws. The Sammies' scoring was evenly divided among D. Davis, Merle Davis, and Stan Geffen, each with two points.

French Holds Early Lead

In freshman competition Nestor hall's "B" quintet dropped their game with French hall's squad 21 to 15. The first quarter was very slow, ending with the score of 5 to 4 in favor of Nestor. In the second quarter French opened fast with a free throw and a field goal by Stan Savage, a field goal by Jack Murray, and another by Richard Nix before Nestor could catch

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR SHEEDY was in the soup with a turtle named Myrtle. "I'm in a tortizy," he wailed, "what shell I do?" "Well, it's your messy hare that parts you from all the girls," his roommate said. "Better get Wildroot Cream-Oil!" Non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. Relieves dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Helps you pass the Finger-Nail Test. Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's out turtle-necking all the time! So don't stick your neck out... get some terrapia-money and hurry to the nearest drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. And ask for it on your hare at your favorite barber shop. Then you'll really be in the swim.

Peterson Slated For Billiard Exhibitions Here

Charles C. Peterson, World Trick Shot Billiard Champion, will be on the campus for a five day period, beginning Jan. 28.

Peterson's visit to the University is being sponsored by the Student Union and the Student Union Board.

At the age of 72, he is still giving exhibitions of the art of billiard playing, and will do so on the campus.

Long recognized as the fancy shot king of the billiards world, Peterson devotes practically all his time to his work as foremost missionary for the game to the youth of America.

Peterson still finds time for his trick shot ability—developed in 55 years of study and practice—useful as "window dressing" for his serious instruction, which include giving lessons, lecturing on billiards, and stimulating interest in the game as an intramural and intercollegiate sport.

Hundreds of shots, almost 700, many of them originated by himself, are in his bag of tricks.
