

Phi Delts, Phi Phis, Phi Kaps Kappa Sigs, Lambda Chis Sederstrom Win IM Hoop Tilts

By Doug White

Monday's intramural action saw a combination of both excellent and not so excellent basketball displayed by six of the campus men's living organizations. The Sederstrom-Cherney game was the only "B" contest of the afternoon, and it wound up in a 30 to 24 victory for the boys from Sederstrom. Phi Gamma Delta sprang an upset in its startling defeat of Phi Delta Theta 16 to 13, while Phi Kappa Psi downed Sigma Alpha Epsilon 20 to 13. Phi Kappa Sigma took Sigma Alpha Mu 27 to 11, Kappa Sigma beat Delta Upsilon 25 to 15 and Phi Sigma Kappa bowled to Lambda Chi Alpha 33 to 10.

The boys from Phi Gamma Delta really had a "Fiji Honeymoon" when they overcame the vaunted Phi Delts. Undefeated in regular season's play the Phi Delts came into this game with the same confidence that had pulled them through three previous years of undefeated league play. The Fiji's really had to hustle before they could claim the coveted victory.

As usual it was big Dick Stoutt who bore the brunt of the Phi Gamma Delta attack. Dominating the backboards and pouring through five points to boot, Stoutt was definitely a deciding factor in the win. Bob Goodwin of the victors and Dick Morse of the vanquished came through for high point honors, each potting six points.

Today's IM Schedule

- 3:50 Court 40—Chi Psi A vs. Pi Kappa Alpha A
- 3:50 Court 43—Sigma Chi A vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon A
- 4:35 Court 40—Delta Tau Delta A vs. Pi Kappa Phi A
- 4:35 Court 43—Minturn hall A vs. Stan Ray hall A
- 5:15 Court 40—McChesney hall A vs. Gamma hall A
- 5:15 Court 43—Nestor hall A vs. Hunter hall A

Stoutt Breaks Tie

Besides playing sterling ball throughout the regular game, the Fijis also outplayed their opponents in the three minute overtime that followed. Phi Delt Jim Livesay broke the deadlock with a foul shot in the first minute of the overtime period, but the tall Mr. Stoutt sunk a field goal to erase that mark and put the Fijis out in front, a spot which they did not relinquish in the rest of the game. Two more free throws iced the game for the winners.

In another IM "close" the Phi Kappa Psi club upset favored Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The 20 to 18 score is in itself indicative of the way in which both teams fought tooth and nail down to the last whistle. There was no particular star in this contest; every boy on both teams looked good. If one had to be picked as outstanding, though, it would have to be the Phi Psi's Bert Bergstrom.

This six foot senior from Eugene seemed to have springs in his legs as he provided most of the rebound strength for his victorious club. Gene Hover packed the scoring punch in this contest racking

(Please turn to page five)

Short Scrimmages Highlight Hoop Drills

Hoping to jack up the University of Oregon's sagging basketball fortunes, Coach Bill Borchert sent his Webfoots through a two and one-half hour drill on McArthur court Wednesday afternoon.

The Ducks will open a two-game series with the galloping Gaels of St. Mary's college Friday night in the Igloo. The Moragans, boasting a win-loss record of 10-6, are coached by a one-time Notre Dame casaba star, Tom Foley.

Highlighting Wednesday's workouts were a number of ten-minute, full court scrimmages. Borchert used the majority of his varsity and some of the junior varsity basketballers in the rough and tumble action. Ron Phillips of the jayvees troubled the first-stringers no end during a portion of the drills, caging long one-handers and snapping up an otherwise routine afternoon.

The Ducks looked none too sharp in the sessions, although Guard Kenny Wegner appeared to be tanking layups with the least amount of effort. Wegner's counterpart, Ken Hunt, loosened the jayvee and varsity reverse defense with a number of lengthy casts.

Gaels Lose Three

The Gaels have lost three of their six reversals to PCC members — Stanford, California and Oregon. The Ducks nipped the Californians, 58-56 Dec. 29 in Richmond, Calif.

Topping the Gaels' scoring column is lanky Center Ben Gibson. Other potential high-scorers are guards Bob Steinkemp, Will Turner, and Bill Bagley.

The Ducks, meanwhile, dropped into a third-place tie in the Northern Division derby when the Washington State Cougars whipped Oregon State twice Monday and Tuesday in Pullman.

KEN WEGNER, five foot, eleven inch sophomore Duck guard.

Washington has never won a Rose Bowl grid game.

ACTIVITY POINTS!

A REAL CHANCE TO SERVE YOURSELF
AS WELL AS YOUR SCHOOL

APPLY NOW

● OFFICE WORK

● AD SELLING

AT THE

KEITH FARNUM, six foot, three inch junior from Salem, who provides reserve forward strength for Oregon.