

'Practice' Hint To Billiard Skill

Charles Peterson, World Trick Shot Billiard Champion, will be at the Student Union recreation area the remainder of this week.

Tuesday's schedule is as follows: 2:30-3:30 p.m.: coeds instruction. 3:30-4:30 p.m.: men's instruction. 4:30-5:15 p.m.: exhibition. 7:00-8:00 p.m.: exhibition. 8:00-9:00 p.m.: coeds instruction. 9:00-10:00 p.m.: men's instruction.

Peterson says of the game, "Billiards is a decent, fine game. And I've done my best to bring it to the fine people, the youth of my country. Look around the high schools, colleges, Boy's Clubs of America and YMCA's and you'll agree that I have succeeded."

The acknowledged number one trick billiard shot-shark of the world and father of inter-collegiate billiard tournaments conducted by Western Union telegram began his career as a cuedancer at the old Republican House hotel in Milwaukee in 1893. Peterson, who was then 16, was running an elevator at the time, with occasional tours off duty as an attendant in the hotel pool-and-billiardry, plus part-time employments as bat boy for the Milwaukee ball team, then managed by Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy. Between rushing the growler to Connie Mack's robust boys in their hotel rooms and racking them up for visiting actors and drummers, Charley kept fairly busy, but he somehow managed to find time to learn to shoot a good game of pool, a low-brow word which he now cannot bear to hear applied to the respectable game of pocket billiards. One day there happened to tarry at the Republican House a traveling man with some time on his hands, which he put to what was then considered expensive use by taking on young Peterson at five cents a cue.

Peterson has a one-word formula for his success: Practice. During his career he has diagrammed about 1,000 difficult shots, a great many of which only he can perform. He'll show many of them when he appears here.

OIT Trouped By JVs 74-52

The Oregon Junior Varsity team administered a sound 74-52 shellacking to the Oregon Tech JV team in a preliminary to the Oregon-St. Mary's tilt Saturday night.

Fifteen of the 16 JV athletes figured in the scoring, paced by a 15 point effort by Sophomore Guard Barney Holland. The Oregon squad, under the direction of Coach Don Kirsch, was ahead all the way. The first-quarter score was 15-11, the count was 33-30 at the half, and 56-39 at the end of the third period.

Pacemaker for Coach Rex Hunsaker's Klamath Falls men was Wayne Holmuss, former Lebanon high center who scored 18 points and did a creditable job on the backboards.

Also potent in the Oregon Tech lineup was Foreman, a slick ball-handling guard, who came through with nine counters, plus a sparkling floor game.

Following Holland in Oregon scoring were freshman Guard Howard Page, and sophomore Forward Don Seigmund, with seven counters apiece.

Ron Phillips, sophomore forward, was next with six points and a good backboard game for the Ducklings.

The Summary: Oregon Tech (52 (74) Oregon JV Heaslee (7) F. (7) Seigmund Humphrey (7) F. (2) Marxer Holzfuss (18) C. (4) Bonneman Foreman (9) G. (7) Page Brown (3) G. OSC Drops JV Quintet

The Oregon J.V.'s dropped a heartbreaker to the Oregon State J.V.'s at Mac Court Friday night by a score of 67-75. Still smarting from a 70-43 shellacking at the hands of the little Beavers the previous week, Kirsch's kids turned in a determined game and looked as if they wouldn't be denied.

The first quarter was dominated by the local boys as they chalked up a 22-15 advantage. The two Rons, Phillips and Bottler, paced the attack.

The black-shirted Beavers came alive in the second stanza to pick up a 41-43 advantage. Diminutive Ron Fundingsland was the big gun in this period while Art Henriksen and Bud Shirliff had to work to keep control of the boards.

The second half was a closely fought affair which saw Doug Rogers, Ron Phillips and Keith Farnam foul out.

A nice layin by Bill Choat tied the score at 51-51 in the third. Beautiful shooting by Farnam and Phillips kept the local J.V.'s in the game as the score was knotted again beginning the fourth canto at 60-60. But it was a case of the Aggies having too many scoring guns as Houck, Fundingsland, and Shirliff all wound up in the teens for scoring. With a minute and a half left in the game and the Ducklings behind by 62-75 the Aggies used their freeze.

Ron Phillips earned a spot on the varsity lineup that night with a deadeye display of shooting which netted him 25 points. Ron Fundingsland tallied 19 points to take the honors for the invaders.

ATO Doubles Score on Delts

Monday's intramural basketball action was limited to the "B" clubs as the "A's" took a day off. Opening up the day's schedule, Alpha Tau Omega downed the Delts of Delta Tau Delta 28 to 14. At the same time on Court 40 of the Men's Physical Education Plant, Jim Calderwood led the Sigma Chi "B" team to a crushing 33 to 12 victory over Tau Kappa Epsilon. Phi Kappa Psi took it on the chin from the mighty arm of Sigma Alpha Epsilon going down to defeat by the margin of 30 to 17.

Lambda Chi Alpha met the same fate as the Phi Psi, this time losing to Sigma Nu by the count of 30 to 10. In the final game of the day, Kappa Sigma came from behind in the second half to down a fighting Sigma Phi Epsilon squad 28 to 16.

The other scheduled game of the day between Phi Kappa Alpha and Phi Sigma Kappa went to the former by virtue of a forfeit.

Women's Intramural Basketball Begins

Women's intramural basketball begins today with the initial games being held in the indoor gym of Gerlinger hall. Teams from all women's living organizations participate in the tournament until eliminated by another team.

STRIKES and SPARES from the SU cellar

By Jim Mahoney

Charlie Peterson is holding forth on the billiard tables every afternoon and all are invited, especially the Co-eds. The ladies are strongly urged to attend and learn how to become straight rail sharks.

There will be a billiards tournament held next Wednesday and the following two Wednesday's to determine the University of Oregon entries in the Northwest Billiards Tournament. Your last chance to enter is Jan. 30 so sign up now! Time and place is the S.U. basement at 7:30 p.m. In the eliminations held so far, Billy Sperling and Frank Tilly still lead the field.

Hunter Man Bowls High Game
In a match game Sunday afternoon, a team of student bowlers bested the military faculty who play as the ROTC 'Rockets.' Bruce Koppe was tops in the student half with a 562 series, while Major Ungerleider led the RO marking sheet at 527.

High game of the week was bowled by Herman DeRego at Hunter Hall. Herman registered a 228.

The S.U. Recreation Committee is sponsoring bowling lessons under the able supervision of Louie Belissimo every Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. At fifty cents an hour, this is cheaper than straight bowling, but the showing has been so poor it will be discontinued unless business picks up.

Bridge Lessons Given
To the bridge addicts: Lessons are given every Thursday from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m., followed by social bridge till 5 o'clock. This Wednesday and Thursday there will be an intramural bridge tournament at 7:00 p.m. in the S.U.; men on Wednesday and women on Thursday.

A traveling trophy is given to the men and women's living organization winning each year. Delta Gamma and Beta Theta Pi held the trophies last year. This tournament is designed to give practice before the national tournament is held in the middle of February.

An intramural Ping-Pong tournament has also been scheduled to begin on Feb. 15.

Need Partners
The S.U. Recreation Committee sponsors dancing lessons three evenings a week and these would go much better if someone would show up to give the instructor a partner. A dance contest is tentatively on the agenda for the near future.

The committee had planned on adding an old fashioned jousting tourney to head this imposing list of student activities, but discovered that the Dorm Commissary had confiscated all available horses so this ambitious project came to naught.

Varsity Stages Light Workout

varsity basgetball parctice The University of Oregon Varsity and Junior Varsity donned their game suits Monday to pose for squad pictures at MacCourt. This preceded a light workout consisting of two matches on each challenge board for each member of the varsity. Chet Noe was at the top of the offense-defense board while Bob Hawes held down top spot on the foul shot board.

Coach Borchter felt that the team had worked hard for the Saint Mary's series and needed a rest before prepping for the Husky invasion this coming weekend.

Bob Peterson suited up for the session and participated in the short workout.

Ducks Split Series With St. Mary's In Non-league Tilts

Webfoots Cop First Tilt 69-58

Turning back a persistent St. Mary's college Gael quintet, the University of Oregon Ducks notched a satisfying, 69-58 decision over their California visitors in the first of a two-game setto Friday night in McArthur court.

Fifteen Webfoots, led by Captain Kenny Hunt, who meshed 16 points out-platooned the game independents who were in contention much longer than is indicated by the final score. Oregon Coach Bill Borchter shuffled and reshuffled his patch-quilted line-up in an effort to find a winning combination for this weekend's series with the University of Washington Huskies.

Peterson Sat Out
Bob Peterson, once under consideration for a Look magazine all-American position, was exiled to the bench by Borchter for insubordination. The high-scoring forward reportedly did not suit up for practice Thursday night and left early "to study." Borchter said that Peterson "displayed an indifferent attitude" during the week.

Playing the role of a "comeback kid," Forward Keith Farnam, who was shunted off to the jayvees Thursday, earned another shot at a first string position and plunked four field goals and a free toss at the turn of the second quarter for a sensational recovery.

The first period's action was indecisive in so far as a trend was concerned—neither team maintained more than a two-point advantage. Oregon landed first on a 15-foot push shot by Hunt and also last with a Farnam layup for a 16-14 reading in favor of the Ducks.

Art Pidioriano and Bill Halley of the Gael forces shot in a pair of two-handed tricks to establish an 18-16 count. Farnam then dumped through seven consecutive efforts and Guard Ken Wegner pumped in a set shot from the key and the Ducks led, 25-20.

St. Mary's balding, red-thatched Irishman, Tom Foley, watched his gamesters eclipse the Duck margin, pronto. Bill Bagley, a sensational sophomore forward from Chicago, Ill., demonstrated his two-handed wizardry with a 25-foot bullseye from the left-front court which was sandwiched by a Bagley and a Ben Gibson layin. St. Mary's led 27-25 with three minutes remaining in the half.

Wegned Shatters Tie
Wegner shattered a 31-31 tie with a driving layup and Chet Noe and the same Wegner topped off the half with a pair of one-handers.

The winners out-shot the Moragans 21-14 in the third quarter, with Noe, Mel Streeter and Hunt showing the way with eight, seven and six point outbursts, respectively. Noe, particularly, was effective with his hook shots connecting in the desired manner. Oregon's three quarter edge was 56-45.

Bob Hawes dropped through a layin with 4:55 remaining to play to hike the Webfoots' leeway to nine points, 60-51. The Gaels retaliated with a one-handed jump shot by Joe Flores, an extra-pointer by Turner and a 20-footer by Pidioriano, but the Ducks were able to break up the Gaels' pressing, man-to-man, with lay ups by Bud Covey and Hunt.

Following is the summary:

| Player | FG | FT | TP |
|-------------|----|----|----|
| Streeter, f | 2 | 3 | 7 |
| Vranizan, f | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Noe, c | 6 | 0 | 12 |

Gaels Retaliate By 51-45 Score

The Saint Mary's Gaels avenged Friday night's defeat at the hands of the Oregon Ducks by taking control of the Saturday night fracas and gave the Borchter boys a 51-45 drubbing. Several times during the game the Mac Court hardwood took on all the aspects of "Pier Six" as the do-or-die Moragans gained a split in the two game series. Coach Tom "Red" Folley wisely slowed the Galloping Gaels down to a trot and the more deliberate style payed off. Despite this caution the fray was marked by several rough scraps in which elbows swunk freely. One, between Keith Farnam and Drew Turner after three minutes of the fourth stanza had elapsed, was too much for the referee and both men were ejected.

Streeter Ties Score
It was nip and tuck in the first quarter with the score being knotted four times before Mel Streeter connected on a free-throw in the closing seconds of the period to tie the score again at 14-14.

During most of the second period the action was just as close as neither team could gain more than a two point margin. With a minute and a half left in the first half Ben Gibson, six-foot eight-inch Gael center, poured in two quick shots to break a 21-21 deadlock. This put the halftime score at 25-21 and gave Saint Mary's a lead which they never relinquished.

In the third canto the Moragan Maulers fattened their lead with some fine shooting. Art Pidioriano, John Higgins, Bill Halley, Joe Flores, Bill Getris, and Bob Steinkamp all got into the scoring act. With ten seconds left in the period and the Webfoots behind by 45-33, Ken Hunt scored on a jump shot. As Saint Mary's brought the ball down fast to try for one last shot, Hunt stole the ball and let fly from the center line. The gun went off as the ball banked neatly through the hoop.

Fourth Quarter Freeze

With an eight point advantage beginning the fourth, the Gaels began an effective freeze. Chet Noe and Ken Hunt traded baskets with Getris and Pidioriano followed by a layin by Mel Streeter and another by Captain Hunt after a fine steal. This left the Ducks only two buckets away from tying the game up with two and a half minutes to play. With Oregon in possession and the score at 45-49 Saint Mary's committed a crucial theft to get the ball and keep up the freeze. Art Pidioriano, a fly in Oregon's ointment all evening, added salt to the wound by meshing a wide-open layin two seconds before the final gun.

Oregon never looked good on the backboards and was unable to take control even after Gibson had fouled out with seven minutes remaining. Art Pidioriano was high pointer for the evening with 17. Ken Hunt and Chet Noe shared the honors for the Webfoots with 15 apiece.
