

Gordon Howard Acts Base Politician in Play

By Gail Savage

"The man Willie Stark is limited only by the actor who portrays the role," Gordon Howard stated, referring to his role in "All the King's Men."

Howard, as Stark, stars in the production of "All the King's Men" which will open Friday night at the University theater. Stark is a politician in one of the southern states. Stark is a self-educated, self-made man, who became governor of the state, despite the actions of corrupt politicians who opposed him. Although Stark had some help in rising to fame, he rose largely by his own personal magnitude.

"This is a tremendous part," Howard commented, "I enjoy the role very much, even though it is an exhaustive one."

Stark has an undeniable drive. He can be both savage and tender almost in the same breath, Howard said. He is the champion of the common people, but corrupt, though in his corruptness he keeps an eye on the common man.

An illustration of this is one of Stark's lines, "Your hope is my strength. Your hope is my justification. Your need is my law. Your heart is my own."

Howard is now the novel "All the King's Men" quite extensively, while working on the play, he said.

The Ragpicker in "Madwoman of Chaillot" was Howard's most recent role. He also had the lead in the musical production of "Finian's Rainbow," played Ed Deveny in "Born Yesterday," and Gabby Sloan in the road show "Milky Way."

Howard is a senior in speech and, although he has been quite active in the theater, he is interested and well known in the radio-department.

"I think people will find the play very interesting," Howard concluded, "because of the completely different approach it takes to most of the plays done to date."

Students Use UO Loan Fund

By Tricia Lawrence

Did you ever wonder how much money is loaned out in a year from the University for student loans? It amounted to $180,000 last year, including summer session, and $50,000 last fall term. Last year 3600 loans were given to students and 1000 for fall term this year.

Where does all this money come from? There is a special fund set up for student loans and the money comes from gifts and contributions to this fund from persons who wish to contribute.

Students can borrow as much as $300 on a long term loan and $75 on a short term loan. There are exceptions to these maximum loan limits and they sometimes exceed $300 and $75.

The only requirements or qualifications for a student loan are that the student be enrolled in the University and have a GPA of 2.00 or better.

Reasons students list on applications for needing student loans are to buy books, pay fees, pay room and board and other financial necessities connected with college finance.

Hostess Candidates Are Former Students

Three former University of Oregon students and wives of present students are finalists in the annual Dad's Day hostess contest. They are Mrs. Gerry Moshofsky, Mrs. Cy Newman, and Mrs. Arthur Ingham. One of the three will be selected by student vote as Hostess for the Dad's Day weekend, February 2 and 3.

Mrs. Moshofsky, formerly Jane Carlisle, graduated last June from Oregon. She was a sociology major. The 5 foot 2 inch brunette is from Eugene. On campus she was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi. Her husband, Gerry, is a senior in economics and member of Alpha Tau Omega. He is from Beaverton.

Major interests of the 22 year old candidate range from fire arms (hunting and target practice) to cooking. According to her husband, her specialty is cake baking. While attending school Mrs. Moshofsky was active in various campus activities such as Homecoming and Junior Weekend. At the present time she is doing secretarial work at the Alumni office in the Student Union.

From History to Housewife

Close to being still in the classification of a newlywed, Mrs. Newman, formerly LaNelle Gay, switched from the role of a junior in history to being a housewife shortly before the beginning of winter term. She is now working as a secretary for Commercial Credit Plan, inc. while her husband, Cy, a senior in psychology, completes his studies.

Balboa Island, California was formerly the home of the 5 foot 1 inch, 21-year-old. Swimming is her favorite recreation along with learning to cook. On-campus she was a member of rally board and Associated Women students. She was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi. Cy is a member of Theta Chi.

Eugene Candidate

Another candidate whose hometown is Eugene is Mrs. Arthur Ingham, who was Isabel Leighty before marriage. She is a housewife with one child—an eight month old girl named Clyde, who is called "Boo."

The 5 foot 6 inch housewife was a member of Delta Gamma while attending school for two and one-half years. Her husband, Arthur, is a member of Sigma Chi. The 22-year-old brunette candidate was a major in art. At the present time her interests are "mainly the baby," but she also enjoys swimming, art and jazz music.

Shaw Theme Used In Sunday Movie

"Major Barbara," from a play by George Bernard Shaw, will be shown at 2:30 and 4:15 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union ballroom, under the sponsorship of the SU movie committee.

Rex Harrison, Wendy Hiller, Deborah Kerr, Robert Newton, and Emyln Williams are starred in the movie, which concerns Major Barbara, daughter of a multi-millionaire munitions manufacturer, who joins the Salvation Army.

While working, she meets a young intellectual trying to educate the poor with classics. The people, however, follow Major Barbara instead of the educator.

Shaw brings forth the "man of power" and the "man of intellect" in his satire on war and peace.

Admission price is 30 cents.

HELP! This boy's in danger

Last year 120,000 school-age children were injured or killed in traffic accidents. Many of these accidents could have been prevented if the drivers had learned to regard all youngsters as human caution signs.

Remember this whenever you drive near a school or playground. Slow down so you can stop in an instant. You never know when a child may decide to dash out from between parked cars.

Be careful—the child you save may be your own!
