Western Europe And Communism Lecture Tonight

Communism, in western Europe is the topic of tonight's browsing room lecture at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

The lecturer is Gordon Wright, acting head of the history department, who spent nine months last year studying in western Europe. He toured England, Italy, Germany, Austria, and did special research work in France where he observed the political and social life of the French peasant.

"Communism in western Europe is concentrated in France and Italy and the mass movement there is stronger than in any other region outside of the Communist dominated world," Wright said.

From his observations last year, Wright will indicate what he believes are the main sources of Communist strength in France and Italy, what prospects the Communists have in gaining more power and how Communist strength may be reduced in the countries of Western Europe.

Wright has been on the University faculty since 1939. He holds a Ph.D. from Stanford university. Charles Schleicher, professor of political science, will lead the discussion following the lecture.

Council Discusses Constitution, Cards

Points to be included into proposed class constitutions and class cards—similar to student body cards—were discussed at ASUO class council meeting Tuesday night.

Dick Williams, Student Union director, told council members that the only reason for class cards would be to raise money. He did not think that would be necessary, he explained, as classes had enough money now. Previously members had considered a possible basis on which a student could be considered members of one class or another.

The four points suggested for constitutions included:

1. Succession of officers
2. Main class functions
3. Duties of class officers and
4. Freshman representation (freshman constitution only).

It was decided that class representatives would move up in the event that the presidency or vice-presidency of a class was vacated. Then petitions would be called for to replace the representative.

Main function of each class was decided to be, for the sophomores, the Sophomore Whiskerino, the juniors, the Junior Prom, and the seniors, the Senior Ball.

The president of each class, whose duties are to be defined, will delegate the duties of secretary and treasurer to the two representatives.

And concerning freshman representation before winter term elections, it was decided that the presidents of the freshman dormitories would elect two representatives, one man and one woman, to sit on the council. The ASUO constitution stipulates freshman elections must be held after the first and before the fifth week of winter term.

33 Cents Lost By Government In Returning 1

DALLAS, Tex.—(U.P.)—It cost the government 33 cents, not including the paper work, to send former marine S/Sgt. Robert H. Adams a penny he left in Tokyo in September, 1950.

Adams said he left his seabag in Tokyo when he left for the invasion at Inchon, Korea. His seabag was returned here yesterday.

He also received, by registered mail, an envelope containing a check for one cent. Adams had left a penny in the seabag.

It cost the government 30 cents to mail the check, 11 carbon copies of a letter of explanation, and the envelope contained a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it for him to return a receipt.

Sunshine Tuesday, Clouds Today

The spring-like sunshine which sent students off on picnics Tuesday will disappear today, the U.S. weather station at Mahlon-Sweet airport reported.

The bureau predicted increasing cloudiness and rain tonight.

Temperatures rose to shirt-sleeve levels Tuesday with a recorded high of 61 degrees. The good weather prevailed throughout the Willamette valley and northern sections of the coast. Temperatures on the coast were about 50 degrees.

The high pressure area which gave Eugene clear skies for the first time in a number of days, is fated to depart today, the weatherman said. A storm, now 200 miles off the coast, is expected to arrive over Eugene within the next two days.

'Theater Then, Now' Drama Topic For Conference Opening Thursday

"The Theater, Then and Now" will be the topic of the annual Northwest Drama conference when it convenes Thursday.

Sawyer Falk, head of the drama department at Syracuse university, Syracuse, N.Y., will be the main speaker at the conference. Falk has been president of the National theater conference for eight years and was temporary chairman of the first National theater assembly, assisting in the reorganization of that group. He recently returned from a trip to Europe, where he studied and lectured at several English universities.

Thursday registration will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The first general session will last from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Thursday.

Friday morning the session chairmen and secretaries will meet for a breakfast session.

Sectional Meetings
From 9:30 to 12 a.m. Friday, sectional meetings will be held. Alanson B. Davies, University of Washington, will be chairman of the technical section. Business and promotion will be directed by J. Fenton McKenna, San Francisco State college.

A. C. Hingston, Pacific university, will handle the section on directing and acting. The playwriting and dramatic criticism section will be under the direction of S. N. Karchner, University of Oregon.

Falk will give his principal address at 2 p.m. Friday, followed by a business meeting.

Sweetland Talk On Truman Set For Coffee Hour

Monroe Sweetland, Oregon Democratic national committee member who recently returned from a political trip to Washington, D.C., will be guest of honor at a "talk about Truman" coffee hour at 7 p.m. today in the Student Union.

Students and faculty will have an opportunity to quiz Sweetland on the present political situation. In the past few weeks Sweetland

Preceding the coffee hour the Young Democrats will hold a short business meeting with students and faculty invited to attend.

Arena to Present Mills Brothers

Recently returned from a tour in Europe, the quartet will come to Eugene directly from Los Angeles. Following Saturday's performance the singing group will appear in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Tickets for Saturday night are $1.75 per person for general admission; $2.25 for reserved seats.

Between shows Bill Riley's orchestra will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Race Information Given Eugene Maintenance Dept.

Eugene City Manager Oren L. King said Tuesday he had passed on information given him in ASUO senate Thursday concerning the Millrace to the city maintenance department.

He said work on the race had probably already begun and he repeated his statement that more water probably could be made to flow in it.

He told senators the city would have to experiment with the water for about 30 days. He thought the 30 inch outfall pipe at the tail end of the race might have become clogged up, admitting however, that "we will never be able to make the Millrace flow like it once did."

Construction along the waterway during the past two years was perhaps one reason for its bad behavior, he explained. With the last building completed now, he thought the situation might improve.

Senators questioned him about the $20,000 bond issue passed by Eugene voters. He told them it had first been thought it would take $40,000 to repair the Millrace, damaged by floods shortly after the war.

But the funds donated by students, alumni and townspeople, which totaled about $24,000 had done the job, he explained. The bond issue was not sold.

King described plans for the proposed Millrace park as "beautiful" and said that they fitted into ideas other organizations in the city had

JIFC Lacks Quorum, Business Items Talked

Several items of business were discussed by the Junior Inter-fraternity council Tuesday night, although not enough members were present to constitute a quorum.

Pete Williams, secretary, told the group that Dave Rodway had asked JIFC's act as clean-up committee for the Senior ball. The matter was discussed and Bill Schuppel, president, appointed Williams to look into the matter further and report next meeting.

It was brought out that the JIFC's present constitution is inadequate for present needs and it should be revised. Schuppel appointed Bob Bosworth, vice president, to assist him in drawing up a new constitution.

Schuppel asked for two ushers for each night to handle the Knot-hole club at the Idaho games. A pledge from Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Phi Epsilon will usher Friday night and a pledge from Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Psi Saturday night.

The next meeting of JIFC will be held at the Beta Theta Pi house on Feb. 19, Schuppel said.

Illinois Proposal Will Go to PT&T In a 'Few Days'

A proposal asking the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph to adopt the Illinois plan should be in the hands of the company "within a few days," Dick Kading, Oregon phone committee chairman has stated.

Oregon, Oregon State college and perhaps Willamette University will make the request, Kading said. The plan, in effect at the University of Illinois, provides for regular flat-rate business phones in officially-recognized living organizations. These include fraternities, sororities and co-ops.

Dick Kading explained that a lawyer retained by OSC is drafting the proposal to be presented to the company.

Plan Before Protest
A formal protest will not be lodged with the Public Utilities commission until this alternate plan has been presented to the phone company.

If the company turns down the plan, then the schools will make a joint protest, which will entail a formal hearing before the PUC, he said. The commission would decide what course should be followed by the telephone company.

The Illinois proposal would request business phones only for fraternities, sororities, and co-ops, Kading pointed out. If this plan is put into effect, the administrations of both UO and OSC have indicated that they would ask for similar service in dormitories operated by the schools.

Chances Good
University of Oregon officials have said that they feel private organizations have a "good chance" to get rid of pay phones. They told the ASUO senate recently that they did not request that pay phones be installed in University dormitories, as was the case at OSC.

The telephone company has made no further proposals since the now-rejected intra-campus exchange was offered as a compromise. The PT&T put the intra-campus exchange plan forth as the only alternative it saw to pay telephones, Kading said.

KWAX, Theater Robbed Monday

Radio station KWAX is keeping time by a single clock on the wall and actors at the University theater have been going without the after-performance snacks as a result to petty burglaries Monday night.

Three juveniles, police said, were known to have taken small change from the dressing room of the University theater during a performance of "All the King's Men." One boy was found that night by a detective. Taken from the radio station were two stopwatches and a stapler.

Missing money after the show were Joanne Forbes, LaRue Daniel, Betsy Thayer, Robert Baker and Martha Stapleton.

The Police department said the boy who was apprehended had agreed to pay back his share of the money. The youthful trio apparently split up their findings.

The boys were seen and recognized in the vicinity at the time of the burglaries, the department said, and a detective was able to find one of them the same night. The two others, it said, had not yet been found. All three youngsters have previous records, police said.
