Communists Accused of Stalling In Korean Truce Discussions

Compiled by Leonard Calvert

(From the wires of the United Press and Associated Press)

The stage is set for a possible truce in Korea, but the United Nations command said the Communists are stalling. The charges were made by the command in a broadcast of "Voice of the U.N. Command" Tuesday. The broadcast accused the Reds of stalling in the talks on a Korean peace conference with the objective of trying to drag in a "variety of problems into future Korean talks."

Meanwhile, about 430 Communist troops attacked U.N. lines on the eastern front. It is estimated that 96 Reds were killed and 130 wounded in the attack. The action was the heaviest of the day.

Mourning Englishmen filed past . . .

. . . the coffin of King George VI at the rate of 6000 an hour as the dead king lies in state in Westminster hall. He lies in state for two more days before being taken to St. George's chapel at Windsor castle for the funeral Friday. Meanwhile the Belgian Parliament censured the government for not sending King Baudouin in person to London to attend the funeral. The King's brother, Prince Albert, was sent as Belgium's special envoy. Premier Jean Van Houtte said that the decision was purely technical, stemming from matters of royal protocol.

Taft claimed a victory . . .

. . . in Oklahoma Tuesday when the results of the state GOP convention gave Taft a 6-5 edge over Eisenhower. Taft forces were jubilant and predicted that they would do even better in Pennsylvania, but the Eisenhower forces refused to be dismayed by the results. In Oregon, Democratic leaders who entered Eisenhower's name last summer as a Democrat, want to withdraw it from the primary election, to save the General any embarrassment since he has since declared himself a Republican.

Truman says . . .

. . . that he will be a candidate for re-election if it will help speed world peace. Representative Adolph Sabath (D-Ill.) said that the President told him he would run again if it would help bring about peace, but Sabath said Mr. Truman also offered several reasons why he should not run again.

A conference was called . . .

. . . to discuss the three plane crashes in two months at Elizabeth, N.J. The conference was arranged by Governors Dewey and Driscoll of New York and New Jersey respectively, between airlines officials and the operators of Newark airport. Civil aeronautics board authorities had already begun an on-the-spot investigation of the crashes. The airport has been closed indefinitely after the fourth crash.

Egypt will organize . . .

. . . and train youths in a national movement to "fulfill the country's aims" Premier Aly Maher Pasha announced Tuesday in a surprise cabinet meeting. The move is regarded as a reversal by Maher who took office with a pledge to maintain law and order after bloody anti-British rioting.

Church leaders testified . . .

. . . against universal military training Tuesday at the hearing being conducted by the Senate armed services committee. They argued UMT would lead to militarism, moral decay and "economic slavery." Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ore.-R) scoffed at the idea that it would endanger young men's morals. He said that 18 year-olds can find as much temptation on the campus as in the camps.

Ellis Arnall was approved . . .

. . . as the new price stabilizer by a unanimous vote of the Senate banking committee. Ellis Arnall was formerly governor of Georgia. Arnall told the committee "that generally speaking we want as little control as possible," but that "we must not hasten headlong into de-control."

Mrs. George Davis denied . . .

. . . that her husband, Maj. George Davis, Korean jet ace, wanted to stay in Korea. Mrs. Davis said that recent dispatches from Korea saying that her husband requested to stay in Korea were a "lie." She said that Davis also told her that American Sabre jets are inferior to Russian MIGS. "Just a few thousand more pounds of thrust would solve the main problem," Mrs. Davis quoted her husband as saying.

A counter-offensive against . . .

. . . Sen. Joseph McCarthy was launched Tuesday by the state department. The head of the department's loyalty program accused the Wisconsin senator of using "rumor, invention, half-truths and no truths at all to smear innocent people." Brig. Gen. Conrad Snow delivered the attack in an address before the Federal club in Washington. He said that he is confident that there are "no known Communists" in the state department at the present time and asked for "confidence" in the department's loyalty program.

A protest against Russia . . .

. . . was voiced by Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Allied supreme commander, in Tokyo Tuesday about the Russian seizing of a Japanese fishing boat off the island of Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island. Ridgway in a note to the Soviet member of the Allied council of Japan, demanded that such seizures "cease forthwith." He also demanded the immediate release of all fishing craft and crews now held by the Russians.

THEY'RE both good basketball players. But if we were to judge them the way we judge telephone equipment, we'd take the small one.

You see, telephone equipment occupies valuable space, uses costly materials. Paring down its size helps keep down the cost of telephone service.

Take voice amplifiers, for example. Telephone engineers put the squeeze on size, came up with a new small type. When 600 of these new amplifiers are mounted on a frame two feet wide and eleven feet high, they do a job which once required a roomful of equipment. Size was cut—but not performance!

This is one of many cases where the Bell System has made big things small to help keep the cost of telephone service low.
