

Grad Reported Killed in Korea

Eric Mathews, Oregon graduate in radio last year, has been reported killed in action in the Korean area.

Mathews, who graduated in June and went into the United States naval reserve, was with the First Marine Division in Korea. He was a hospital corpsman, third class, at the time of the reported death, Jan. 25.

While at Oregon Mathews was a member of Kappa Rho Omicron, radio honorary, played several University theater parts and was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

WRA Carnival Meeting Tuesday

House representatives for the Women's Recreation association Carnival, to be held Feb. 29, will meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the Student Union. All living organizations must have a representative present at this meeting in order to be eligible to participate.

Barbara Keelan, chairman of booths, will designate rules for booths and state the basis for judging. House pairings will also be decided upon. Representatives are asked by WRA to submit their ideas for individual booths, so there will be less chance of duplication.

"Dogpatch" has been chosen as the carnival theme, according to Joann Jacobs, co-chairman. All decorations and booths will be centered around this theme.

Scabbard, Blade Initiates 25 Men

Twenty-four men were initiated into Scabbard and Blade last week. They are Gerald Anderson, Alan Babb, Jack Byers, Don Collins, Don Denning, Rogers Dockstader, Wallace Early, John Fraunfelder, John Gamiles, John Gill, Dave Karr, John Kerns, Henry Kiura.

Harlan Mickey, Bill Mikkelson, Harold Neufeld, Leo Nuttman, John Pyle, Roger Reynolds, Garret Romaine, Don Schmidt, George Troch, Bill Tuck and Thomas Whitson.

Law Students Have Observed Honor System for Past 15 Years

Not a single student has been convicted of violating the school of law honor system during approximately the past 15 years, Dean Orlando J. Hollis of that school stated Thursday afternoon.

ORLANDO J. HOLLIS

He added that there is a "general assumption" that conviction for cheating would automatically mean expulsion from the school.

Under the law school honor system, which has been in operation for at least 30 years, according to Dean Hollis, students taking examinations may leave the room and move freely throughout the building although they may not go into private rooms.

They may take test questions from the room, but they may not remove their answer sheets or books. The major purpose of the latter provision, Dean Hollis explained, is to prevent the loss of answer papers.

Although some honor systems include a provision for a signed statement on the test paper asserting that the student did not cheat, the law school system does not, according to the dean.

Asked if he favors the system, he replied, "I most assuredly do."

Hollis spoke to the ASUO senate honor code committee on the subject of the law school honor system last Thursday.

He added that objective tests are rarely given in the school. The regular law school examinations, he stated, are not of a nature that would lend themselves to cheating, and it would be "extremely" difficult for a student to cheat successfully.

Hoover Dam, near Las Vegas, Nev., is the highest in the world.

Inquiring Reporter Most Students Interviewed Like 'Squeeze' Idea

By Laura Sturges

Nearly all students questioned thought the "Lemon-Orange Squeeze," held Saturday night after the Oregon-Oregon State basketball game, was a good idea.

Although seven students said they hadn't attended the mixer, they thought that the dance helped to promote better relations between the schools.

Joeline Gray — freshman in liberal arts—"As far as I know, it's a good idea, but since I wasn't there, I'm not prepared to answer your question."

Harriet Oliver — junior in elementary education—"I definitely think it's a good idea towards promoting better relations between the two schools. However, if it were held in the "fishbowl" instead of the ballroom, I believe it would make a more informal atmosphere and the students could mix better."

Bill Lee — senior in political science — "I think the question stinks."

Nancy Gilbert — freshman in business—"I think it's a good idea, so that the students can get to know each other. I didn't go, though."

Don Pedersen — junior in business—"I didn't go to it, but it might help to cut down the rival feeling between the students."

Joyce Crawford — freshman in liberal arts—"It was a dance? When I first heard about it, I thought it was a new kind of drink."

Art Moshofsky — senior in business—"I didn't attend but it sounds like a good idea to me. I imagine it does away with some of the rivalry and hard feelings."

Jane Knecht — junior in business—"Although I didn't attend, I feel that a dance like this would bring the two schools somewhat closer. It lessens the blow to Oregon State for their defeat."

Joe Malango — sophomore in speech—"It is one of the best ideas they could have. It helps improve the rivalry feeling between the schools. During the game there is the booing and yelling, and the dance afterwards helps to smooth over the rivalries."

Sonny Schick — senior in business—"I didn't go, but it is a good idea. There should be more girls there."

Adele Summers — sophomore in education—"I think it was a very good idea. It's a good way for the students from Oregon and Oregon State to get together."

Listening In ... On KWAX

- Monday
- 5:00 p.m. Piano Moods
- 5:15 Guest Star
- 5:30 World News
- 5:45 Sports Shots
- 6:00 Table Hopping
- 6:15 Music in the Air
- 6:30 The People Act
- 7:00 America and the World
- 7:30 Music from Villard
- 7:45 Masterworks Series
- 8:00 Basketball
- 9:00 Serenade to the Student
- 10:00 Anything Goes
- 10:45 Emerald of the Air
- 10:50 World News
- 10:55 Tune to Say Goodnight
- 11:00 Sign Off

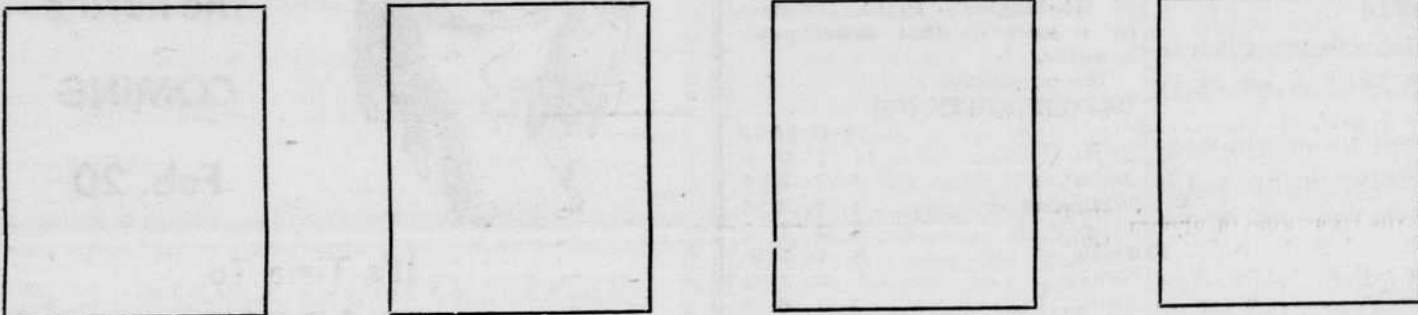

UO Mortar Board Hostesses to OSC

Members of the Oregon State college chapter of Mortar Board, national senior women's honorary, were guests of the Oregon chapter Saturday evening in Eugene.

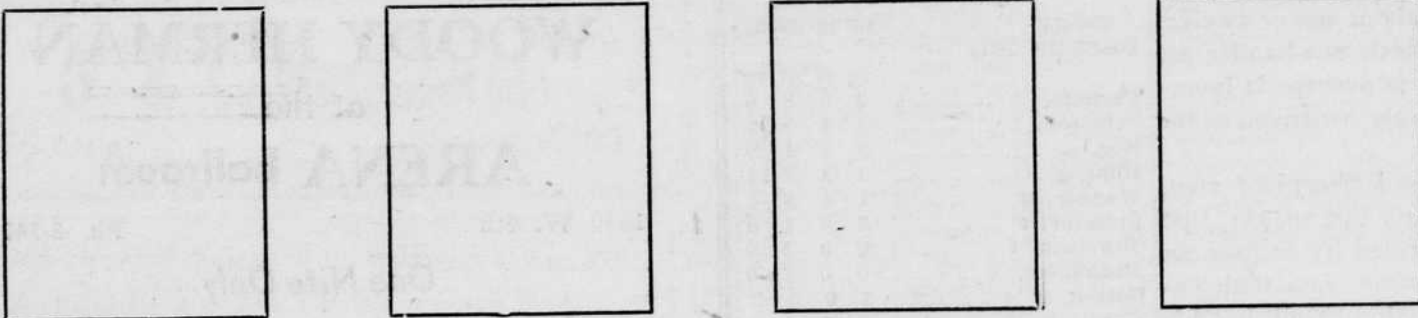

Oregon Mortar Board women cooked and served a dinner for their OSC guests at the YWCA in Gerlinger hall, after which the two groups attended the Oregon-Oregon State basketball in McArthur court.

Official
U of O RINGS
 are now on display
 At the
ALUMNI OFFICE
 Mezzanine, Student Union

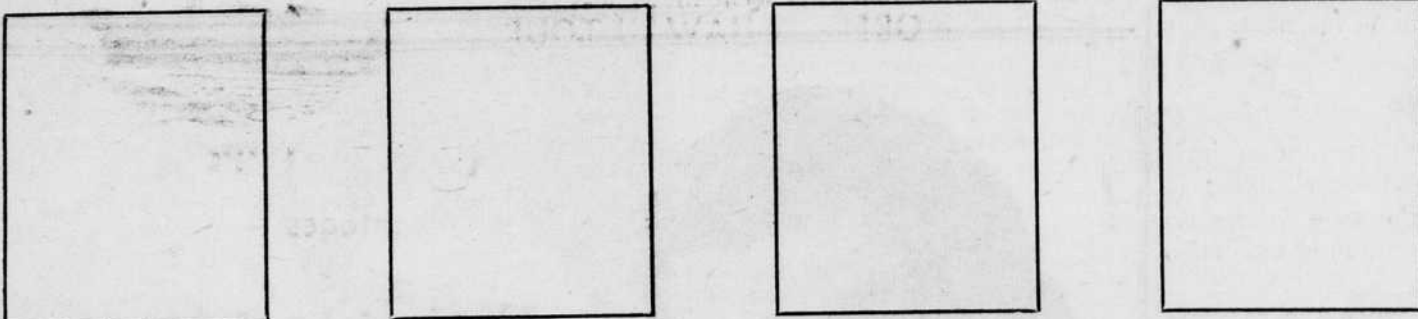

Officially adopted by the ASUO and Alumni Association, these rings are manufactured by the L. G. Balfour Co. A variety of stones are offered in 10k gold or sterling settings. Fraternity crests or letters may also be added. Initials and class engraved free. Prices start at $15.75.

Why spend your time driving all over town looking for what you want at the price you can pay?

Know where you're going before you leave home

What's more valuable than knowing which merchants have what merchandise... before you even leave home? That's just what the EMERALD can do for you. EMERALD advertisers are aware that students are busy people... that they appreciate tips on merchandise and prices. That's why, when you're ready for shopping, it pays to deal with those businesses which are really interested in helping YOU.

