Senate Agrees On Wednesday For Voting On Alaska Statehood

Compiled by Mary Ann Mowery

(Compiled from the wires of Associated Press and United Press)

Then senate agreed Wednesday to vote on Alaska statehood next Wednesday. Meanwhile, Sen. George A. Smthers (D-Fla.) filed a motion to send the bill back to committee for further hearings. Under his motion the committee would be asked to study a proposal by Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) that Alaska and Hawaii be given "commonwealth" status somewhere between statehood and territorial standing.

Democratic leader Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona said both sides in the statehood fight had agreed to end the argument which already has tied up the senate for more than two weeks.

The first time agreeable to all hands was next Wednesday, when final debate will be limited to two hours for each side.

Smthers agreed to amend his recommittal motion to include study of Monroney's "commonwealth" plan, which would require a constitutional amendment.

The 14 North Atlantic treaty powers . . .

... met Wednesday in Lisbon, Portugal to approve the rearmament of Western Germany and speed the creation of a 1,400,000-man European army.

The prospects for success at the crucial ninth NATO conference were so bright that U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson made plans to leave Lisbon Sunday—a week ahead of schedule.

The most important work of the conference actually has been done in London, where the Big Three foreign ministers worked out a compromise formula with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenaur to bring West Germany into the projected European army.

Rearmed German units would fight in the supra-national European army alongside contingents from France, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Italy. The European army in turn would join U.S., Canadian, British, Turkish, Greek, Portuguese, Norwegian, Danish and Icelandic forces under the supreme NATO command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

United Nation negotiators . . .

... rejected for the first straight day Wednesday a "bobby-trapped" Red attempt to name Russia a "neutral" in the Korean war.

Of the three remaining major issues blocking quick peace in Korea, Red insistence on naming Russia as one of six neutral supervisors to enforce the peace was the only one which brooked no compromise. Both the questions of repatriation of war prisoners and construction of Red airfields can be settled, U.N. negotiators believed.

The Allies rejected Russia on the ground that, although not fighting Korea, Russia is a "sponsor" of both Red China and North Korea.

American battle casualties . . .

... in Korea now total 105,841, an increase of 333 over last week's report, the defense department said Wednesday.

The figures represent total casualties from the beginning of the Korean war whose next of kin have been notified through last Friday. The number includes 18,347 deaths, 75,068 wounded, 10,042 missing, 995 captured and 1,389 previously mission but returned to service.

The first U.S. Marine draftees . . .

... to enter a combat zone since World War II landed today in the biggest batch of Marine replacements yet sent to Korea.

The 900 leathernecks, nearly half of them conscripts, marched off the transport Gen. William Wiegell at an east Korean port in sub-freezing weather as the sun shone brilliantly on the snow-covered ground.

A 'strong' earthquake . . .

... centered between 20 and 30 miles northeast of Victoria, B.C. was recorded Wednesday by the Dominion Astrophysical observatory.

A scientist at the observatory said the quake apparently was centered in the San Juan island group in the Georgia Straits.

Officials said the quake, which shook windows and knocked dishes from shelves, was "about three on the scale of intensity from one to 10. It was described as the most intense quake felt in the Victoria district since August, 1949.

CIO shipyard workers . . .

... in New York voted 50 to 1 to empower their officers to call a strike Mar. 1 against eight east coast shipyards of the Bethlehem Steel company if contract negotiations are not concluded successfully, the union announced Wednesday.

The union has asked a 20-cent wage increase and other benefits in contract talks which began early in December and resumed, after a long adjournment, on Feb. 15.

Two Portland aliens . . .

... and one from Seattle were ordered deported today in Seattle, Wash. on charges they are or were members of the Communist party, District Emmigration Director John P. Boyd said. Casimiro Bueno Absolor, 46, Portland cannery worker; John L. Stenson, 67, Portland, and Pocieno Mendoza Torres, 47, Seattle, were ordered deported from the country after the finding of their hearings were upheld Wednesday by the national immigration and naturalization board in Washington, D.C., Boyd said.

Boyd said Absolor and Torres were natives and citizens of the Philippine Islands. He said Stenson was a citizen of Norway.

Exine Anderson To Give Concert

Exine Anderson, assistant professor of music, will present a soprano concert at 8 p.m. tonight at the School of Music auditorium. A former member of the Metropolitan Opera, Miss Anderson began teaching voice students at Oregon this year.

The recital will consist of classical, oratoria and contemporary numbers. Stacey Green, associate professor of piano, will accompany the soprano.

This is not Miss Anderson's first appearance at Oregon. She appeared with the Symphony orchestra in a program presented last fall. Miss Anderson will also be singing with the Eugene Gleemen next Tuesday.

The Friends of New Music in Portland will hear her in the near future, accompanied by Henri Arcand who recently gave a concert here. She will perform the Hindemith "Das Marienleben" cycle then.

Miss Anderson's concert tonight will consist of Bach's "St. Matthew Passion," first the recitative, "Although both heart and eyes overflow" and then the aria "Lord to Thee I proffer"; Max Bruch's cantata, "Cross of Fire," the aria "Ave Maria"; Johannes Brahms' "O Wuesst ich dock den Weg zuruech"; Joseph Marx's "Und gestern hat er mir Rasen gebracht" and "Selige Nacht"; and Richard Strauss's "Caecilie," in the first and second groups.

The second half of the program will be devoted to French and contemporary groups including Poulenc's "Deux Pomes," ("C" and "Fetes Galantes") and his "Bleuet"; Victor Staub's "L'Heure Delicieuse"; Gustav Klemm's "London Rain"; John Alden Carpenter's "When I Bring You Coloured Toys"; and Richard Hageman's "Miranda" and "Music I Heard with You."

UO Students Urged to Contribute Creative Work for May Workshop

Creative work of all types is being accepted now for the creative art exhibit and stage show to be held May 9 through 16.

For the second time this year the creative ability of students on the campus will be brought to public attention through the program known as the "Campus Workshop."

An art exhibit of student work will be shown in the Student Union art gallery and in the browsing room throughout Junior Weekend. For this exhibit students may enter poetry, short stories, private book collections, ceramics, sculpture, painting, drawings, architecture, weaving, printing and photography.

Stage Show in May

On May 16, a stage show is to be presented in the Student Union ballroom featuring the outstanding selections from students works submitted in these categories: one-act play, original songs, musical compositions and interpretive dance.

Both the art exhibit and stage show will be open to the public.

Orville Colver, general chairman and head of the SU browsing room committee, who sponsor the event, states that the "workshop" program is designed to aid the student with his work up until the deadline on May 2 of spring term.

Work Must Be Original

Entry material may be submitted at any time for suggestion and criticisms. "We want to produce a good finished program and it will require much working over," Colver said.

All work must be original. Students who plan to participate may submit their names now to the browsing room librarian, Bernice Rise. Entries will be accepted until May 2.

The committees assisting Colver include: Donna Covalt, art exhibit; Los Frolen and Jim Albertson, browsing room exhibit; Lloyd Hanson, stage show; Catherine Black and Dave Barney, literature; Jerry Pearce, drama; Roscoe Wright and Nona Silva, publicity.
