Majority Say Magazine Will Encourage Talent

By Jean Lewis

Six of ten students interviewed by the Inquiring Reporter Wednesday liked the idea of a campus literary magazine because it would encourage student talent to express itself.

Four students have petitioned the publications board for permission to establish such a magazine.

Connie Perkins—sophomore in pre-nursing—"I think it would be a good idea if it would encourage individual writing and cause interest."

Ione Scott—freshman in liberal arts—"I don't know. It's a good idea if students would buy them, but I don't think they would."

Katherine Cheng—graduate in history—"I think it would be a very good idea and it's good practice for students."

Kathleen Harris—freshman in music—"I think it would be a good idea. They had one at the college I went to before and it was successful. It would give students an opportunity to express their creative ideas."

Barbara Rubin—sophomore in liberal arts—"I don't know too much about it."

Joanne Lewis—senior in creative writing—"I think it's a good idea as it will give talented people like me a chance to become recognized."

Fenton Butler—senior in psychology—"It's alright if anyone's interested. It's okay for literature and creative writing students but I doubt if it would hold much interest for anyone else."

Alex Byler—freshman in pre-law—"I haven't thought much of it. I think it would be a good thing as it would be education for the students."

Joyce Willaby—freshman in liberal arts—"I don't care one way or the other as I don't write poetry."

Albert Leinbach—special student in education—"I think it's a good idea because it will be an outlet for some creative writing and probably encourage some writing that might not otherwise be done."

Bowling Movies

Free bowling movies are being shown throughout this week in room 11 of the Student Union. There are two showings daily at 4 and 7 p.m.

Women's Campus Groups to Hold Voting Wednesday

Election of officers for the three campus women's organizations, Associated Women students, YWCA and Women's Recreational association, will be held Wednesday.

Introduction of candidates will be at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday in Gerlinger. Nominations may be made from the floor at that time. The polls will open downstairs in Gerlinger at 12:30 p.m., remaining open until 6 p.m.

A style show will be presented by Russell's, Eugene department store, at 4 p.m. in alumni hall with clothes modeled by Oregon students.

Co-op Elections Set March 3

Coed co-op council elections will take place Mar. 3, it has been announced. Old and new council members will meet jointly for the year's last meeting Mar. 10.

The co-ops' annual rummage sale is scheduled for Feb. 29. Collections are now being made for articles for the sale. Proceeds from the sale go to the Janet Smith scholarship fund.

A tentative all co-op house meeting in the Student Union is planned for Monday.

UO-Civil Service Workers to Get SU Faculty Cards

Civil service employes of the University of Oregon and of the state board of higher education residing in Eugene may now apply for Faculty Student Union cards, according to Ralph Hillier, SU board chairman.

The 373 cards, issued Monday to faculty and resident officials of the state board (officials of academic rank residing in Eugene) will give holders the same privileges students now have for SU board-sponsored functions. These include activities, as for example the Marine Band concert held here this fall and the coming John Crown concert, for which admission is charged.

"The cards were released because the board felt we were separating rather than uniting the interests of the campus... by discrepancies in rates," Hillier said. The card gives both the holder and his immediate family student privileges.

Civil service employes may apply for the cards at the main desk of the SU, Hillier said, by leaving their name and position. The cards which are issued at the beginning of each school year, will be issued following acceptance of the applications.

JIFC May Sponsor OSC Mixer Feb. 29

Possibility of sponsoring a mixer after the basketball game with Oregon state college a week from Friday was discussed Tuesday night by the Junior Interfraternity council.

Beta Theta Pi and Alpha Tau Omega volunteered for ushering in the Knothole club section at the game and Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Mu, Pi Kappa Alpha, ATO, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Psi and Sigma Chi volunteered for cleanup after the Senior Ball.

Proposed changes in the JIFC constitution will be voted on at the group's next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Chi Psi. Representatives of three-fourths of all houses must attend to make possible any changes, President Bill Schuppel said.

Pastor Goes Modern

WASHBURN, Wis. (U.P.)—The circuit-riding parson of yesteryear has returned with a station wagon instead of a horse.

The Rev. Charles E. Browne serves four northern Wisconsin counties from here as Methodist "mobile minister."

In his station wagon are a public address system, slide projector and screen, portable organ and altar, and hymn and prayer books.
