Taft-Ike Write-in Battle Reported; Nebraska, Wisconsin Vote Heavy

Compiled by Valera Vierra
(From the wires of the United Press and Associated Press)

Heavy voting was reported Tuesday after the polls opened in Nebraska and Wisconsin in the two important presidential primaries. In Wisconsin, where Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-Ohio) laid his presidential hopes on the line against former Minnesota Governor Harold Stassen and Governor Earl Warren of California, a record vote of 1 million was expected.

In Nebraska, scene of a "write-in" battle between Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, voting was reported "heavy" in the early hours, with some precincts reporting ballots cast at the rate of one per minute.

Stalin said, "No, . . ."

... it is not," in answer to the question: "Is a third world war closer now than two or three years ago?" The Russian premier's answer was relayed to a group of American editors in reply to a series of questions they had sent to him. His answers were relayed to the editors of W. I. Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Great Britain.

First spring atomic weapons . . .

... tests at Frenchman's Flat in Nevada were underway yesterday with an air drop that shot out flaming tentacles instead of the photo-bomb flash of earlier A-bomb weapons. The tentacles were hundreds of feet long, like the fingers shooting out from a phosphorous bomb explosion, and indicated the Atomic Energy commission had pulled a new trick out of its sleeve.

A Eugene jet pilot . . .

... Major Felix Asla, was officially credited with three communist MIG-15s downed and four damaged in some of the hottest aerial dog-fighting of the Korean war. If he can get two more down to his credit he can join the select circle that includes only eight other American pilots. Asla worked his way through the University of Oregon.

The United States civil service announces an examination for scientific illustrator and medical photographer for filling positions in the veteran administration medical installations throughout the country.

Salaries for these positions range from $3,410 to $5,060 and $2,950 to $4,205. Qualifications for scientific illustrator include three to five years of experience in creative art, part of which must have been in medical art work. They must also furnish a sample of their medical art work.

For medical photographer positions, applicants must have had from one to four years of experience in still or motion picture photographic work and medical photography. Substitution of education for experience is allowed for both positions. No written tests are required for these positions.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained in the graduate placement office, Emerald hall.

French Comedy To Open April 10

The annual French play, given by students of the foreign language department under the auspices of Pi Delta Phi, French honorary, will be presented beginning Thursday, April 10, and continuing through Saturday, April 12, in the Experimental theater in Villard hall.

The play, "Le Medecin Malgre Lui" (The Doctor in Spite of Himself) is a farce in three acts by Moliere, seventeenth century French playwright.

The leading role of the "doctor" will be played by David D. Eakin. The other characters, in order of their appearance on the stage, will be played by Coralie Nelson, Robert Lucas, Orville Colver, Rodney Calvert, Robert Luoma, Alice Garrigus, Catherine Black, William Wallace, James Blue and William Vibrans. A prologue will be given in English by R. D. Horn, professor of English.

Director of the production is Jean Guedent, assistant professor of romance languages. Adviser is Carl L. Johnson, associate professor of romance languages.

Evening performances will begin at 8 p.m., April 10, 11, and 12, and a matinee performance will be given at 4 p.m., Friday, April 11. An additional matinee performance will take place on Saturday, April 19, during the annual conference of the Northwest Association of Teachers of Foreign Languages, to be held this year in Eugene.

Tickets may be obtained from students and professors of the foreign language department and at the door of the theater. Admission price will be 50 cents.
