tials of life which involved political, social, cultural and economic reformation.

There have been gaps between the ideals and the actuality, Knoles admitted, but there has been a great degree of success in all of the fields. He especially felt the need for Japan to understand the cultural and intellectual aspects of American life.

Americans have been so noisy telling about their material ways of life and have been so silent about the spiritual aspects that foreigners are inclined to think they lack them or are ashamed of them, he said.

"We are willing to spend billions of dollars on weapons of destruction," he said, "but are penny-pinching when it comes to the education of the Japanese." This is what he feels should be emphasized.

Easter Sunday Sunrise Service Plans Announced

"Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" is the topic of the Easter message which will be presented by state Sen. Philip S. Hitchcock of Klamath Falls at the annual community Easter sunrise service at 6:30 a.m. April 13 in McArthur court.

Sen. Hitchcock, vice-president of the Oregon Council of Churches, graduated from Washington State college in 1926 and was president of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce in 1947.

The Sunrise service is sponsored jointly by the University of Oregon, the University Religious council and the Eugene Ministerial association. Ralph Adams, senior in general science, is general chairman for the event.

Committee chairmen include Natalie Beckett, sophomore in liberal arts, posters and programs; Virginia Means, sophomore in English, decorations; Mary Cochrane, junior in speech, speaker; Pat Hartley, junior in music, music; Tom Marlow, sophomore in physics, and Mary Baker, junior in business, arrangements; and Phil Johnson, junior in pre-law, publicity.

The group's adviser is E. M. Baldwin, associate professor of geology.

Posters will be delivered to downtown merchants by Boy Scouts of the First Christian church.

SU Slates 'Kimiko' For Sunday Film

"Kimiko," Japanese talking movie with English sub-titles, will be shown at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the Student Union ballroom, under the sponsorship of the SU movie committee.

The movie is based on "Two Wives," the novel by Minoru Nakano, and stars Sachiko Chiba as Kimiko, the modern business girl. Mikio Naruse, director, has modeled his technique of the French method of presenting a story, but in borrowing he has improved on the French style by having the various sequences follow each other in a more orderly continuity.

"Kimiko" shows a modern Japan. It shows Kimiko's home, a small apartment where Kimiko's mother writes poetry when in the mood. Mimiko's father has long since fled from even the vicinity of the Muse. There are humorous scenes of Japanese domestic life.

The Japanese production stresses the similarity of the East and West instead of the difference.

Admission price is 30 cents.

Sabine to Address Idaho Conference

Invited as a speaker to the fifth annual conference of the William Edgar Borah Foundation for the Outlawry of War at the University of Idaho is Dean Gordon Sabine of the journalism school.

Sabine, who will give one of four main addresses at the conference, will talk on "Public Opinion—How to Keep It Well Informed on World Affairs." The conference will be held at Idaho on April 8.

Littman Receives Ford Fellowship

Richard Littman, associate professor of psychology, has been awarded a Ford Foundation fellowship for the next school year the foundation has announced.

Littman will do work on the relationships between psychology and the other social sciences during his year which will be spent at the University of Michigan and at Harvard.

Four Oregon professors are currently studying under Ford Foundation fellowships. They are Ivan Nagy, political science; Jack Parsons, sociology; Francis Dart, physics; and Lloyd Sorenson, history.

Joseph Schuster Performs Tonight

gave 37 instead of the scheduled 18 concerts.

Schuster attributes his popularity to the fact that there are so few top-notch cellists that people don't realize the beauty of this instrument. Cello, he points out, takes twice as long as violin for the student to attain the needed proficiency, and therefore only a real lover of the instrument becomes skillful.

Schuster helps the cause by devoting a certain portion of his time to teaching advanced students. Several of his students have been appointed leading positions with symphony orchestras.

YWCA Leaders Appoint Officers

Barbara Swanson, Joan Lawson, Barbara Rubin, Sally Haseltine, Mary Bennette, Marilyn Patterson and Ancy Vincent.

Mary Wilson was appointed as vice-chairman of the sophomore cabinet to replace Sue Fuller, who will not be on campus spring term. Other chairmanships include Ann Hopkins, social; Laura Sturges, publicity; Jean Piercy and Jackie Jensen, membership; Ann Blackwell and Bobette Gilmore, counseling; Lois Reid, finance; Ginger Loudon and Barbara Tescher, service; Loewy Ann Charles, chaplain; and Rose Warner, Ernestine Fisk, Myrla Thomas and Miss Fuller, members-at-large.

Speech Contest Opens Friday

One hundred-fifty students from forty-two high schools are expected on campus this weekend for the Oregon high school speech league state contest which opens Friday.

The students participating are all winners in their respective district and are competing for state honors in the following nine events: debating, extemporaneous, discussion, humorous reading, impromptu, radio, poetry, persuasive and after dinner speaking.

A cup will be awarded in each division. The debate contest is divided into two divisions with two cups to be given, one for the "A" schools division winner (schools having an enrollment of 300 and over) and one for the winner of the "B" division (schools having less than 300 students enrolled).

A new debate trophy is being given this year by Dr. L. M. Hilt, Eugene physician and surgeon.

K. E. Montgomery, associate professor of speech, is the state executive secretary for the OHSSL. As secretary he is in charge of the contest on the campus. He is making arrangements for the men to be housed in the Vet's dorms, the one in sororities.

The OHSSL tournament alternates every year between Oregon and Oregon. The executive secretary remains permanently on the campus. OHSSL is sponsored by the general extension division.

Supporters Claim Victories

enhower's name, and reports some votes weren't counted because voters forgot to put an "X" before the write-in, made the total "remarkable."

In Nebraska there is a ruling that write-in votes must be spelled correctly.

Senator Estes Kefauver, running on the Democratic ticket, was victorious in both Nebraska and Wisconsin. In Nebraska he led his nearest opponent by over 14,000 votes. In Wisconsin Kefauver was ahead by huge margins. His next big test will be against Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois in the Oregon primary.
