Economic Scholars Plan UO Meeting

The western meetings of the Econometric society, the first to be held in the Northwest, will meet at the University June 19 through the 21.

The society is an international body of scholars devoted to the study of economic problems by quantitative and mathematical methods. The meetings here will be held concurrently with those of the Institute of Mathematical Statistics, the American Mathematical society, the Biometric society and the Mathematical Association of America.

Paul B. Simpson, associate professor of economics, is in charge of arrangements for the meetings of the Econometric society.

YMCA Sets Breakfast Date

The annual junior-senior breakfast, sponsored by the YWCA, will be held Sunday, from 9 to 10:30 a.m. in the Student Union. The theme selected for the event is "Elections and You in '52", according to Joan Cartozian, general chairman.

Tickets are on sale in the women's living organizations. Price of the breakfast is 85 cents, but tickets will be sold for 95 cents to cover cost. Money for the tickets may be turned in to the YWCA office in Gerlinger hall until 5 p.m. Wednesday.

It is traditional for all the junior women to escort the seniors and the housemother in their respective living organizations to the event.

The program for the breakfast is as follows:

Welcome, Joan Cartozian; grace, JoAnn Sloan; presentations, Jackie Wilkes, president of the YWCA; "On Our Own But Not Alone", Mary E. McDowell, executive secretary of the YWCA; "Elections and You in '52", Mrs. A. V. Logan, state president of the Women's League of Voters.

● A. L. Ellingson, counselor for men, has requested attendance of 11 freshman dormitory officers at a luncheon at John Straub hall Wednesday. The group will discuss plans for next year's freshman program.

● Freshman class committees are being set up for Duck Preview Weekend. They will include a flying speech promotion and poster committees.

Bob Glass, freshman class president, will speak at the Duck Preview luncheon to be held Sat., April 26. Tickets for the luncheon will be on sale in Freshman dormitories some time this week.

Board Rejuvenates SU Coffee Hours

A student coffee hour forum series, planned to regularize and increase attendance at coffee hours, is presently being devised by members of Student Union board.

Attendance at coffee hours has been surprisingly low due to "irregular scheduling and poor publicity," explained Alburey Castell, head of the philosophy department, who has been investigating the program. Under this plan guests and visiting lecturers would be presented at the forums, following a regular schedule.

These forums would be informal discussions and question-and-answer sessions.

At its last meeting the board passed a measure calling for a Coffee Hour Forum committee of seven voting and two ex officio non-voting members. This group would arrange for all speakers and handle technical arrangements.

Job Opportunities

Corinne Barre, assistant to the director of the Washington State personnel board will interview students today for job positions with the state of Washington. These jobs range from social work to accounting for different agencies of the state.

The United States Banking interviews originally scheduled for Thursday have been postponed until April 24. Students wishing to be interviewed by this concern may make appointments in the graduate placement office, Emerald hall.

The Lloyd Knutson service agency of Weyerhaeuser interests will be interviewing men today who are interested in accounting with accent on auditing. Appointments for interviews may be made in the graduate placement office, Emerald hall.

April 23, Robert Powell, general personnel manager for General Petroleum will be on campus looking for men for their accounting training program, wholesale sales, chemistry, office management and other fields within the company. Students wishing interviews may make appointments in the graduate placement office.

Sixty-eight per cent of Japan's eligible women voters cast votes in Japan's last general election.
