Orientation Set-up, Voting Mulled In Member-shy Senate Thursday

With little more than a quorum present, the ASUO senate spent its Thursday night meeting debating such varied topics as ballot boxes, freshman elections and the orientation-leadership training program.

The meeting, which started a few minutes late due to lack of a quorum, got underway with 22 senators present. A quorum necessary to do business is 20 of the 29 members.

A constitutional amendment to set the date of frosh elections during the fifth to eighth weeks of fall term was approved, and will be placed on the ASUO ballot. Two-thirds of the voters must approve the amendment for it to become effective.

Bill Frye presented a report of his committee which has been discussing his proposed orientation-leadership program—and, after a lengthy discussion, the report was adopted. Further action on establishing the program is up to the faculty.

The main points in the report on the course were:

- It would not be required
- It would not necessarily be taken for grade or credit

The question of woman freshman representation being assured in class offices and on the senate was brought up by Helen Jackson, who headed a committee studying the problem.

Miss Jackson pointed out that all the frosh officers this year are men, and said that the freshman women don't like it. Another lengthy discussion followed.

Finally, after the motion had failed once due to lack of the necessary three-fourths majority, the senate amended the bylaws as follows:

In the freshman class elections only, there shall be two ballots; one for president and vice-president, and one for representative. It was felt that this would solve the problem.

The Roll Call . . .

Present at the ASUO Senate meeting Thursday night were:

Absent: Jack Beyers, Dave Rodway, Arlo Giles, Jean Gould, Don Collin and Herb Cook.

During the evening, the senators also:

Voted to set up polling places in the Amazon and Skinner's Butte areas for the convenience of the married students living there. The newly-formed Associated Married Students organization had requested the action.

Approved an award, recommended by athletic director Leo Harris, to Jon Ontrud of the ski team. Athletic Chairman Jack Smith was instructed to find out from Harris why only one award was recommended.

Emerald Hall Gets Face Lifted

Get caught in the wrong line during registration?

The possibility of that happening again has been lessened by remodeling Emerald hall during winter term.

Spencer Carlson, director of admissions, said that it is hoped that the remodeling will provide greater coordination between the various offices. He hoped that the change will give the building a better appearance.

He said that the speed up in lines during registration would result from the change in the placement of the front counter in the registrar's office. The counter has been placed so that a person can see all the windows as he enters and will not have to wait in line to be routed.

Signs Put Up

Office and door signs have been put up throughout the building so as to eliminate confusion. Floor tiling was also installed in parts of the building during the remodeling.

No changes were made in the business office. It still occupies the east section of the front part of the hall.

The office of student affairs is housed on the upper floor in the front section. The main office of student affairs is in the east section with admissions and counseling in the west section. The back section of the building is occupied by the mathematics department.

A change in supervision also took place during the remodeling. Admissions and counseling are now under Carlson's supervision. Admissions was previously connected with the registrar's office.

The remodeling has been completed on the inside of the building with some outside work yet to be done.

Membership Cost Changed by Co-op

Membership in the University Co-op next year will cost twenty five cents—with no money returned—the Co-op board has decided.

The present method of membership is for each student to pay one dollar, the amount being returned at the end of the year.

The board agreed that this method, which involved mailing out one dollar checks, was a time consuming and expensive process and that the twenty five cent, no-return method, would be superior. This system is used at the Oregon State college co-op.

Child Cancer Toll Is 3,000 Annually

Cancer is least prevalent among the young, but nevertheless took the lives of approximately 3,000 children under 15 years of age last year.

GIVE TO CONQUER CANCER

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

The type of cancer which occurs most frequently in children is leukemia, a malignant growth of white cells in the blood. This caused more than 1,350 deaths in young boys and girls last year. Scientists are hopeful that current research in hormones may provide a method of controlling leukemia since unusually promising results have been obtained in a few cases.

Cancer has a tragic impact on young lives through the death of parents. Every year more than 60,000 children lose a father or mother to cancer.

Early detection and prompt treatment of cancer can reduce the deaths by one-third. Meanwhile, a multi-million dollar research program supported by contributions to the Cancer Crusade is seeking the causes of the disease and new cures.

Your dollars help guard your family. Strike back! Give to conquer cancer.
