Sigma, Cherney Halls Deadlock; Gammas, Theta Chi's Blank Victims

By Bob Summers

Aside from a three inning tie affair, most of the games in Intramural softball play Monday were decided by wide margins. In the only close games of the day Philadelphia house nosed out Kappa Sigma, 5-4 and Cherney hall came from behind to tie Sigma hall, 7-7.

In other games ATO stopped Campbell Club 7-2, Beta Theta Pi won over Chi Psi 12-0; Lambda Chi Alpha downed Phi Sigma Kappa 11-9, and Gamma hall dumped Alpha hall 10-0.

In the Kappa Sig-Philadelphia house fracas, the Phillies picked up two runs on three hits to come from behind in the last inning and win by a score of 5-4.

Sigma Barrage

Sigma hall batters opened up on Cherney pitcher Bob Hinman in the first inning with a four hit barrage that resulted in three runs. Cherney batters came right back with four hits and three runs in their half of the first inning and managed to pick up four more runs in the next two innings on three extra base blows. In the meantime Sigma hall also garnered four more runs to make the score a 7-7 tie which was the way the score stood at the end of the game.

Bob Altman's homer with two aboard and pitcher John Kottkamp's triple were the big blows for the winners as ATO defeated Campbell Club, 7-2. Kottkamp allowed Campbell Club only two hits while his mates banged out nine, four of them good for extra bases.

A White-wash

The Beta-Chi Psi tilt resulted in a 10-0 shutout win for the Betas with Tom Lyon, Jack Southworth and Al Mann contributing four-masters for the winners and Del Clemens pounding out a double for the losers.

Gamma hall beat Alpha hall 10-0 in a game which saw Gamma sluggers pick up all their runs in the first inning on five hits. Gamma pitcher Bart Deatherage gave up only two hits in recording his shutout.

The Lambda Chi Alpha-Phi Sigma Kappa game was a free-swinging affair as the two clubs banged out 18 hits for a combined total

Ducks Drill for Idaho

After having defeated Washington State twice to successfully open its Northern Division season, the Oregon baseball team went right back to work Monday.

The Idaho Vandals will invade Eugene Wednesday and Thursday for a two game series against the Ducks. The two games will start at 3:15 p.m.

Coach Don Kirsch put his squad through a snappy infield drill Monday, as well as a light hitting workout.

All the Duck pitchers took a turn on the mound during the workout. Some time was also spent on the bunting, which was poor during the WSC games.

When asked for his opinion on the Washington State series, Kirsch replied that he was "pleased with the team's performance in the first game."

"Although we had a bad day Saturday," he continued, "I was pleased that we had enough determination to come through and win."

"I was especially pleased with the performance of the players from the bench in the last part of Saturday's game. A team needs a strong bench for a winning season," he elaborated.

Kirsch also praised the efforts of sophomore hurler Don Siegmund, saying that Siegmund "turned in another good pitching job."

The young mentor continued, "I was also pleased with the hitting of Averill and Sugura in the last series." Both of the above named players hit well against WSC, Averill hitting two home runs in the first game of the two.

Casanova Directs Two-hour Workout

Coach Len Casanova sent his 50-man grid squad through a two-hour drill Monday afternoon on the practice field. The workout was the Ducks' sixth of the spring sessions; they are allowed 20 by the National Collegiate Athletic association.

Assistant coaches Jack Roche, Gene Harlow and Johnny McKay and helper Brad Ecklund, of the Dallas Rangers, carried out the heavy work. The Ducks have stressed offense since the beginning of the workouts, but will switch over to defensive tactics later this week.
