(Ed. Note: This is the second installment of the honor code report. The Emerald re-printed the first installment Monday.)

Members of the committee who collaborated on the report are Ar-olo Gilles, Francis Gillmore, Merv Hampton, John Bela, Al Karr, Marilyn Thompson, E. G. Ebbighausen and E. R. Bingham.)

Honor Pledges

Sign on Tests, At Registration

It is our recommendation that new students during registration sign an honor pledge to the effect that they will abide by the spirit and letter of the Oregon honor code.

We also recommend that an honor pledge be incorporated on and signed on all written work done for a grade. It is hoped that faculty members will cooperate by refusing to grade papers without said honor pledge and signature.

The registration and paper honor pledges shall not be regarded as having any legal or binding force upon the individual but shall serve mainly to remind students of the code of honor at Oregon.

Reporting Methods

Tap Pencil, Tell Court Member

Upon first detection of a violation, it shall be the responsibility of the detector to warn said violator by the brief but audible tapping of a pencil. This constitutes a warning to the violator.

The detector has available to him at least one of the following courses of action.

1. The detector may report to any member of the Student court his suspicion of a violation.

If this course of action is followed, it is recommended that a written report of the detector be filed with the Student court. The written report shall include at least the following: circumstances of the offense and names of detector and violator.

2. The detector may confront the violator personally with the fact that a suspected violation has occurred.

If this course of action is followed, the detector should remind the violator that he, himself, is to report his offense to any member of the Student court as soon as possible.

Two Days Leeway

At the end of two days the detector should check with the Student court to ascertain whether or not the violation has been reported. If not, the detector may report to any member of the Student court his suspicion of a violation.

If this course of action is followed, it is recommended that the written report of the detector be filed with the Student court. The written report shall include at least the following: circumstances of the offense and names of the detector and violator.

3. All suspected cases of cheating detected by or reported to faculty members shall be reported in full and in writing to the Student court.

This report may include the faculty member's recommendation concerning the disposition of the case. For example, he may recommend that the case be referred to him for counseling.

Recommendations submitted by the faculty member in question shall in no way be mandatory upon the Student court.

The names of the detector and violation shall at no time be disclosed to anyone outside the Student court. It shall be the personal obligation of the individual court members never to reveal to any outside source whatever the name or identity of the detector and/or violator.

It is recommended that the Student court report to each instructor at the end of each term the number of violations which occurred in his classes which have been adjudged guilty by the Student court.

Code, Court Committee

Will Orientate, Educate Students

The honor code and court committee shall be appointed by the ASUO president with the approval of a two-thirds majority of the ASUO senate.

The committee shall represent both senate and non-senate opinion; faculty and student. It is recommended that the principle of continuity be observed in the appointment of said committee.

The honor code and court committee shall be responsible for the honor code orientation program and for the honor code educational program carried on throughout the year. Also, this committee shall recommend the student members of the student court to the ASUO senate.

Appoint Spring Term

New members of the honor code and court committee shall be appointed spring term immediately after ASUO elections and by the outgoing president, and after the recommendation of the next Student court has been made.

The new members of the committee will work with the outgoing committee in the formation of the plans for fall term orientation.

The new committee will officially assume office on the last day of spring term finals.

The chairman of the Student court shall serve as advisory (non-voting) member of the honor code and court committee.

Student Court

Hears All Cases; Deans OK Names

The Student court shall hear all honor code cases and recommend disposition of cases to the student discipline committee through the office of student affairs. The Student court shall also carry on the functions delegated to it under Article V of the ASUO constitution.

The honor code and court committee shall recommend the new members of the student court to the ASUO senate within the first two weeks of each spring term. A two-thirds vote of the senate shall be required to approve the recommendation.

The honor code and court committee shall call for petitions to fill vacancies in the Student court. These petitions shall then be submitted to the deans of the various schools and the director of student affairs.

Deans to Recommend

The deans of the various schools and the director of student affairs (men's and women's affairs) will recommend to the honor code and court committee those among the petitioners that they deem eligible to hold office.

The deans of the various schools may submit to the honor code and court committee the names of any other students in their departments whom they feel capable, in addition to the petitioners that they choose to recommend.

The honor code and court committee shall recommend the members of the Student court, from among the petitions and recommendations received by the ASUO senate.

Seven students shall serve on the Student court. Their tenure will be for the duration of their undergraduate work.

By class, it shall be composed of one graduate student, three seniors, two juniors and one sophomore. The college of liberal arts and at least two professional schools shall be represented. Both sexes shall be represented.

It is recommended that when members of the Student court are chosen in 1952 that present members of that court as now constituted shall receive due consideration by the honor code and court committee.

The office of student affairs shall be represented on the student court in an ex-officio, non-voting capacity.

The chairman of the Student court shall be appointed by the ASUO president, taking into consideration the recommendation of the Student court.

One-year Term

The chairman shall be appointed for a one-year term at the close of each spring term. The chairman is not eligible to succeed himself as chairman. He shall have at least two terms of experience on the Student court.

A member of the Student court may not hold any elective office in the ASUO nor may he be an official or any campus political party. If a member of the Student court should become a candidate for such office, his resignation shall be automatic.

Vacancies occurring in the Student court will be filled in the regularly prescribed manner.

Each year the sophomore member will be advanced to one of the junior positions; the two junior members will be advanced to two of the senior positions. The graduate position may or may not be filled by one of the former senior members. The tenure of the graduate member is to be one year and this position must be filled by appointment or re-appointment each year.

New members shall observe at the meetings of the outgoing Student court for the remainder of the spring term. The new court will officially assume office on the last day of spring term finals.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 39...THE FLYCATCHER

"THEY HAD ME BACKED UP TO THE WALL!"

He's fast—he's smart—he covers ground—he's a real varsity outfielder! The 'quick-trick' cigarette mildness tests were almost too hot to handle, but he didn't make an error. He realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in slam-bang fashion. Millions of smokers throughout America know, too, there's a thorough way to judge cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...
