

World News Capsules Steel Workers Begin Walkout In Wake of Judge Pine's Decision

Compiled by Valera Vierra
(From the wires of the United Press)

Workers were leaving the nation's steel mills by the thousands Tuesday in response to CIO president Philip Murray's order to halt work. After Federal Judge David Pine handed down his momentous decision that President Truman's seizing of the steel industry was illegal, Murray said the union had no alternative but to strike. When the strike is complete, some 650,000 workers will be out. Murray said workers will strike until they get a contract based on the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization board. Three hours after the stop-work order was issued the shutdown was well under way for the second time this month.

An appeal to the Supreme Court . . .

. . . appears likely as government lawyers announced they would ask for a stay of Judge Pine's ruling from the U.S. court of appeals. This means that the government will try to hold onto the steel mills while the appeal is going through the courts.

Over the issue of daylight saving . . .

. . . time in Oregon, there is a big parting of the ways. Governor Douglas McKay ruled against setting the clocks ahead an hour, but Portland is going ahead anyhow. The city council passed a special measure calling for fast time this morning. This makes daylight saving unanimous among major cities along the Pacific Coast.

The nation-wide oil strike . . .

. . . set to start at midnight late night affects 100,000 union oil workers. The oil strike has been postponed three times since the beginning of March and union officials said this time they are going through with it—unless their wage demands were met. The union is convinced the strike will not interfere with national defense. Perhaps most of all, the oil strike will hit the civilian motorist.

An airliner has vanished . . .

. . . over the jungles of Brazil with 50 persons aboard. The Pan American airways plane was on a non-stop flight from Rio De Janeiro to Trinidad, enroute to New York. Nine crewmen and ten of the passengers are Americans. One of the biggest air-sea hunts in history is scoring the plane's route between Brazil and Trinidad.

In the Massachusetts primary . . .

. . . General Dwight Eisenhower took an early lead over Senator Robert Taft in a record vote. Eisenhower moved out in front on the basis of returns from rural Massachusetts areas. In the Democratic primary, Senator Estes Kefauver took an early lead, with Eisenhower and Taft also getting strong votes. All were write-in.

An attack by Soviet jet fighters . . .

. . . on a French commercial plane has brought on an exchange of charges between Western Allies and the Russians. The Soviet MIG's made the attack Tuesday morning as the French plane flew through the Allied air corridor on a flight from Frankfurt to Berlin. Four of the 17 persons were wounded by bullets from the Russian MIG's.

Logging halts in the Northwest . . .

. . . as more than 40,000 CIO woodworkers began a major walkout. Much of the fir and pine area of northern California, Oregon and Washington is affected. Workers are striking for a seven and a half cent pay increase, night pay differential, an employer-financed health and welfare fund and three more paid holidays.

Allied truce delegates are awaiting . . .

. . . a Communist answer to the latest secret proposal for reaching an armistice in Korea. The Reds have given no indication when they will reply. Air and ground action has been limited by bad weather. Allied pilots made a few attacks on Red rail lines and only a few patrol clashes were reported on the muddy east-central front.

Four more prison guards have resigned . . .

. . . their jobs at the Southern Michigan prison. This makes six guards who have quit following last week's prison riot in which one convict was killed and about a score of inmates and guards injured. Two of the guards who resigned today were among those who had been held hostage by the mutineers.

In Corvallis, fire destroyed . . .

. . . possibly one-third of the $1,000,000 Chapman manufacturing company plant Tuesday. Fire struck twice at the big concern. The first blaze reported at 5:36 a.m. was extinguished in an hour. At 8:44 a.m. another fire broke out and wasn't brought under control until 10:00 a.m.

Atomic tests have been postponed . . .

. . . for the second time due to cloudy and rainy weather over the Nevada desert. If conditions are clear, the nuclear blast will occur Thursday morning above the heads of 2100 Marines. They will be dug in on Yucca Flat within four miles of the blast center.
