

Seven Students Selected for Board; Names Given to Harry Newburn

Names of seven students who have been selected by the Student Union Board and the joint committee on membership selection for board selection have been submitted to University President Harry K. Newburn for approval following the Wednesday board meeting.

Pat Bellmer and Don Zavin have been selected to fill the member-at-large positions by the board. This position is a recognition for outstanding work in the SU program.

Sandra Price, school of liberal arts; Virginia Dailey, school of journalism; Pat Gustin, school of business administration; and Paul Lasker, school of education, were selected for two year terms by the joint committee. Thomas Brand was selected for a one year term from the school of law.

Report Accepted

Maggie Powne reported on the activity pool evaluation and the board accepted the report. The board initiated the investigation of the activity pool because it felt that the pool was not operating efficiently and that it was an integral part of the SU program.

Purposes of the activity pool as stated in the report are to orient students into the SU program, to enable everyone to enter the program on an equal basis with committee members being selected on the basis of contribution to the program rather than by first impressions gained through introductory interviews, to keep committees small in order that they may be efficient, rather than carrying inactive members (committees would draw on the supply provided by the pool in accordance with their need) and to keep interested persons within the program until positions on committees are available.

Beall Named Head Of Ex-prep Leaders

Jerry Beall was elected president of the newly organized—but still unnamed—freshman formed high school president's group Tuesday in its second meeting at Student Union.

Other officers selected were Jim Light, vice-president and John Tonack, secretary-treasurer.

Sixteen of the 22 freshmen on campus who were student body presidents in their high school attended. The group takes in only freshmen now, said Bill Carey, ASUO president who sat in at the meeting, but this year's freshmen will continue as members throughout college. In four years, he explained, it will include all former high school presidents in college.

Purpose of the organization is to assist in increasing the University's enrollment by keeping in contact with high schools throughout the state.

Duckling Petitions For Y Due Friday

Petitions for Duckling Counseling must be turned in to Bobbette Gilmore at Carson hall or to the YWCA office in Gerlinger by 5 p.m. DST Friday. Blank petitions may still be obtained from Miss Gilmore or the Y.

Freshmen women are especially urged to petition to be "big sisters" for next year's incoming freshmen women. Petitioners must attend the instruction meetings to be held May 13 at 6:30 p.m. at Carson and May 21 at 6:30 p.m. at Gerlinger.

Each student would be required to spend one month as a member of the pool before appointment to a standing committee. The personnel committee would review all members of the pool each month to determine those who had done outstanding work, to be recommended for committee membership as positions arise. Petitioning will be in effect throughout the year following the original fall term call.

Discussion Held

Some discussion was held on the reinvestigation of the Forum committee membership and discussion will be continued at the next meeting.

Clyde Fahlgren, directorate chairman, submitted his report on the national convention, and discussions will be held at the next meeting.

Barbara Howard reported to the board that work on the SU banquet, which is set for May 28, is progressing.

Coffee-hour Work Given to Committee

A new Student Union committee has been formed to handle all the coffee hours presented by the SU.

To be called the coffee hour forum committee, the group will enlarge and regularize the coffee hours which were put on this year as a regular SU activity.

The committee was suggested by Alburey Castell, head of the philosophy department and junior faculty member of the SU board, and is a result of two terms of planning and contacting interested groups and faculty members.

The committee will consist of a chairman, five student members, a faculty member and two ex-officio members.

The informal forums will be held on controversial and current topics and organizations who will be bringing speakers to the campus will be invited to utilize the coffee hour program if they desire.
