

Morse Rakes Party, Pressure Votes; Gov. Warren Speaks Here Monday

Location for Speech Of Californian not Set
Gov. Earl Warren of California, one of the contenders for the Republican party presidential nomination, will be on campus Monday to speak in a 1 p.m. assembly. The place of the assembly had not been set Thursday night, as

Senator Calls Self 'From State, for Nation'

Sen. Wayne Morse said Thursday night that the representatives of the American people who vote by party orders or under the influence of pressure groups are not true representatives at all.

"The job of sitting in the Senate of the United States is the job of being a student of government," he explained in the music school auditorium. "Unless politicians are willing to use their brains independently, they sell their constituents short."

The office holder who is influenced by the volume of mail from the home state, who is afraid to stand up for his own opinions and run the risk of defeat, the senator said, "has ceased to be your true representative."

Morse said he was "a senator from Oregon for the nation," but that two many other congressmen refused to put national interest above sectionalism. The senator said he had been influenced by mail from Oregon, but it was "on the basis of reasoned discourses" in the correspondence, not just its volume.

"Frequently public opinion is wrong, frequently public opinion is misinformed," he noted, suggesting that a true representative would vote on the merits of an issue even though his decision was against the current popular opinion.

Erring Ones To Get Dunking In 'Race Today

Junior Weekend tradition violators who did not appear Thursday at the Fenton Pool or the steps of the Student Union will get a drink of Millrace water behind the Kappa Sigma house this noon, according to Ted Anderson, traditions chairman.

Members of Order of the "O" will go around and gather up the delinquent violators and take them to the Millrace for their dunkings soon after the noon hour, Anderson said.

Those who get cramps from swimming soon after eating are warned by Anderson to drink only a glass of milk before their excursion down to the popular stream.

The following traditions are still in effect and will remain so until the Junior Weekend activities are concluded, with the exception of green ribbons for freshman women and rooster's lids for male men, which will be removed for good if the freshman win the tug-o-war at 4 p.m. today.

1. Sophomores to wear blue denims, upper-classmen cords and the freshman what is left.

Library Contest Entries Due

Entries for the student library contest will be accepted until noon today by Bernice Rise, browsing room librarian, in the Student Union browsing room. Fifty-one entries have been received to date.

Personal libraries should be brought to the reserve book room of the library after 1 p.m. today for display. All books must be arranged in the library by noon Saturday.

Judging for the undergraduate and graduate divisions will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday. Prizes will be awarded May 17 at the annual banquet of the Association of Patrons and Friends of the University of Oregon Library. Winners will be guests at the banquet.

No Rain This Weekend

The weatherman forecasts fair weather for Junior Weekend, at least through Saturday, according to the reports Thursday night.

GOV. EARL WARREN
Presidential Hopeful

Confirmation of Warren's appearance was not received until late. At present governor of California, Warren was the vice-presidential nominee of the Republican Party in 1948. He is campaigning for the presidential nomination in next Friday's primary election.

Mother's Day Breakfast Tickets Will on Sale at SU Main Desk

Tickets are still available for the Mother's Day breakfast Saturday morning and will be on sale this morning at the main desk of the Student Union. Price is $1.25.

Registration for Mother's Day Weekend will be from 2 to 5 p.m. (DST) today in the Student Union; from 8 to 11:30 a.m. (DST) in Carson Hall and 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. (DST) Saturday in Gerlinger.

The breakfast will begin at 9 a.m. (DST) Saturday in Carson Hall. Because of the space limitation, only mothers will attend.

The annual Oregon Mothers club business meeting and election of officers for the coming year will be during the breakfast. The outgoing president, Mrs. L. O. Meisel of Eugene, will preside.

The breakfast program will include the introduction of Charles Byrne, chancellor of the state system of higher education; William C. Jones, dean of administration and acting president of the University; and ASUO President Bill Carey. Joan Lawson, Mothers Weekend chairman, will deliver greetings to the mothers.

Discussion of the Oregon Mothers club scholarship program will

Toynbee's Bowling Prowess Here Noted in Current Issues of Time, Life

Historian Arnold Toynbee's first attempt at bowling, while on the Oregon campus last week, made the current issues of "Time" and "Life" magazines.

Both stories tell of Toynbee's getting a strike on his third try, after missing completely his first bowl. Both also allege he was prompted into the venture by Mrs. Gordon Wright's (wife of the head of the history department) reference to challenges and responses in history previously mentioned by Toynbee.

"Life" accompanied its story with a picture of Toynbee after finishing the ball on the Student Union alleys, with the caption,

"TOYNBEE RESPONDS". Here is the complete text of Is TIME or Mrs. Wright?

There is one puzzling aspect of the TIME and LIFE stories. They quote Mrs. Gordon Wright as having made the "... rise and fall of civilization ... challenges and responses ..." bowling invitation to Arnold Toynbee quoted in the surrounding story.

Mrs. Wright swore up and down, when contacted by the Emerald Thursday night, that what she actually said was: "Would you like to bowl, Mr. Toynbee?"

the "Time" (May 12) story, which was printed in the "New Horizons" section of the department on "PEOPLE," page 42:

"At the University of Oregon, Historian Arnold Toynbee took a tour of the campus, including the new bowling alleys. Hearing that he had never bowled, a professor's wife said: 'You said in your "History" ... that the rise and fall of civilization is based on a series of challenges and responses. Now here is a challenge. What is your response?' Said Toynbee: 'I'll accept it,' and promptly peeled off his coat. His first frame; a complete miss; the third; a clean

Weekend Queen Will Be Crowned At Prom Tonight

Junior Weekend will officially be here when Johnny Reitz and his orchestra start the Junior Prom with their first dance number tonight at 9 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. The dance which will last until 1:30 a.m. DST has been granted special closing hours of 2 a.m. DST.

The theme of the dance, "Under the Big Top" will be carried out by wall and stage decorations, according to Paul Lasker, decorations chairman. The stage will be decorated like a circus cage with circus animals on the walls.

Programs, under the chairmanship of Jeanne Hall, will follow the circus idea of the prom, using a clown theme.

Highly Recommended

The Reitz band, featuring vocalist Marcellaine, has been highly recommended for his dance music by the University of Washington activities director, James Overlock. Reitz, whose records will soon be available to the public, plays the trumpet, saxophone, and clarinet, and does all the arranging for the band.

Tickets for the prom are on sale for $2.50 a couple. A group of junior salesmen under the direction of chairman Tom Wrightson will be selling them until noon today. After that time tickets can be purchased at booths in the Co-op and SU. Tickets will also be available at the door of the dance.

Formals, and Tuxes or Suits

Dress for the prom is formal—formals for the women and tuxes or suits for the men. Flowers are optional.

Coronation of the Junior Weekend Queen will be held at 10 p.m. DST by William C. Jones, dean of administration and acting president of the University. The court includes Pat Johnson, Barbara Booth, Nannette Silverthorne, Jo Martin and Joan Renner.

Parents of students will be admitted free to the prom, according to Bonnie Birkemeier and John Talbot, co-chairmen for the dance.

Parade Starts At 4 Saturday On Willamette

The Junior Weekend float parade will begin its course down Willamette street at 4 p.m. Saturday, Norman Hultgren, co-chairman of the Junior Weekend float parade, has announced.

All floats must be completed by noon Saturday, Miss Hultgren stated, and they will be assembled at 4th avenue and Willamette street at 3 p.m. Positions will be determined by the arrival at the assembly area, Miss Hultgren stated.

Tardy Floats Disqualified

The last floats will leave no later than 4 p.m., and any arriving after this time will be disqualified, Miss Hultgren emphasized.

The parade will travel down Willamette street to 13th avenue, up 13th avenue to University street, and up University street to McArthur court.

Two cups for the two first place winning floats will be awarded during intermission at the All-campus Sing Saturday.

Four Float Judges

Judges for the float parade are Carlyle Moore, associate professor of English; L. N. Marx, associate professor of psychology; Dick Bailey of the Bailey Lumber Co.; and Mrs. D. E. Slocum, associate professor of nursing education. They will be stationed at the City Hall.

Rules for the float parade are:
1. Maximum height is 12 feet.
2. Maximum cost can be $70.
3. Floats will be judged on originality, adherence to theme and quality of workmanship.

Former Indian Government Official Is Speaker for Majlis' 'India Day'

"India Day," sponsored by the Oregon Majlis, opens Saturday with an address in the Dads' lounge in the Student Union at 4 p.m. (DST) by Sir C. P. Ramaswami Yiyar, a former Prime Minister of Travancore in South India. Sir Ramaswami will speak on "The Challenge of Communism in Asia."

A joint undertaking of Majlis, the foreign students' cultural group on campus and the Northwest Conference on Religion in Higher Education and Oregon Conference on Philosophy of Religion, "India Day" will be a continuation of the two conferences which will be in progress on the campus Friday and Saturday.

Dinner Tickets Available

A dinner honoring Sir Ramaswami is planned at 6 p.m. (DST) Saturday at the Faculty club and will be open to the public. Tickets for the dinner are $1.25 and may be obtained from Wallace Baldinger, associate professor of art, at the art school; William Yeomens, president of the Majlis; or from members of Majlis responsible for the "India Day" program—M. S. Venkataramani, Basdeo Maharajh, or Durga Bhutani.

Dinner tickets will also be available at the registration desk during the conference Friday and Saturday. Indian and American food will be available to those purchasing tickets, Baldinger said. The Indian food includes chicken and rice dishes and Indian dessert. Purchasers are being asked to express their choice when they get their tickets so that proper arrangements may be made.

Baldinger cautioned those wishing to attend to get tickets fairly early, since only 60 will be sold. Deadline is noon Saturday.

Informal Discussion

An informal discussion of Indian philosophy and culture will follow the dinner Saturday evening, with a presentation of Indian music, art and films scheduled.

Six movies on the art and culture of India will be shown in the Student Union Dads' lounge Saturday at 8 p.m. if the all-campus sing does not draw potential viewers away. The motion pictures will include:

"The Heritage of India" (on architecture, sculpture, painting and crafts), "Lady Nicotine" (India's tobacco industry), "The Product of the Silkworm" (India's silk industry), "Kathak" (the sacred dances of Northern India), "Kathakali" (sacred dances of Malabar)
