

Joanne Forbes Receives Award

Joanne Forbes, junior in speech, was named as Carson hall "girl of the year" in a surprise presentation made Sunday of Junior Weekend by Hall President Barbara Swanson.

Miss Forbes was presented with a small cup to keep and her name engraved on a permanent trophy which remains at Carson.

Elected as secretary of Carson for last year, Miss Forbes also filled in as social chairman for the dormitory. She has been elected as second vice-president and social chairman for the coming year.

On campus, Miss Forbes is a pledge of Phi Beta, music and speech honorary, and she has appeared in several University theater productions and was program chairman of the all-campus Vodvil.

This is the second year the award has been made to the woman judged by the hall officers, counselors, head residents and office of student affairs to have contributed the most to Carson.

Jackie Pritzen, senior in English, received the first award last year following her term as Carson president. The cup was given to the hall by the Carson Hall Mothers club of Portland.

Lally Reports On Weekend

Junior Weekend was a "tremendous success," according to Mike Lally, Junior class president and general chairman for the weekend.

There were 486 couples at Friday night's Prom and "one of the largest crowds ever" at the Sing Saturday night, Lally said.

Switching of the Prom from Saturday to Friday night did not seem to affect attendance at the dance, Lally said, and he reported hearing no adverse comment from students on the change. He added that the schedule for the Sing and the Prom should be "definitely" continued in the future.

Many mothers expressed themselves in favor of the way the Sing and Prom were scheduled, Lally said.

No financial report on the weekend will be available until later.

Seniors May Get Graduation Tickets

Commencement tickets, calendars and information are to be picked up by graduating seniors in the alumni office on the Student Union mezzanine starting today, Alumni Secretary Les Anderson said Wednesday.

Anderson said the office would be providing the tickets, calendars and information until June 15. Office hours are 8-12 a.m. and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8-12 a.m. Saturday.

Four tickets will be given to each graduating senior, and if any are left, they will be made available Friday and Saturday, June 13 and 14.

Also offered at this time, Anderson stated, is membership in the alumni association, with new lower rates going into effect this year. Yearly rates have been lowered from $3 to $2 and first payment on life membership rates is now $5, rather than $11. Total life membership cost is $60.

Seniors will also fill out their graduate questionnaires. These forms will become part of their permanent alumni records in the alumni office.

SU Lost and Found Room Would Be Junk Man's Paradise, Says Scribe

By Jim Shea

Everything ranging from a girl's gray corduroy skirt to a 1952 Oregon truck license plate, lines the Student Union's lost-and-found department's bare wooden shelves in a small room just off the cloakroom. A junk man turned loose there would swear he had entered the promised land.

"About 50 to 60 percent of the stuff," said Jim Cummings, the SU's night manager, "is picked up right here in the union by our own personnel; the rest filters in from around the campus."

Cummings Is Amazed

Cummings said he is amazed at the students' failure to claim the articles. "Last October," he said, "a leather jacket worth about thirty-five dollars was turned in and we had to contact the owner four times before he showed up to claim it."

Cummings explained that for a student to claim an article, he merely has to go to the main desk in the union and ask for it. Whoever is at the desk will check the store room and, if it's there, he will turn it over. However, in the case of a valuable article, the student will be asked to give a pretty accurate description of it.

Then We Call or Mail

"If the article is valuable and has some kind of identification, Cummings explained, we usually call the individual or mail it to him." Quite a bit of jewelry usually turns up after a dance, he commented.

Notebooks, Cummings explained, are cleared out at the end of each term on the assumption that it's too late then for them to be of any help. However, a whole shelf of textbooks has been gathering there since fall term.

"When we find anything belonging to the ROTC or the library," Cummings said, "we usually send them right over to their office."

Textbooks and Eye-glasses

Textbooks and eye-glasses seem to be the items students are most likely to forget.

A box of key rings, a couple of fedoras that look like they were lost in Robinson's, a straw hat, two badminton rackets, an album of Mozart chamber music, a camera, plenty of wallets, a slide rule, scarfs, jackets, a pair of girl's white shoes and a pair of men's sneakers are just some of the items in the room.

When you lose something, check at the desk, and, if it hasn't been found, check back next day or next

Field Narrowed In Sweetheart Vote

The field for armed forces day sweetheart was narrowed to six Tuesday night by the board selected for the day's parade.

The six finalists are Arlene Kennedy, Delta Delta Delta; Joanne Lewis, Delta Zeta; Frances Lowry, Alpha Chi Omega; Marilyn Rayfield, Kappa Alpha Theta; Betty-Coe Rilea, Carson Hall; and Joan Skordahl, Chi Omega.

Selection of the sweetheart, who will ride in Saturday's parade, will be made at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union by a board composed of University ROTC faculty.

Suits and heels will be in order, Selection Chairman Joyce Jones said.

week, but don't chalk it off as completely gone, as it may take a while, for the stuff to filter in Cummings said.

Literary Honorary To Choose Officers

Chi Delta Phi, women's national literary honorary, will choose officers at their meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Student Union.

The honorary has been approved by the Student Affairs committee. The local chapter will be installed this term by a national officer of Chi Delta Phi.

At the meeting, S. N. Karchmer, instructor in English, will give a talk on the purpose of the group. Miss Bernice Rice, head of the Browsing Room and sponsor, will discuss plans with the members.

County Manager Plan to Be Topic

Pros and cons of the county manager plan for Lane county will be discussed in a public debate at 7:30 p.m. today in the Student Union.

George H. Todd, chairman of the citizen's group sponsoring the plan which will be voted on by Lane county voters Friday, will speak in favor of the plan. The opposition will be presented by Frank B. Reid, chairman of the Lane County committee for Democracy. Moderator will be Eugene attorney Charles Porter.

Talks by the two men will be limited to 15 minutes. A question period will follow.

Friday's election will decide whether the present county government system should be retained or the council-manager system adopted.

Receipts Requested For Co-op Refunds

Students wishing to receive their Co-op refunds should return their receipts by May 21. The amount of the rebate has not been decided upon, but according to Gerald Henson, manager of the Co-op, the percentage will probably be 10 percent as it has been for the past few years.

Students who don't turn in these receipts or who are not members of the Co-op will lose an average of between $5 and $7.50, since the average year's expenses per student are between $50 and $75.

Rebates will be paid sometime during exam week and will be paid in cash. Students who are members of the Co-op but who do not turn in receipts are requested to pick up their membership fee of $1 before the end of the term.
